Red China Indicates Desire To End Korean Fighting Soon As Possible

Declaration Of National Emergency Is Considered

Defense Secretary Marshall Says President Seriously Considering Action; 'All-Out Mobilization' May Follow

Washington, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Marshall pointed up the gravity of the world crisis today by saying President Truman "is seriously considering" the declaration of a national emergency.

The cabinet member told reporters this as he stepped from a three-hour closed conference with senators considering President Truman's request for nearly $18,000,000,000 to strengthen the nation's fighting forces.

Several of the senators, who had listened to grim reports from Secretary Marshall and the army, navy and air force leaders, wanted to go beyond declaring a national emergency to at least a start on "all-out mobilization."

Senator Elmer Thomas (D.-Okla.), who has directed senate action on most of the multi-billion dollar military money bills for 10 years, said he expected "an all-out mobilization shortly."

"There is some talk of general mobilization, but the president as a first step should declare a national emergency," Thomas told reporters after the appropriations committee session.

"We don't have a 50-50 chance of winning a war with Russia now under our present programs," he continued.

"We must declare a national emergency to attain full defense production."

Senator McClellan (D.-Ark.) said he had urged the emergency declaration at the closed-door discussion because of the Korean war situation and possible threat that fighting will spread.

"The time for full mobilization is at hand," McClellan said. "In view of any intelligent interpretation of world conditions, time is wasting. We ought to gear our economy to all-out production and do it now. I'd rather make a mistake in that direction than in the opposite direction."

Senators said the step beyond—general mobilization—would move the country onto a wartime footing for any eventuality.

The term general mobilization was not defined. But if it were really "all-out" it would include such things as the drafting of many more men at a faster pace, the call-up of more national guardsmen, moves toward price and wage controls, sweeping steps to cut down the production of civilian goods and channel manpower and materials into defense production.

One senator, who would not permit use of his name, said the possibility of a general mobilization had been discussed at today's session.

He said a big step-up in mobilization would come instantly if Russia should send her own submarines, air forces and manpower into the Korean fighting.

All senators questioned said there was no doubt about speedy congressional approval of the $18,000,000,000 of new defense funds sought. They said Secretary Marshall and the top generals and admirals were asked if they could not use more money.

"We were told that is all they can spend efficiently in the immediate future," Senator McCarran (D.-Nev.) said.

Both McCaran and Senator Maybank (D-SC), Chairman of the banking ommittee as well as a member of the purse-string group, urged that wage and price controls be applied at once where they are needed.

They said the rapid rise in prices and wages since the Korean fight-

ACHESON REVIEWS BIG-2 CONFERENCE

Tells Congress U. S. Veto Won't Block Red China From U. N.

Washington, Dec. 9—(AP)—Secretary of state Acheson reportedly told congress today that the United States can't legally use the veto to keep Red China out of the United Nations.

The secretary of state reviewed this week's Truman-Attlee conferences, with special emphasis on the far eastern crisis, in a closed-door session with the senate foreign relations committee.

Lawmakers who attended the meeting said Acheson told them this government will make every effort to present U. N. recognition of the Chinese Communists but is not in a position to back its stand with a veto.

The secretary explained, these members said, that while a veto can be used to block the original admission of a country to membership, there is no provision for using the veto to decide which representatives of that country shall be seated.

China already is a member of the U. N. security council and is represented by Chinese Nationalists. The Chinese Reds, with all-out Russian backing, are demanding that their delegates replace those of generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

Acheson also was quoted as saying a survey indicates 44 U. N. delegations now oppose seating the Chinese reds while 16 favor letting them in. Among those in favor is Great Britain.

The secretary was reported to have told the lawmakers flatly that President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee made no agreements which were not reported in yesterday's joint communique.

The statement issued after today's meeting said Acheson "explained in detail the present status of the defense of the north atlantic community and indicated that the work of the north Atlantic treaty

VEIL OF SECRECY OVER PRISONERS CAPTURED BY U. N.

100,000 Believed Captured By Allied Forces Since Korean Outbreak

NOW BEING HELD INSIDE COMPOUNDS BEHIND LINES

By Tom Lambert

U. S. 8th Army Headquarters, Korea, Dec. 9. —(AP)— The eighth army, apparently on orders from higher authority, has wrapped a thick veil of secrecy around war prisoners it has captured.

Eighth army officers said the number of prisoners, the places they are held, their activities and United Nations plans for them now are "classified" — meaning not available to the public.

One high ranking officer said about the only answer he could give to such questions at the present time was:

"They are being treated according to the Geneva convention. They (U. N. authorities) are leaning over backwards to see they are well-treated."

It could not be learned what would happen to war prisoners —and they are believed to be more than 100,000—if the U. N. forces leave Korea.

Nor could it be learned if they have been undergoing indoctrination to convert them from Communism, or if any have volunteered to fight against the Reds.

YANKS INCH ALONG IN RETREAT

Twenty thousand U. S. Marines and Army troops, retreating from encirclement at Hagaru and Koto (A), have covered about five miles in their trek toward the Hamhung-Hungman area. Other troops moving northward to help clear the way, were reported stalled south of Majon. Farther to the northeast, South Korean forces were retreating from Kilchu (B). The South Korean Capital Division was somewhere north of Chongjin (C). In the northwest (D), Communists were probing a new Allied defense line. The Reds' big blow was expected on the east flank. GOLD SENTENCED TO FOUR YEARS

Convicted Go-Between For Russian Agents Admits 'Terrible Mistake'

Philadelphia, Dec. —(AP)—Harry Gold was sentenced today to 30 years in prison—more than double the term Britain imposed on the spy who stole the U.S. atomic data Gold carried to Soviet agents.

Gold admitted he served as courier between Dr. Klaus Fuchs and a Russiar espionage ring. Fuchs was sentenced to 14 years in an English prison. Gold's sentence—two 30-year terms to run concurrently—also exceeded the recommendation of the federal government for a 25-year term.

Only three days away from his 40th birthday, Gold showed little emotion as he was sentenced by U.S. Federal District Judge James P. McGranery. The Philadelphia research chemist's haggard face—he has lost 35 pounds since his arrest May 23—was the sole evidence of the strain under which he has been laboring.

In a soper statement, Gold told the court he had made a "terrible mistake." But he said he had received the "most scrupously fair trial and treatment."

"Most certainly," he added, "that could never have happened in the Soviet Union or any of the countries dominated by it."

Judge McGranery said he chose to ignore the sentence recommendation from the U.S. attorney general because there is need "to deter others" who might be considering following in Gold's footsteps.

In a calm voice, Gold said "matters which have been uppermost in my mind for the past few months" prompted him to speak.

Four things, he continued, have caused him "deep and horrible" remorse.

The work done on his behalf by his two court-appointed attorneys has served to "bring me to the realization of the terrible mistake I have made."

Secondly, he was deeply impressed by the manner in which he was treated since his arrest.

"I am fully aware," he said, "that I have received the most scrupously fair trial and treatment that could be disired and that this has been not only in this court but has been the case with the FBI, with the other agencies of the justice department, and with the authorities at the various prisons where I have been lodged."

Thirdly, he has been concerned over the fact that "those who mean so much to me have been the worst besmirched by my deeds —my country, my family and friends, my forme classmates at Xavier University and the Jesuits there, and the people at the heart station of the Philadelphia General Hospital."

Gold formerly was employed as a research chemist at the Philadelphia hospital.

"There is a puny inadequacy to any words telling how deep and horrible is my remorse."

Lastly, he said, he has tried since his arrest to make "the greatest possible amends by disclosing every phrase of my espionage activities by identifying all the persons involved and by revealing every last scrap, shred and particle of it."

Federal authorities have said that Gold aided them by disclosing the names of other members of the Soviet spy ring. He recently testified at the New Yor trial of two others accused of espionage activity.

Gold's court-named attorneys, John D. M. Hamilton and Augustus Ballard, announced later they would make no attempts to file an appeal. Gold was returned to Holmesburg prison, where he has been held most of the time since his arrest last May 23.

Gold was accused of becoming a "go-between" in 1933 carrying relatively unimportant industrial secrets to Russian agents, identified only as "Sam," or "Fred" or "Dick."

Later, in the world war two years from 1941 to 1944, he admitted turning over to Soviet agents vital defense secrets, and, in 1944 and 1945, data on atomic research obtained by Fuchs.

Attorney Hamilton said Gold was raised in poverty and became a victim of "parlor pins," although he never joined the Communist party. His mother, the attorney said, was a Russian Jewess oppressed by Czarist discrimination. She died four years ago.

Gold's father, a 70-year-old retired cabinet maker, was described by Hamilton as a believer in the "brotherhood of man" as exemplified in the works of Leo Tolstoy.

BLAME CRACKPOT IN SHIP DAMAGE

Jamming Of Motors Was First Reported As Work Of Saboteur

Seattle, Dec. 9—(AP)—Military officials said today that damage to a naval transport in the Seattle harbor, first reported by the navy to be full-scale sabotage, was evidently the work of a "malicious crackpot."

Capt. M. E. Eaton, commander of the military sea transport service, said damage to the vessel—the 12,000 ton Marine Phoenix—totaled only $200.

Navy authorities said five electric motors aboard the ship had been damaged with a spike or ice pick thrust into armature wires.

They said it was apparently a "grudge" job by someone who "wanted to make sure the damage would have to be repaired."

The Marine Phoenix was docked in Seattle after running troops and supplies to Korea. The destruction was believed to have been done while the vessel was undergoing repairs here.

Capt. Eaton said that no arrests have been made in connection with the damage. He said the

Senator Ives Fears Replacement Would Possibly Occasion Disunity

Washington, Dec. 9—(AP)—Some Senate Republicans backed away tonight from a proposed demand for the replacement of Secretary of State Acheson.

Senator Ives (R-N.Y.), author of such a resolution, told reporters that while he still believes Acheson should go "I certainly don't want to force any action that will occasion disunity."

Ives spoke up after Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the 1948 G.O.P. presidential nominee, said that with the United States in a state of emergency, "this moment is not the time for further criticism" of administration handling of foreign affairs.

"I quite agree with Governor Dewey," Ives said. "I still believe that Secretary Acheson should be replaced. But what I am seeking to promote at this perilous time—as in the case of every other loyal American—is unity. I certainly don't want to force any action that will occasion disunity."

The New York Senator indicated that a Senate Republican policy subcommittee he heads may draft his resolution next week to eliminate the demand for Acheson's ouster. Ives said the committee might decide, instead, to blend criticism of the administration's policies with a call for an affirmative program behind which the two major parties could unite.

Dewey's call for a cessation of criticism at this time found support among other Republican Senators who will be called upon at a party caucus Tuesday to pass on whatever recommendations Ives's committee makes.

Oil Speculator Gets Five Years

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 9.—(AP)—A Louisiana oil speculator, accused of bilking Memphis investors, was sentenced to five years in the federal penitentiary tonight and fined $1,000.

J. Stacey Henderson of Shreveport, La., was convicted on one of ten counts against him involving mail fraud and violation of the federal securities act.

Judge Marion S. Boyd boosted the Henderson bond from $5,000 to $7,500 pending his application for a new trial. The government charged dozens of Memphis investors had been sold worthless oil leases by the 48-year-old oil drilling speculator.

Henderson, in three days of direct testimony, denied any fraud. He said he had no idea the oil land was unproductive. About 70 Memphis residents were involved in the operations.

The prosecution said Henderson collected from $250 to $1,000 from investors, drilled unproductive wells and made a profit, although the invsetors get nothing in return.

Also charged with Henderson to be tried at a later date are his nephew, J. Louis Rout, and Guy L. Parker, both of Memphis.

U. N. Secretary General Lie in Closeted Conference With Wu

RAU SAYS APPEAL BY 13 NATIONS GETS ATTENTION

Lake Success, Dec. 9— (AP)—India's Sir Benegal Rau said today the Chinese Communist Government has indicated a desire to end the fighting in Korea "as early as possible."

But Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky told the U. N.'s 60-nation political committee that the terms for ending the war are the same as those previously rejected by the U. N.—withdrawal of all foreign forces from Korea. By foreign forces Vishinsky means the U. N. troops and not the Red Chinese "volunteers."

Last night Chinese Red Delegate Gen. Wu Hsiu-Chuan telephoned

New York, Dec. 9.—(AP)—The New York Times tonight quoted reliable diplomatic sources at Lake Success as saying Chinese Communist Leader Mao Tze-Tung has informed India that China is ready to negotiate with the west on Korea on the basis of full equality at the conference table.

Mao also was reported to have insisted that any discussions with the west take up all the major far eastern questions, which would include Formosa.

Secretary General Trygve Lie and asked him to come to his Waldorf-Astoria apartment. Lie arrived at 4 p.m. EST, today and the two were closeted for an hour. No statement was issued immediately.

Observers attached unusual importance to the meeting because it was made on Wu's initiative. This is the first time he has done this and there was speculation that he wanted to hand Lie an official communication from the Peiping regime.

Reached by telephone at his Forest Hills home later, Lie refused to answer when asked if Wu had

Reds Report U. N. Casualties Heavy

London, Dec. 9.—(AP)—The North Korean high command claimed today United Nations forces suffered 23,700 casualties in the week ending Dec. 1 and were thrown into a "disgraceful general retreat."

A communique, broadcast by the Peiping radio, said North Korean Reds and Chinese Communists swiftly smashed General MacArthur's offensive and hurled back the U. N. line in confusion. It stated:

"Total (U. N.) losses were five regiments and fifteen and a half battalions annihilated, one company surrendered, two divisional command posts, one brigade, nine regiments and one battalion routed."

Listing total killed or wounded as 15,932, the communique said 8,085 of these were American, British, Australian and Turkish troops. The rest were from South Korean units. Of the 23,700 casualties, 7,768 were listed as prisoners.

In all eight and a half battalions of American troops were "wiped out," the bulletin said, adding: "Three battalions of the Turkish brigade were annihilated. Four regiments and four battalions of Syngman Rhee puppet troops were annihilated."

Yanks Struggle Toward Linkup With Liberators

Encircled Forces Battling 'Last Desperate Mile' Separating Them From Rescuing Third Infantry Column

Tokyo, Sunday, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Thousands of American Marines and Infantrymen trapped by Chinese Reds in Northeast Korea struggled wearily toward a linkup with rescue forces Saturday night.

AP Correspondent Stan Swinton reported from U. S. tenth corps headquarters at 9 p. m. Saturday (7 a. m. EST) that elements of the Red-encircled force of 20,000 were battling down the "last desperate mile" separating them from a third division infantry column driving to their aid.

A tenth corps spokesman said a linkup had not yet been made at that time.

U. S. marine and navy planes flew a record 391 sorties in support of the trapped troops, helping them smash back assaults by numerous Chinese battle groups of 400 to 500 men each and improving the escape chances.

Tokyo, Sunday, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Twenty thousand U. S. marines and soldiers fighting a bloody retreat from Changjin reservoir today joined forces with a relieving army task force striking inland from Korea's east coast.

The combined force still faced a hazardous 39-mile escape drive along a road lined most of the way with Chinese Communist troops to the port of Hugnam.

But the Communists threatened to shorten those chances with a strong new encirclement.

Maj. Gen. Edward M. Almond, U. S. tenth corps commander, said Saturday afternoon that the trapped force of U. S. marines and seventh division infantrymen, plus some British marine commandos, was near a linkup with a rescue column.

Exact location of the breakout column, fighting down an ice-glazed, 45 - mile stretch of road from Koto toward the escape port of Hungnam, was confused.

The main force has been reported from one to three miles south of Koto and its forward elements from three to five miles out of the town.

Over northwestern Korea, allied warplanes damaged one Russian-built MIG-15 jet fighter and drove off several others in four dogfights Saturday near Sinuiju on the Yalu river boundary between Manchuria and Korea.

American fighters and bombers continued their heavy attacks on Red troop and supply convoys moving south toward the Red capital of Pyongyang. The U. S. fifth air force reported its pilots killed or wounded more than 1,000 Chinese Reds near Pyongyang Friday.

On the western ground front, allied patrols tested the cutting edge of an 18-division Red force building up for an expected assault on U. S. eight army de-

MEETING LIFTED NO WAR THREATS

Truman - Attlee Conference Failed To Clip Lighted Fuse In Korea

Washington, Dec. 9 —(AP)— The windup of the five day Truman-Attlee conferences left today a continuing undercurrent of concern that the Korean crisis might erupt at any time into an even graver threat to world peace.

There were few signs of official optimism in the capital that the leaders of world communism were prepared now to accept the formal British-American offer to seek a settlement of the Korean and other issues.

Word from Lake Success that China has indicated a desire for "bringing the fighting to an end as early as possible," and that it is considering a 13-nation peace appeal, brought no comment from the state department.

The information came from India's delegate to the United Nations. Officials here kept fingers crossed waiting for events to clarify whether the statement means any real change in the attitude of communism's leaders. That it does not was indicated by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky. He said the terms for ending the war are the same as those previously rejected by the U.N.— withdrawal of U.N. forces from Korea.

Diplomatic authorities appeared agreed that the meetings of the president and Prime Minister Attlee left the initiative with Moscow and Peiping, where it was when the British leader arrived Monday.

However, American and British authorities generally shared Attlee's professed judgment that the meeting was fully "worthwhile" by bringing into line some of the differences between the two gov-

Two Million Children Of Convicts To Be Remembered

By Saul Feldman

Oklahoma City, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Who are the most neglected children on Christmas?

That problem worried Dan Vinson for years.

So in 1944 Vinson bought a few gifts. But his project grew and last year 200,000 children of convicts received presents.

This year, Vinson—called Uncle Dan by millions—will see to it that 2,000,000 are remembered.

He will not accept money, but takes donation of material to make toys. Vinson, a jolly, robust man who with whiskers would be a natural Santa, always has more than enough volunteers to help fashion the toys and mail them.

While most people were still worrying how to pay their 1949 Christmas bills, Vinson was planning for this year's work.

He stockpiled material for toys and had dies made for turning out the presents.

Even if Vinson does not get another donation of material, he still will have enough to supply another 2,000,000 children in 1951.

Last month, Vinson sent out letters to more than 400 penal institutions in the western hemisphere explaining his project. He asked that each convict write how

Little Theatre Curtain Call

Rain, snow, storm or sleet did not keep a large number of Monroyans from seeing the much raved about production "The Hasty Heart" that closed a weeks engagement at the Selman Field playhouse on Saturday night. . . . For those who make the trip to Veterans Hospital Alexandria for Monroe Day, there will be a second chance to see this very fine play that measures up to good theater on every score.

Readings and try outs for the third production of the season will be held at the Selman Field playhouse on Tuesday and Wednesday evening, December 12 and 13. The third play will be the Oscar Wilde classic comedy of manners "The Importance of Being Earnest'. This play requires a cast of four men and four women and even though Director Stocker Fontelieu hopes to cast it before he takes off for a Christmas holiday in New York, rehearsals will not start until the end of the first week in January.

Wonder, who will be the next guys and gals to earn our appreciation and praise??? We have got to hand it to the 27 folks who gave you "Boy Meets Girl" and "The Hasty Heart", they did a bang up job of covering themselves with theater glory and now their pictures will join the hall of fame that Director Fontelieu has started in the foyer of the auditorium of Little Theatre.

Random Notes . . . Rosa Hart, director of the Lake Charles Little Theatre, is getting her share of fame and publicity. A year or so ago Rosa had a four page spread in Life Magazine. Now we find her with two pages in "Interesting People" a special feature of American Magazine that hits the newsstands this week. . . . Santa Claus we'd be real green with envy if she wasn't such a nice person, but just think for Xmas Mrs. Anna Slagle is getting a trip to the Big City. She, Mr. Slagle and Elmer, Jr., are going to Cleveland, Ohio to visit her sister and then on to New York where the lucky lady will get to see "South Pacific", "Cocktail Party" and the new sensation "Call Me Madam" starring Ethel Merrman. . . . The cast and crew of "The Hasty Heart" topped off their successful show with a very unusual treat for the customary cast and crew party. They will be guest today of Mr. and Mrs. Lea Thompson at the Charles McKenzie country home about thirty miles south of Monroe. Thanks to "Nibby" and Lea. . . . Each nights run of the shows finds something nice and social happening to the hard working folks. On Thursday evening Fleta and Billy Latham served them late supper at their home, a bacon and egg buffett. Fleta and Billy are very charming hostess and host. This is the kind of fun and hospitality among Little Theatre folks that makes it such a jolly good organization to belong to. . . .

Christmas Special . . . Stage shows of local production are getting more popular every day. Melvin Greenblatt, genial manager of the Paramount Theatre, is plotting a special Xmas stage show for Saturday December 16, with Matinee and evening performances. The dance musical is called "Bells and Beaux's of 1950". The featured number in the show will be an adagio team of three men, Darden Bourne, professional dancer of Jackson, Miss., Rickey Ryerson and James Sisco with dancing girl Paula Burford in the act. The review under the direction of Mrs. Perry Maupin will also include Leo Ticheli, who has been garnering himself some honors as a young singer. Rudolph the red nosed reindeer line will include Druery Bynum, Margaret Ann Anzalone, Margaret Ann Lewis, Jane Warner and Lynn Knotts. Big girl line is made up of Joyce Danna, Mary Catherine Gordy and Dotty Kirkland. The delightful little five year old acrobat Amelie Hebert has been written into the script and Mrs. Perry Maupin and James Sisco will do a soft shoe dance to "My Blue Heaven". Included in the review will be the ballett line from Wisner that won first place in a contest held there this past Friday night. Mary Zo Snyder of Wisner will do a toe dance and Sandra Sandrock of Columbia, La. will sing "Marshmellow World". . . . Best of luck to you theater man Melvin Greenblatt.

ATTLEE CONVENES WITH CANADIANS

Will Leave Ottawa Monday For Montreal And Back To London

Ottawa, Dec. 9. —(AP)— British Prime Minister Attlee flew to Ottawa today for defense talks with Canadian officials in the light of his Washington talks with President Truman on the world crisis. Attlee will address the people of Canada in a nationwide radio broadcast tomorrow.

The British prime minister and Canadian Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent held a half hour's private conversation this afternoon, then went into conference with the Canadian cabinet. They were accompanied to the conference by Field Marshal Sir William Slim, chief of the imperial general staff, and Sir Alexander Clutterbuck, British high commissioner to Canada.

Authoritative quarters in the British-Canadian party which accompanied Attlee from New York said there appears to be a more optimistic attitude that Korea can be held.

This attitude might change, they said, but for the moment there was a feeling that the chances of stabilizing the United Nations lines warrant hope.

Attlee talked with Canada's Defense Minister D. L. Claxton during the flight. He had dinner with External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson and other commonwealth representatives in New York last night. He will leave Ottawa Monday for Montreal and London.

Attlee's plane, a Royal Canadian air force transport, landed just before noon. Reporters tried to have a word with him.

"Can Korea be held?" One asked.

"I'm sorry," he said, "I'm not answering any questions at this time."

"Are you happy about your trip so far?" a reporter asked.

"Oh, yes," Attlee replied.

Real Liberals Like Douglas

Sen. Paul Douglas, Illinois Democrat, is a man who could well be studied by people who declare themselves liberals. He's a real one.

In too many circles today, the liberal is being defined as a man who wants the federal government to solve the bulk of our major problems and doesn't think there ought to be any criticism of this proposition.

Thus Oscar Ewing is a "liberal" because he believes in President Truman's sweeping national health program and labels its opponents as "stupid." Thus Senator Humphrey, Minnesota Democrat, is a "liveral" vecause he wants to repeal Taft-Hartley and can see no virtue in mere amendment.

The truth is that the liberal cause never was intended to embrace such pat thinking or such intolerance of different opinions. And the liberal label is not synonymous with the badge of the Democratic party or any other.

There are genuine liberals in both major parties. To suggest that those in the G. O. P. are really misplaced Democrats is again to misunderstand liberalism. President Truman was talking beside the point when he called Governors Warren of California and Duff of Pennsylvania "good Democrats."

Douglas happens to be a good Democrat, but first of all he's a libeeal. Why? Because he works for the general public interest no matter where it leads him. One day he may feel compelled to assault the big corporations, the next day big labor.

Recently, fo rinstance, he bluntly told the C. I. O. convention that workmen wouldn't accept labor's "hand-me-down" opinions on who to vote for. He also advised union officials to work for Taft-Hartley amendment rather than outright repeal.

This doesn't make Douglas "anti-labor." It would be hard to find a lawmaker with a better lifelong labor record than he. It just means that he speaks out when he thinks labor is working against its own and the public welfare. He declines to subscribe to the idea that labor alone of all groups can do no wrong.

When Douglas campaigns in the senate for economy—an unpopular sport with the Humphrey-type liberals—he doesn't fire a blunderbuss. He picks off carefully selected targets like a sharpshooter. He's not concerned with making a grandstand play but with accomplishing public good.

Douglas wants to see a health program adopted, too, but strangely enough it's a different one from Mr. Truman's. On each issue he faces, he tries to figure out what's best for the country as a whole. He doesn't follow an automatic party line and damn everyone who disagrees with him.

He keeps in mind, however, that it's important not only to promote the general welfare but to preserve the widest possible area of individual freedom. He doesn't assume that a federal solution to a problem contains a sure-fire guarantee of liberty. He looks at the alternatives.

There aren't too many real liberals like Douglas in public office. We should all be thankful for them, even when we disagree with them. And we should try earnestly to separate them from the pseudo-liberals—whose ideas and policies are every bit as rigid as the reactionaries they spend so much time lambasting.

Timorous Allies

Americans awaken to the fact that the billions in gifts donated to this country's "allies" during the last five years —and before—is money down a rat hole.

Prior to World War II the Western Europeans were hot after this country as an ally, to save their bacon. Failing to get the United States involved, England tried appeasement at Munich. While frantic efforts were under way —in Europe and in Washington—to get this country into the war, England stiffened its backbone but France, Communist-infested, succumbed. Europe was saved when the Japs—following an ultimatum from Roosevelt—struck at Pearl Harbor.

Now this country has been dragged down to the point where it is compelled to fear Russia, must try to cajole England's communistic government and timorous France not to run out on its benefactor. England and France want to appease Red China, if not Russia. London recognized the Red China government months ago.

Eisenhower rushed down to the Pentagon a month ago to assume command of the West European defense forces. But no forces appeared to command, and he returned to New York.

Stalin's strategy, like that of Hitler before him, is to divide and conquer. Current developments suggest that the western world is divisible.

Bandits got $3,000 from an east coast doctor's safe. It might interest other doctors to know his collection methods.

MacArthur

Criticism of General MacArthur, present for years in Communist and leftist circles in this country, all but disappeared during the early days of the campaign to put down Soviet aggression in Korea. But, now that the Kremlin has committed millions of Chinese troops to the fighting—obviously impossible odds for the armies available to MacArthur—the commies and fellow travelers are at it again.

The outcome of this adventure in Korea, ordered by President Truman in June, has always depended more on diplomatic success than on military success. In fact, there could never have been military success without a large degree of diplomatic success. Communist military strength in that section of the world is overwhelming in relation to forces the United States has been able to divert to Korea. While this was supposed to be a United Nations action, other countries sent a few hundred soldiers, or more.

Diplomats at Washington and Lake Success tried to keep Red China out of Korea. The diplomats at Moscow beat them to a frazzle. This diplomatic defeat is a forerunner of military defeat to whatever extent the Communists wish to express their advantage of preponderant power on the battle scene.

MacArthur is a competent general. He has been a competent military administrator of Japan. Due to the MacArthur policies, Japan is expected to be self-sufficient soon unless engulfed by war. In Korea MacArthur is potentially as much outmanned as he was on Bataan. And U. S. diplomats have been outmaneuvered more disastrously than they were by the Japanese in 1941.

Clearing The Air

J. G. Berger, member of the New Jersey Commission on Air Pollution Control and a consulting engineer, offered some helpful comments about the problem of smoke, soot and fumes the other day. He spoke at a meeting of the New Jersey Health Officers' Association in Atlantic City. And as he spoke of the cause and cure of air pollution, timely confirmation of the importance of his subject came from Dr. Charence A. Mills of the University of Cincinnati.

Testifying before a state commission investigating the Los Angeles smog problem, Dr. Mills said air pollution had caused 312 deaths in Los Angeles County in two years. Hundreds of others die elsewhere every year from respiratory infections caused by polluted air, said Dr. Mills.

Mr. Berger placed responsibility for pollution on industry. Chimneys won't smoke if fuel plants are properly maintained and equipped, he said. There are devices to trap all noxious odors, fumes and dusts. A smoking chimney means that fuel is being wasted. It is belching not only smoke but dollars. Industry can save substantial sums, Mr. Berger pointed out, by efficient combustion of its fuel, and much of the soot and fumes carry particles of salvagable metals and acids.

Industry has been singularly lax in this matter. Aside from its obligation to help protect the health and comfort of the community, self-interest alone should have produced voluntary correction of wasteful, unwholesome conditions. But few industries have stopped air pollution voluntarily, and many have resisted legislation to compel them to act.

ABC network President Robert Kintner, queried on the published reports that it is to be peddled soon, says it is news to him. . . . The Met Opera business is nowhere near what new director Bing predicted. A pavement ticket spec, who didn't recognize him the other night, offered a $3 ducat for $2. The Met pays off in prestige. Most of its stars average $200 per week. . . . Howcum sponsors haven't latched onto the quiz program, "Who Said That?" Have they a grudge against entertainment? . . . Variety reports a scarcity of femmedians on teevy. The only three we can think of are Gracie Allen, Imogene Coca and Martha Raye. . . . Harold Lloyd's "Mad Wednesday" is his first screen offering in a dozen years. The advance heralds call it his most hilarious. . . . TV Guide credited Noel Coward with the memrable crack: "Everything I like is immoral, illegal or fattening," which was Woollcott's.

In his pillar in This Week Bert Bacharach tossed his "Pass the Cigars" award to the same gazette's radio critic J. Crosby for having "kept his listener status" by never going to a broadcast or telecast. Zatzo? How about John's teevy appearance on Wendy Barrie's program? . . . Composer Richard Rodgers is quoted: "It's all very nice when a good looking actress flirts with you at a party. But you don't want to live with her. You want to go home to the girl you married." (Ha, ha). . . . One trusts some of the new comics witnessed Buster Keaton's wonderfooling on the Ed Wynn frolic. It was an expert's version of pantomimicry. . . . The ads for "Bless You All" announce: "Plus a swarm of sultry sylphs." They mean Girls.

The critics have never been so affectionate to performers as this season. Players in 24 of the season's 30 shows were pelted with love letters. Even George Jean Nathan acclaimed 3 new shows last week. Practicall a season's quota for him. . . . Phil Silvers, in charge of the Copacabana riots, is a rarity among night spot oafs. His quipping is as clean as a baby's conscience. . . . Darlene Dietrich in "Blue Angel," now encored in midtown temples, is still good. The dialog, which is peppered with insinuendoes, makes you wonder where the movie censors were when it was first unveiled. . . . You have to read Times critic J. Atkinson all the way to make sure. He began a recent notice with the orchid: "It is a thoroughly competent murder play," and amen'd: "A well-compounded sedative."

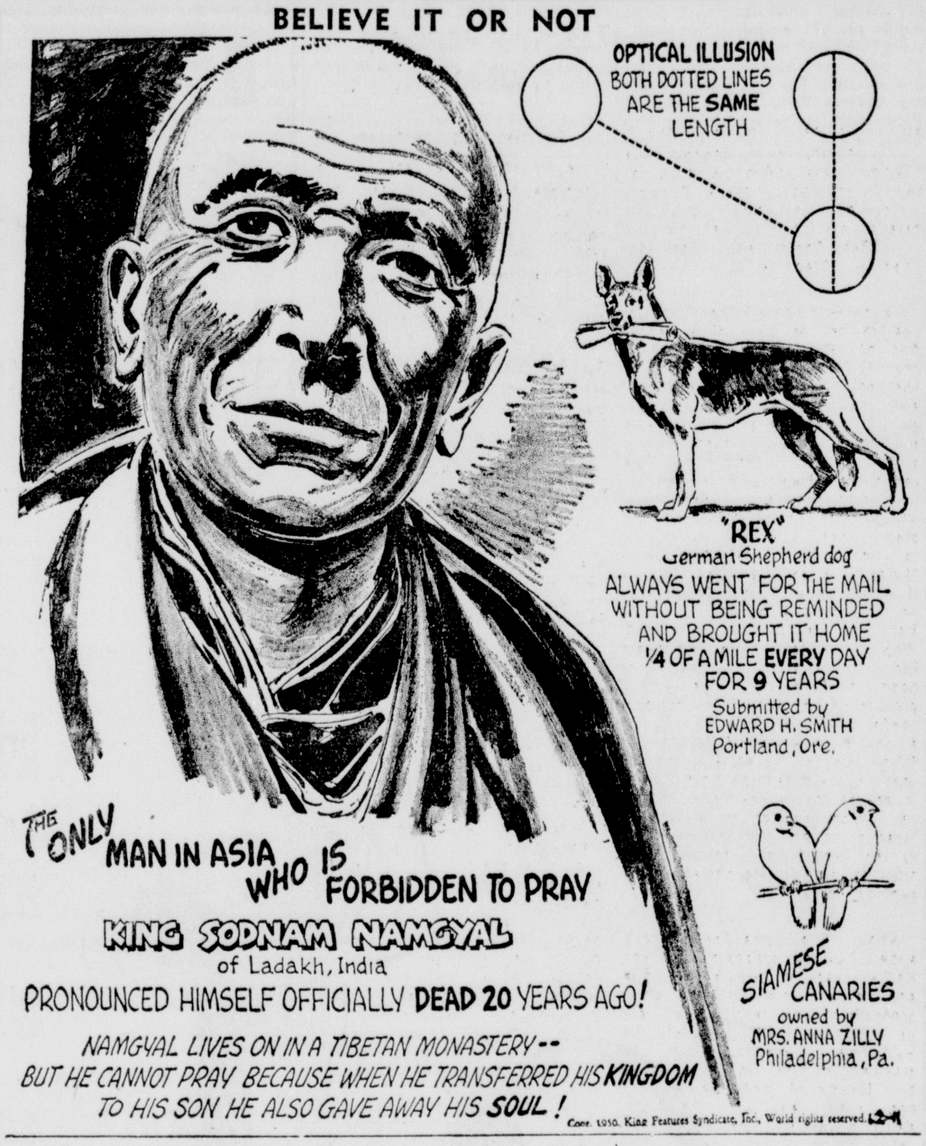

"I*suppose," supposes Canadian colyumist Hye Bossin, "you never heard about the maharajah who, during one of those periodic food shortages, gave his mahararanee a bag of diamonds with these endearing words: 'I wish they were peanuts!' All right, so you caught me. It's a switch on what Helen Hayes was told by her husband Charles McCarthy." He means Charles MacArthur. . . . Edith Piaf and Tony Martin's styling of "La Vie En Rose" is oof'ly good, but have you ever had your ears loved by Jacqueline Francois' version? . . . "The Original Sin," a recent import from Germany (about Adam and Eve), died here at the box office. It is cleaning up on tour by simply re-titling it: "Nature Man". . . . Teevy or no teevy, Paramount Pictures Corp. is grossing twice as much in 1950 as it did last year. . . . The whole world is interested in Glamour. Hollywood now has over 100 foreign correspondents.

The top recording battle of the year is the duel between the "Call Me Madam" albums. Decca has La Merman without the cast and Victor has Dinah Shore with it . . . When Bunny Lane weds Wm. De Wire on Monday it will mark the 5th merger in the "Pardon Our French" troupe . . . Jarmila Novotna of the Met makes her debut as a dancer (doing the can-can) at the Diamond Horseshoe on the 28th. For the Fete des Artistes . . . Add Horatio Alger yarns: Harvey Stone as a kid peddled newspapers outside the Detroit Athletic Club. In Feb. he'll get $3,000 (1 show a night) as its headliner . . . Jeremy Spenser, the youngster in the British cinema, "Prelude to Fame", is the most skillful in the lollipop division.

"We, the People" apparently enjoyed the column's recent notes on royalty here and what they are doing for a living. Many are booked for that program . . . A Dixie byliner quarreled with the medal for Jolson. The fact that Jolson set the pace in the last war by being the first to go overseas (as he did recently) was reason enough. Not many are bothering now . . . Piper Laurie, the new Hollywood eyeful, is described by coast papers as a Scotch lass. She's from Detroit and her name is Rose Jacobs . . . Talk about dimpled darlings—there's Eva Gabor, one of the most beguiling members in dollevision. Blonde hair and a hipnotic torso . . . You Can't Win: Hollywood has been blasted a lot by the reviewers for "distorting plays. But now several critics complain that "Cyrano" is too faithful to the stage version.

Bucky Harris won the pennant with the Yankees in 1947 and in '48 carried them to the next-to-last day before losing it. That winter he was fired . . . Burt Shotton won the flag with the Dodgers in 1949 and in '50 was beaten on the final day and was bounced . . . The Giants' Leo Durocher is the only New York manager who knows how to hold his job. Finish 3rd or worse . . . Don Cornell, the singer, gets his initial Big Town theatre booking in the Strand's Christmas show. . . One of the hit playwrights can't stand the success. Gone back to benders . . It says in the papers that Mrs. Samuel Goldwyn (whose reminiscing is fine in Woman's Home Companion) is writing a book about Movietown. When that was noted here a year ago she screamed us into denial . . . The film, "Right Cross, has a featherweight fable but its climactic brawl hits you like Sugar Ray Robinson . . . Hollywood is reaching deep into the files. "King Solomon's Mines" came out of a book written 65 years ago.

John Wayne is the only movie cowhand who makes frontier heroics believable over at these orbs . . . . Have you seen those new bonnets for milady? They glow in the dark like halos . . . Eduardo Cantor's cabbie character is one of the few genuine innovations to hit the teevy cameras . . . Some of the hit songs in "Bless You All" were in the flops, "That's the Ticket" and "Pretty Penny" . . . . Ed Gardner, called "Archy" by radio fans, is real-named Eddie Poggenburg. His chums call him Poggy . . . Biggest source of revenue for bands this season is unpublicized private party bookings. Tommy Dorsey picks up $5,000 for 4 hours at one Waldorf event Dec. 15th.

George E. Sokolsky:

THESE DAYS

RUSSIA IN EAST ASIA

In 1920, K. Fuse, correspondent of the "Osaka Mainichi" and the "Tokyo Nichi Nichi," was sent to Moscow, where he stayed for many years. I knew him as an excellent reporter.

He had had a conversation with Nicholai Lenin, the founder of Soviet Russia, in which that progenitor of the world revolution said:

"For the present, real communism can achieve success only in the occident. The powers in the west enrich themselves by extorting weak countries in the Orient. At the same time, however, they arm their Oriental colonies and give the natives military training. The west is digging a grave in the east to bury itself in."

Lenin saw the picture with rare insight, for since 1920, the far east has been a maelstrom of the wildest contending forces. World War II really started on September 18, 1931, when the Japanese seized Manchuria. There has been no peace in the world since.

The Baku congress of nations, meeting on September 1, 1920, was called to bring Oriental nations into the Communist system. Among the representatives were some from Russia, Turkey, China, India, Persia (Iran), Afghanistan, Japan and Korea.

One of the subjects discussed most excitedly at this Baku conference was the destruction of the British empire. All these peoples in Asia hated the British empire in 1920. Zinoviev put it in about these words:

"England enslaved Persia, converted Mesopotamia and Arabia into her colonies, and starved their peoples. Her despotism in Egypt is worse than in the days of Pharaoh. In China she is poisoning her people with opium. We shall first declare war against Britain, and not stop until we win the final victory, no matter how long the battle may last."

It was hatred for Great Britain which stimulated the creation of Communist parties in Asia. Marxism came later. During World War II, the full effects of this anti-British propaganda among Asiatic, and for that matter, African, peoples paid off plentifully. The war was hardly over when the peoples of those countries devoted themselves to revolutions to disassociate themselves from the British.

Even the Indonesian revolution, ostensibly against Holland, was in reality against the British, who controlled the economy of that country. India became free. Burma, Malaya are seething. British influence in Afghanistan and Iran has beomce nil.

The Russians reduced Great Britain more effectively than two wars against Germany did.

This has been the policy of the third international throughout its career. It is based upon the theory that if the colonial countries can be separated from the "imperialists," the latter will be left without adequate manpower and resources and their poverty at home will increase. Also, the colonials would not be able to protect themselves. Precisely that has happened to Great Britain since the 1920's.

Lenin, Trotsky and the "old" Bolsheviks were too doctrinaire to accomplish this world revolution. Stalin brought to it his ruthless competence. He employed the methods of imperialism as a weapon of revolution.

Stalin, more than any other Russian leader, from the very start, was deeply involved in Asiatic problems. He is, of course, an Asiatic. His first important job was commissar of nationalities (minorities).

Fuse asked Stalin in 1925 what strange magnetism attracted the Asiatics to Soviet Russia. Stalin replied:

". . . Deep in the bottom of their hearts the longing for racial determination was burning. At such an occasion, we opened up a new life for them, holding that all men are alike, and they should be mutually respected irrespective of races. Under this new condition, they had to come to the conclusion that it was better for them to be together and work together."

There can be no quesion that There can be no question that at the start, when the Japanese Journalist wrote his accounts, this was true, but since then, training, indoctrination, organization have been applied. While such countries as the United States played with Marshall plans and points four and all the paraphernalia of dollars and things, the Russians worked on men's minds, hopes and prejudices. They united on hates, always finding a satisfactory object of hate.

For years it was Great Britain that must be hated; then it was fascism, Germany and Spain and individuals in other countries. Now they are building hatred of the United States, which they call "Wall Street."

The object does not matter. The accomplishment is to unite Asiatics against the western world.

GETTING NOWHERE FAST

The story is told of the little boy going to school in the snow who said every time he took a step forward he slipped back two, and finally had to start home to get to school.

This story can very well be applied to what is now happening to our economy in this country. The way we are now headed, we are "getting nowhere fast"; in fact, we are slipping backwards.

This fact can be no better illustrated than by considering life insurance in force in this nation — that great reservoir of savings and protection and investment that is one of the keystones of our economy.

According to Life Insurance: Fact Book, 1950, total life insurance in force in the United States in 1949 was $214,400,000,000. In 1932 it was $101,559,000,000. "Life insurance ownership has grown steadily over the years" says the Fact Book.

Let's see if it has, actually. Life insurance is worth only what its value in dollars will buy. The value of a dollar is determined by its purchasing power; two hundred dollars are not worth twice as much as one hundred dollars unless they will buy twice as much.

The increase in life insurance from 1932 to 1949 was approximately 111 per cent—that is, insurance in 1949 was 211 per cent of that in 1932. But the index in wholesale prices for 1932 was 64.8 and for 1949 it was 155, an increase of approximately 140 per cent. In other words, it required $2.40 to purchase in 1949 what one dollar would buy in 1932. Thus the dollar in 1949 had a purchasing power, roughly of 42 cents in terms of the 1932 dollar. On this basis, the purchasing power of the $214,400,000,000 life insurance ownership in 1949 is $90,048,000,000

Day By Day New York

New York Thinking out loud: Manhattan is a good place to be in a high windstorm. There are no overhead wires of any kind. Even when we had trolley cars, the electric cables on which the trolleys ran were underground. All telephone, telegraph and power lines have been buried for many years.

Lawton MacKall, whom I mentioned as a food expert in this column a short time ago, has esting guide to New York eating about food and wine for the Hotel World-Review, leading publication of the hotel industry.

Mackall is author of an interesting guide to New ork eating places, "Knife and Fork in New York." He has long been a member of the Board of High Education, in New York. Not a dumb fellow at all.

When I was telling you about Jack Glenn, March of Time producer, I ran out of space before I could tell about his publication. It is The Screen Director, published monthly for screen people. It is an offset printing job, printed from self-justifying typewriter copy. Jack is chairman and editor, president of the company, and a member of the board of directors. I suppose that makes him quite a somebody around the Screen Director.

A word to the customers who are interested in my books about pirates and lost treasure. I do not have the time and energy to answer all your letters. I would spend all my time answering such letters and telling people how to find the treasure.

The Associated Master Barbers of Mankato, Minn. have written me a nice letter over the signature of their secretary, Robert Klimpel, who operates the YMCA barber shop in Mankato. Mr. Klimpel chides me for objecting to dollar haircuts, but he does it in a civil manner, and I thank him.

I think my mother's wedding ring was wide enough to hold a shock of wheat together. I learn from J. R. Wood and sons, specialists in engagement and wedding rings, that the tendency through a hundred years has been to cut down the width of the band. The rings are now quite attractive, where they used to be merely conspicuous.

Songwriter Harry MacPherson, of whom I have written in connection with his new and successful song, "I'm Praying to St. Christopher," admits that he turned religious while writing the song. When I knew him in school he had no more religion than a rabbit.

He has sent me these unpublished verses, with permission to publish.

Before the earliest service,
Before the lights came on,
I knelt in the chapel's holy hush
To thank Him for the dawn.

The dawn of a wakening conscience,
Of faith in another day,
Of hope for a helpful steady hand
To straighten the tangled way.

Others would shortly enter
With whisperings of prayer,
Tall candles would be lighted on
The gleaming altar there;

Soon the unyielding Latin
My soul would probe and prod,
But just for a while I was all alone
With an understanding God.

BASCOM TIMMONS

(Mr. Timmons, Washington correspondent of the Morning World is back in the United States after a visit to the Korean war front and to countries in the troubled far east.)

The speech made by Wu Hsiuchuan, delegate and representative of Red China, before the United Nations Council at Lake Success, emphasized the great value which Mao-Tse-tung, Chou En-Lai and all the Chinese Communist leaders place on Formosa and also their deep hatred of Chiang Kai-Scheck.

An invasion from the Chinese mainland across the strais of Formosa with the United States Seventh Fleet in those straits and Chiang Kai-scheck's re-organized army, alert to break up any slow crossing by sampan or junk and later assembling at points in the Formosan interior as the Chinese Communists did in their invasion of Hainan Island must have boomed to the Peiping Red clique as an almost formidable task. Compared to this, the march of the massed Red armies across the narrow Yalu river from Manchurian into Korea against the outnumbered United Nation's army was simplicity itself.

In the mass of information MacArthur had on Red China's intentions, much of it conflicting, it was emphasized that even if such a military task in Korea became a quick and easy one for the big Red armies of General Lin Piao, Mao would still be far from his goal of Formosa and the South Asia lands of other nations which he covets.

One of MacArthur's hopes for carrying out his military action north of the 38th parallel without involvement in a bigger war with Red China was the liklihood that Mao would try to win Formosa by diplomacy. Mao had been encouraged to believe that support from countries with commercial interests in the Far East who want to continue to trade with communistic China would land him the place Nationalist China now holds in the United Nations and that subsequent diplomatic maneuvering would drop Formosa into his lap without too much delay. That course would have been Mao functioning as he is often pictured, as an intellectual and a diplomat. The other picture of him is that of a bluff, tough military campaigner.

There was the added argument that Mao had established his Chinese People's Republic only a year before (October 1, 1949.) In certain parts of China he is strong; in other areas he has glaring weaknesses. Chiang Kai-scheck's guerrillas still roam over wide areas of the mainland.

MacArthur does not admit that any communistic government is stable. In essence if not in his exact words his position, which I think has never been printed, is:

"No government is stable which does not find its strength in the free will of the people. It is merely a military despotism, kept under control by threat or force of arms. There is no government under communistic domination that is stable as we understand the term 'stability.' It is force and repression and without the people's will."

A period of further force and repression of the home opposition was urged upon Mao by some of his strougest Peiping advisers and there was some evidence that they had convinced him.

MacArthur never took the view held by the State Department that there was any chance to drive a wedge between Soviet Russia and the Chinese Reds. He believed, on the other hand, that an already tight alliance between Moscow and Pieping would grow tighter.

In recent months, there has been a growing feeling in some informed circles in the Far East that in a carving up of Asia, Stalin would help Mao to such portions of South China as he needed to round out what the Chinese Reds considered an integrated economy and that in gratitude to his benefactor Mao would deed over to Soviet Russia all of Manchuria with its own warm water ports which the Soviet so ardently desires, plus also its iron and coal.

Holiday Driving Safety Is Urged

Chief M. L. Peters of the Monroe police department issued a statement Saturday concerning the Christmas traffic situation. The statement read as follows:

"All of us who have to do with accident prevertion are inclined to regard the Christmas holiday season as the most perilous single period of the year. This year the traffic death record indicates that we all will have to redouble our efforts during this period.

"We ask that each person lend his cooperation, whether as a pedestrian or as a motorist, in helping to reduce these hazards by careful observance of the traffic regulations in this city and the surrounding territory."

Captain Jack Davis, of the traffic department, is stressing the necessity of alertness and precaution during the holidays, quoted the following figures on accidents in the September October, and November: 80 injuries and 261 accidents.

JIMMIE FIDDLER

In Hollywood With

Hollywood Dec. 9.—Londoners confide that the owners of the Paladium are now having so much trouble in booking top American stars for appearances there that they're considering a plan to convert the huge showcase into a legitimate theatre . . . The Alan Hales Jr. will welcome a second visit from the stork come June . . . Tony Martin and Cyd Charisse are waxing sample duets for Victor and if company heads approve will do an album . . . Congratulations to the Joe E. Browns who will celebrate their 35th wedding anniversary the day before Xmas.

The real reason for the retakes on certain scenes for Paramount's "The Lemon Drop Kid" is a Johnston Office ruling that the dress Marilyn Maxwell wore the first time they were shot was cut too low . . . Funniest set accident of the week happened when Janet Leigh for "Two Tickets To Broadway" made like a majorette in a dance number. She promptly beaned herself with the baton and went down for the count.

Preview Nights: Pic of the week: Universal - International's "Frenchie" (Joel McCrea-Shelley Winters-Paul Kelly-Elsa Lanchester). A "class" western actionfull enough to please the melodramaddicts and intelligent enough to satisfy the more discriminating . . . Good: 20th Century-Fox's "For Heaven's Sake" (Clifton Webb-Joan Bennett-Robert Cummings - Joan Blondell). Star-studded comedy with a pair of elderly angels trying to straighten out mortal affairs, and scoring a fair number of laughs in the process . . . SO-SO: Paramount's "The Great Missouri Raid" (Wendell Corey-MacDonald Carey-Ward Bond). Tired melodrama with the James Boys —Jesse and Frank — glamorized once again by Hollywood . . . Warner Brothers' "Highway 301" (Steve Cochran - Virginia Grey-Gaby Andre). Typical cops-and-robbers melodrama paraleling the real-life doings of the notorious Tri-State Gang. Leave the kids at home if you must see it . . . Looking West: Monogram's "Short Grass" (Rod Cameron-Cathy Downs-Johnny Mack Brown). A far-above-par oater that should rate cheers from the western fans . . . Best Performance: Joel McCrea in "Frenchie."

"King Solomon's Mines" continues to be the box office sensation of 1950 having grossed well over $1,000,000 playing to capacity business in its first few bookings, and as might be reasonably expected by anyone acquainted with Hollywood ways, almost every studio in the industry is now searching frantically for adventure stories with African backgrounds. Even MGM, the film plant that had enough vision to undertake "King Solomon's Mines" is so impressed by the tide of dollars that it's said to be planning a sequel in which Kerr wil again be co-starred. Why I wonder? Time and again the folly of such "cycles" has been demonstrated. The initial picture which touches one off succeeds precisely because it IS something new and different; the follow-ups fail precisely because they quickly become "old - hat." It seems to me that any producer smart enough to weigh the lessons taught by those previous cycles would be looking, just now, for stories laid anywhere excepting in Africa.

About this time each year, show business breaks out in a veritable rash of popularity polls, and anyone interested enough to cross-check the results must end up in a state of complete bewilderment. Consider for instance the last three reported by Hollywood trade papers. In one, Alan Ladd was the walkaway winner, in the second, he rated fourth, and in the third he didn't rate at all. The fact is that nine-tenths of all the polls report the preferences of special segments of the entire movie audience—and the actor, or actress, who is a favorite with one age group, or in one particular section of the country, may be an also-ran with other age groups or in other districts. But the popularity polls, no matter how undependable they may be, are an institution. They multiply like guinea pigs, and they furnish a wonderful talking point for any actor lucky enough to be near the top when he demands an increase in the size of his paycheck.

What Others Say:

EDITORS' ROUNDTABLE

GERMAN REARMAMENT

Some editors fear that Socialist gains in recent West German elections indicate a German reluctance to rearm under any circumstances. But most editors see the trend as a German bargaining for military and political autonomy. And a very large minority argues that, despite French fears concerning German rearmament, effective West European defense requires at least substantial agreement with the German viewpoint. But majority opinion is that, for most effective cooperation, further efforts should be made to reconcile differences as to the scope and manner of German participation in West European defense.

San Diego (Calif.) Union (Rep.): "results of the recent elections in Western Germany seem to indicate that . . . the Germans would be reluctant to take on the hazards of another war. . . . Looking over their blasted cities and demolished industries . . . it is only natural that the mass of the German people should consider whether their own interest would be better served by contributing military divisions to the defense of Western Europe—and themselves —or by an attitude of neutrality which at least would fend off physical destruction, even if such neutrality eventually meant their subjection to Communist rule."

Pittsburgh (Pa.) Post - Gazette (Ind.): "The Socialists are not opposed to West German rearmament as such. But they are demanding a measure of equality in the rearming of West Germany and assurance of adequate military support from their allies. From the standpoint of a German citizen that is not an unreasonable attitude. To die for the Fatherland on an equal footing and with hope of saving it from Stalin is one thing. But to die for the Fatherland in a servile capacity and in a foredoomed cause is quite another."

Oakland (Calif.) Tribune (Ind.-Rep.): "The Social Democrats, who in the field of socialism are very much like the British Laborites, take an impossible position in respect to rearmament. They refuse to cooperate until the Allies have enough troops on the Elbe to defeat a Soviet attack but military men insist that German manpower is essential to such a stand. The fact that the socialists also demand full independence for Germany before rearmament indicates that they are willing to bargain. Certainly the Allies are not going to submit to any such pressure."

Norfolk (Va.) Ledger-Dispatch (Ind.-Dem.): "The elections show the Germans bargaining . . . for assurance of security and assurance of equality. The trend has induced Chancellor Adenauer to ask the Allies to substitute for the present occupation statue a 'treaty' which would very nearly recognize his government as sovereign, and to grant the Germans if they rearm, equality of command, unit by unit, and a voice in the Allied leadership. He—and the Socialists—are now asking the West to choose between Germany as a useful partner and Germany as a defenseless puppet. Soon the choice, unpleasant as it may be, must be made. . ."

Norfolk (Va.) Virginian-Pilot (Ind.-Dem.): "There is at present little prospect that the French and Germans can agree on whether West Germany should be represented in the high command, or on whether German units should be division size or organized as battalions and regiments. . . . The North Atlantic Pact nations should proceed with the creation of a European army and postpone a decision on the use of German troops. It will take considerable time, funds and equipment to arm the European troops concerning whose use there is no dispute."

Indianapolis (Ind.) Star (Ind.-Rep.): "It may not be the most desirable thing in the world to have to make concessions to the recent enemy. But mankind is faced with a far greater danger than a potentially revived Germany. Our military leaders have agreed that there can be no effective defense of western Europe without large-scale German participation. It is too late to let French politicians go on flaying the dead horses of Franco-German history. Binding Germany to the west in a mighty defense coalition is one of the most important needs of the hour. America must provide the leadership for that effort."

Tampa (Fla.) Tribune (Ind.-Dem.): "While some French leaders have relaxed their insistence that Germans could be incorporated in the proposed European army only in battalions, others are determined that political and economic organization of Western Europe must come before an allied military command is established. Behind it all is that French fear of the German as a worse enemy than the Russian. . . . As we see it, there is only one way. That is for President Truman to take the initiative in inviting the government heads of Britain, France and Western Germany to Washington in a new effort to compromise the differences."

in terms of 1932 dollars and is, therefore, $11,511,000,000 less, in so far as purchasing power is concerned, than that outstanding in 1932.

If one compares the situation during the years 1939-1949, we find the Fact Book shows total insurance in 1939 to be $111,651,000,000. The index of wholesale prices in 1939 was 77.1 By 1949, insurance had increased 92 per cent while the price index had increases 101 per cent; that is, the index of 1949 was 201 per cent of that of 1939 and the purchasing power of the dollar in 1949 was, roughly, 50 per cent of that of 1939. The purchasing power of the $214,400,000,000 insurance of 1949 was equal to $107,200,000,000 in 1939 dollars and is, therefore, $4,451,000,000 below the value of the insurance in effect in 1939.

In figures, life insurance ownership "has grown steadily"; in fact it has slipped back. And if we continue the way we are going, it will continue to slip back. If we are going to get anywhere, we must start back home, and that "home" is undoubtedly a redeemable currency.

When we went off the gold standard in 1933, the people lost control of their supply of money, and this control reverted into the hands of the politicians. It is the history of politicians, of whatever party, that they will spend all the money they can get their hands on. So long as we have an irredeemable currency, as has been the case since 1933, and so long as the control of our money supply remains in the hands of the politicans, thereby allowing them to promise all things to all people without compunction, just so long can we expect a continuing decline in the value of the dollar and a continuing "rat race" toward inflation.

It does no good to lecture people on economy and thrift and it does no good to rail and rant at the pliticians until we once again get in our hands the tool to make our efforts effective — and that is a redeemable currency.

Issue Warning Against Receiving Stolen Property

Monroe detective, who as of late Saturday recovered $450 worth of merchandize stolen over a lengthy period of time admittedly by Richard Taylor, Negro, issued a warning stating that anyone having any of these stolen articles in their possession turn them over to the police department or they would be prosecuted. Taylor, alias McGee, and residing on Adams street, is making a total confession of places which he has robbed and articles which he has taken, reported detectives.

Articles recovered Saturday were four overcoats, three Little Ben clocks, and one Westinghouse clock from Montgomery Ward; one .25 caliber automatic pearl handle Italian pistol and one .25 caliber automatic from Star Furniture company.

Stolen items, recovered Friday, were listed as: one radio, from H. H. McCann Hardware Store, Alexandria; two pressure cookers from Consumer Food Store, Sixth and Washington street; two table model radios from Auto Lec Store, 111 Catalpa; three electric toasters and one jacket from Montgomery Ward; two Big Ben clocks and a razor from Walgreen's Drugs; one pressure cooker and five pairs of gloves from Sears Roebuck; five gallons of paint from Hill Lumber company.

Taylor, who was sent to Angola in 1946 on a similar charge, will be tried in fourth district court at a later date, it was announced.

'C. A. P. Week' Ending Today

The role of Civil Air Patrol in World War II and the postwar activities of this organization were lauded in a proclamation issued by Mayors John Coon and C. C. Bell yesterday.

Mayor Coon and Bell joined Governor Long and other mayors throughout the state in designating the week of 4 to 10 December as Civil Air Patrol Week.

Founded a week before Pearl Harbor to assist in our defense the submarine menace, the Civil Air Patrol has continued since the war and now is prepared to render an ever increasing service to the country.

Now that civilian defense is uppermost in the minds of the people of this country, it is good to know that one organization is trained and ready to perform a service in this program. Mobile support units are now being formed in each unit of C. A. P. in this state. Their purpose is to provide self sufficient corps of trained first aid, communications and other rescue personnel. These teams will be provided with aerial transportation in light aircraft which will be able to land in most areas where needed.

Although the C. A. P. units are already organized and trained, Colonel W. D. Haas, wing commander, has announced that many people are still needed to bring the mobile support units up to strength. Any personnel who wish to take part in the civilian defense program should contact their local C. A. P. unit or wing headquarters in the international trade mart in New Orleans.

CONSIDERS PLEA

received his government's answer to U. N. peace overtures.

"I cannot tell you anything," he said.

The U. N. later issued a statement saying Lie and Wu discussed "general matters and practical questions." Officials said no further comment would be forthcoming and "the lid was on."

Rau, India's top U. N. delegate, told reporters Gen. Wu Hsiu-chun the Red Chinese representative here, assured him at a conference today the Peiping government "is giving careful consideration" to the appeal by 13 Asiatic and Middle east nations to halt the Chinese forces at the parallel.

Immediately after Lie arrived at Lake Success from his hour-long Manhattan conference with Gen. Wu, he issued a brief statement to reporters:

"The 13 sponsoring delegations met again this afternoon. They reviewed the situation in the light of further information available and decided to continue their efforts. I saw Gen. Wu this morning. He has indicated his government is giving careful consideration to the appeal which we made and is desirous of bringing the fighting to an end as early as possible."

Earlier today, the Peiping radio quoted the North Korean ambassador in the Chinese Communist capital as declaring that Chinese "volunteers", together with the North Koreans, intended to occupy all of Korea.

"Not only Pyongyang but the whole of Korea will be liberated," the ambassador was represented as telling a crowd in front of his embassy.

Some observers here interpreted the broadcasts as a more realistic measure of Chinese intentions than the statements attributed to Wu.

MORE.

A. U. S. spokesman said the United States delegation will continue to press for early passage by the general assembly of the six-power resolution calling on the Chinese to withdraw from Korea.

He declined to comment on the moves of the 13 Asiatic countries, but expressed concern lest the assembly become bogged down with a multitude of moves instead of quickly calling on the Chinese to quit Korea.

Assembly action will not be taken until Monday at the earliest. The political committee adjourned for the weekend shortly after 1 p. m. (EST) today after hearing a tirade by Vishinsky against the United States and an appeal by the South Korean representative for a "firm U. N. stand."

The Soviet foreign minister ended a speech of one hour and 20 minutes by introducing a resolution embodying the Russian terms for ending the war. Besides the point calling for the withdrawal of the "foreign troops," it calls for the Korean people to be allowed to decide their future alone.

Russia introduced a similar resolution last summer as the terms for ending the war, but the security council batted it down. Another Russian move in the assembly likewise was rejected. That was before the Chinese Communists intervened.

Vishinsky did not mention withdrawal of U. S. forces from Formosa in today's resolution. This has constantly been a Soviet condition for "restoring peace to the Pacific." Observers attached no significance to today's omission, however, pointing out that Formosa is not presently under discussion by the committee.

Throughout his speech Vishinsky insisted that the Red Chinese fighters are "volunteers," but he acknowledged they have been integrated into the North Korean army as military units. The Soviet bloc has been stressing the volunteer angle on grounds that such volunteer fighting is permissable under the Hague convention on neutrality.

Vishinsky dwelt at length on the origins of the Korean war, repeated the Soviet contention that the South Koreans started the war under U. S. pressure, and accused the U. S. and Britain of asking other nations to respect the United Nations charter while violating it themselves.

He declared that the United States considered the entire Pacific area to be 'their defense moat," while at the same time withholding the right to the Chinese of defending their own borders.

Col. Ben C. Limb, South Korean foreign minister, appealed to the U. N. for action asserting "we have walked for long enough half-blinded in a murky fog."

"Our efforts to pretend that this is a limited war have not prevented the enemy from waging war of full extermination," he said.

He warned thta "the Communist empire cannot be bought off by a weak U N. surrender in Korea." He appealed to the U. N. to stand firm on the battlefield and for "a great supply of arms for the Korean people" so that it can fight side by side with the U. N.

PRISONERS

One American officer said recently some former North Korean soldiers had joined South Korean troops and civilians fighting guerrillas in central Korea. This report could not be confirmed.

It also was reported recently that some Chinese prisoners had volunteered to join the Nationalists to fight the Reds in China.

The majority of the U. N. prisoners of war are Red Koreans. Only a small number of Chinese were captured before U. N. forces started withdrawing on all fronts.

Prisoners are kept in camps or compounds usually well to the rear of combat zones.

After being captured, a prisoner is turned over to a regiment or division and then assigned to the POW camp.

If he is wounded captured, a prisoner's wounds are treated. One eighth army officer said many North Korean war prisoners have been profusely thankful for treatment of their wounds or ailments.

The prisoners in camp do some work. A group of them built a soccer field in one camp.

Their pay is an army secret. It possibly is based on their pay in the Red army. North Korean soldiers have received about enough to keep them in cigarettes.

They do not work on military projects such as airfields. After Seoul fell to U. N. forces a number of North Korean prisoners filled sandbags for use on a ford over a backwash of the Han river.

It is known most war prisoners have been evacuated from areas abandoned by the allies. And those who were in camp around Seoul probably have been moved farther south.

ice-minded men and women who have served as national chairmen, state chairmen and judges in the nationwide poetry contests sponsored by the National Thanksgiving Association."

Mrs. Bernard Druck, St. Paul, Minn., 25 years ago decided that our national Thanksgiving holiday should take on a deeper meaning. Through her the National Thanksgiving Associatio., was formed, and to further the idea poems were solicited on the theme of Thanksgiving from people all over the country. The present book embodies many of the best of these. Nearly every state in the union is represented. Two only are from Louisiana. They are by Eulalia McCoy Monroe, entitled "Arise, Give Thanks to God" and "Freedom's Eager Fire" by another Louisianian, Adelaide Long Lawson.

Mrs. McCoy's contribution is as follows:

Arise!
Give thanks to God
For all the beauteous world
Wherein Four Freedoms' flag unfurled
Bespeak the majesty of toiling hours
When Pilgrims found our woods and hills
And shady powers,
And made their homes a place to hold
The gradeur of it all;
Wherein to grow in mind and let
The soul be drawn
To greater things—the work of brain and brawn.
Our land; a miracle of powers,
A garden spot of flowers.
And over all
Our flag."

"Midnight in the Toy Shop," will be presented by the primary grades at Central Grammar School Friday, December 15 at 7:30 p. m. in the school auditorium. The public is cordially invited and money received will be devoted to aid persons in need.

Friends of Frances Ritter, daughter of Mr. ad Mrs. Allen Ritter, 1401 College avenue, are pleased to know of her recent progress. A pupil of Frances Z. Allbritton, she has been given repeated recognition for her musical talent, the latest being in the recent Bach festival in Louisiana State University. On four days of programs, L. S. U. students faculty and guests artists appeared. Frances was the only freshman soloist in the entire production. She played Bach's C minor Fantasy forthe piano.

She is not only talented in music but also possesses that sometimes "twin talent", that of dramatic ability. She has participated in numerous high school appearances and in the Monroe Little Theatre, where she also received deserved recognition.

YANKS

fense positions 25 miles south of Pyongyang.

When this onslaught might come was not known on the allied side of the line, but tension increased in the south.

Many Korean civilians fled from Seoul, 85 miles south of the eighth army front, for points farther south. Three American commercial planes were diverted from regular schedules to evacuate important American and other foreign civilians from Seoul.

Rumors of plans for a mass evacuation through Hungnam spread along the hard-pressed allied line. Allied authorities neither confirmed nor denied this.

General Almond however, confirmed abandonment of the port of Wonsan to the sauth, saying two ports were no longer needed and Hungnam was the better. He said concentration in Hungnam would put his troops in better position "to kill off these birds."

Ships of the United Nations fleet stood off Hungnam.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, commander of the fleet, told a news conference the fleet was "ready for any eventuality" but that it was ther primarily to support and suply land forces in Hungnam, and the industrial city of Hamhung a short distance inland.

Joy and other top commanders conferred in Hungnam. No announcements were made after the meetings.

The weather cleared Saturday and allied warplanes roared to the aid of the column trapped between Koto and Hungnam. The improved weather also gave the column a better chance to use its own art against Reds in hill positions along the escape route.

The traped men began to hear the welcome booming of artillery from the U. S. third division, striking up from the south to meet them.

Yet a dangerous new threat to the breakout column was in the making.

AP correspondent Stan Swinton reported from tenth corps headquarters that four or more Chinese divisions, some 32,000 to 40,000 men, were striking swiftly to set up a great new roadblock across the allied path to the sea.

These fresh red forces were reported earlier paralleling the escape road. They apparently were trying to close a second trap on the already-snared Americans.

A staff officer of the U. S. third division, one element of which has gone up the road from Hungnam to meet the trapped men, said: "We're ready for them. We're confident we can hold the road open."

There was no word from other thousands of allied troops cut off by reds far to the north.

These included the 17th regimental combat team of the U. S. seventh division, which once was on the Manchurian-Korean border at Hyesanjin, and elements of the South Korean third and capital divisions, once within 40 miles of the Siberian-Korean border.

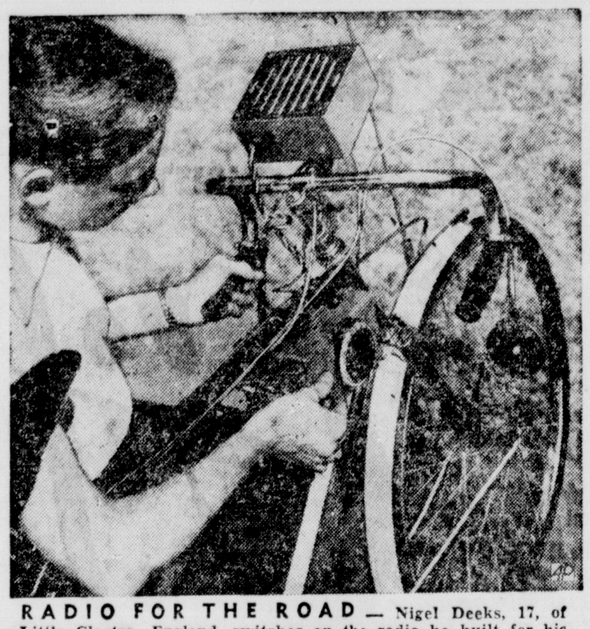

Their locations were not reported in official war summaries It appeared that news coverage of the war would become more closely confined to official reports, at least temporarily.

General MacArthur's headuarters suspended briefings for war correspondents, one of the basic sources of war news.

There was no change, however, in the no-censorship regulations under which correspondents have operated from the start of the war.

The Chinese Reds broadcast a claim from peiping that they had killed or captured 23,700 allied trrops since they turned back general MacArthur's end-the-war offensive late last month.

Officers at MacArthur's headuarters declined comment on the broadcast tass casualty account, saying that orten the reds are only "fishing" for information when they make such statements, trying to trick allied sources into refuting their figures with correct figures.

The statement, signed by chairman Connally (D-Tex) and senator Wiley (R-Wis), ranking republican member, continued:

"One thing that was clear is that the British and American positions are substanitally closer together than would have appeared a week ago.

We are convinced that the cause of the free world has been considerably advanced by the conversations between the president and the prime minister.

"The secretary made clear that the united states is definitely and firmly opposed to any appeasement in the far east.

"He stressed the need for maintaining the same unwavering stand against aggression and imperialism in the east as in the west."

Glamor Sweaters For Party Wear

By Gaile Dugas
(NEA Staff Writer)

New York. —(NEA)— Knitwear that can go to a holiday party has much in its favor. It provides protection against wintery blasts and then, as the cruise season opens up, it can make the transition to shorts, crisp linens and shantungs.

One new convert to evening glitter is a knitted wool zephyr sports cardigan by Lass O'Scotland. An uncollared neckline is framed with heavy gold thread embroidery running the entire length of the cardigan opening. Delicate pearls are woven into the gold. This cardigan is worn over a knitted strapless tube sweater for evenings which are small but very festive indeed.

A handsome, simple sweater-blouse in pale blue chenille has matching bands of silk ribbon knit into the yarn. Intended as a companion for velvet or taffeta skirts, this sweater-blouse is shaped to the figure, curving over the waist and molding briefly to the hips. A high neckline is designed as background for jewelry.

Miss Truman Says Hume Had Right To Criticize Her

Washington, Dec. 9 —(AP)— The White House fought shy of any comment today on the furore kicked up by President Truman's letter threatening to beat up a music critic who said daughter Margaret's voice was flat.

The president's secretariat kept mum. There was every indication it hoped the incident was a closed one.

On Capitol Hill, the reaction was mixed. Some Democrats took the tolerant view that it was, perhaps, an understandable reaction from a proud Papa who felt his daughter's talents were not being appreciated as much as they should be.

On the other hand, Senator Watkins (R-Utah) told a reporter:

"This is in line with some of the comments the president has made before when his guardians were not there to take care of him."

There was no comment from the Washington Post or its music critic, Paul Hume, whose review of Miss Truman's recent concert in Constitution Hall drew from Mr. Truman a threat of fisticuffs. The Post management indicated that Hume had made his attitude clear yesterday and has nothing further to say.

Hume has said of Mr. Truman's letter: "A man suffering the loss of a close friend and carrying the terrible burden of the present world crisis ought to be indulged in an occasional outburst of temper."

Charles G. Ross, the president's press secretary and long time friend died Tuesday.

Hume declined to give reporters the text of Mr. Truman's letter and his paper did not publish it. Instead, the Post reprinted an account of the incident published by the Washington Daily News. Both Hume and the White House conconfirmed that such a letter had been written.

Hume had written that Miss Truman is "extremely attractive on the stage" but "cannot sing very well" and 'is flat a good deal of the time."

The Daily News said the president wrote Hume he'd need a new nose if they ever met and that his review sounded "like a frustrated old man who never made a success." There were other more pointed quotations.

In the meantime, the president's daughter continued a southern concert tour. In Nashville, Tenn., yesterday she said:

"Mr. Hume is a fine critic and has a perfect right to say whatever he thinks."

Tangerine Jelly

Ingredients: 3 cups canned sweetened tangerine juice, 1 box powdered fruit pectin, 3½ cups sugar.

Method: Put tangerine juice in large saucepan. Place over high heat, add fruit pectin, and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once stir in sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim, pour quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once. Makes about 7 six-ounce glasses.

U. N. Police In Korea Faced Too Many Bandits--H. Boyle

(Editors note: Hal Boyle is a veteran Associated Press writer and war correspondent. He covered World War II campaigns in North Africa and Europe with distinction and his dispatches have been outstanding in the frontline coverage of the Korean conflict since he went back to the wars in July. As an experienced, first-hand observer, Boyle sets down his analysis of the present critical military situation in the following dispatch.)

By Hal Boyle

Seoul, Korea, Sunday, Dec. 10. —(AP)—The war in Korea appears to have been militarily decided.

The United Nations have no military force here or in prospect that seems able to achieve victory against a Chinese Red army officially estimated at more than 1,000,000 men.

The United Nations goal was to repel the North Korean Reds who invaded the south June 25 and to create a free, independent, Democratic and united Korea. The North Koreans were repelled, but with the Chinese Red intervention, the United Nations final goal looks like a lost cause.

There remains the possibility that some diplomatic formula may be found by the U. N. or by the big powers to end the fighting, but there is not much optimism on this score in the Korean battle lines. And the fact remains that the first U. N. army to go into combat has been decisively defeated by the army of a single giant nation whose ruling regime is outside the U. N. fold.

The announced intention of the Chinese—clearly and repeatedly stated in their radio broadcasts and propaganda leaflets—is to throw the American eighth army and tenth corps entirely out of Korea. The Chinese appear perfectly able to do just that.

The superior firepower of the small United Nations forces in terms of air, tank and artillery support, is outweighed by the 5 to 1 advantage the enemy has in foot troops.

In this mountainous terrain, victory goes to the side which can mass the most men with guns in their hands. It is a war that may be decided chiefly by small-arms fire, machineguns and mortars—the weapons that men can carry into action themselves.

The United Nations have given no indication that they will recruit or send to Korea the hundreds of thousands of infantrymen who alone could really stem the advancing tide of veteran Chinese Reds.

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, chief of staff ot the United States army, has said he can see no worthwhile practical use in Korea for the mightiest weapon in the arsenal of democracy — the atom bomb.

When an army loses a battle or a war, it must surrender, retreat or die fighting.

Obviously, the Americans, British, Turks, Filipinos and handful of other foreign troops in Korea have no intention of surrendering. It is equally unlikely that they will be orderd to stand and die.

Each is too important to the welfare of its own country. This is particularly true of the American force, which makes up the greatest part of the army.

The one marine and six army divisions committed by the United States in Korea make up nearly half of America's trained professional combat troops. They must be saved to staff the citizen army now slowly being built up at home.

General Collins said on his return to Washington from Korea Friday that "our forces there will be able to take care of themselves without further serious losses."

General Bradley, chairman of the U. S. joint chiefs of staff, said last week that in talking about evacuation possibilities to senators, he referred only to the hard-pressed troops in extreme northeast Korea and not to the Korean Peninsula as a whole.

Nevertheless, there is not evident on this peninsula any sanctuary which the Chinese horde could not storm.

Logically, this would point to ultimate withdrawal. But there is only one first class port in the entire country. That is Pusan, at the southeast tip of Korea, the chief landing place for allied men and supplies. Other ports might be used, such as Inchon, but its 30-foot tides limit its capacity severly.

This probably means there can be no major defense of Seoul because any allied force that tried to hold it might be sacrificed in the effort before it could escape by sea.

From this capital it appears unlikely that there will be any more major battles in the Korean campaign unless allied forces withdraw so slowly that they are cut off from behind.

The remaining big military problem is to salvage as many men and as much equipment as possible. The only port that can handle such volume traffic is Pusan.

There seems to be no choice but to fall back, step by step, into the old Pusan perimeter from last September.

Indications are that most of the men and most of their tanks and artillery can be pulled out safely. Great stores of supplies probably will have to be put to the torch.

The greater mechanization of the allies is the safety factor that should enable them to escape. They can make a fighting hit and run withdrawal, and there does not appear to be anything else left for them to do.

One question that only time can resolve is what will happen to the army of republic of South Korea. Will it act as a rearguard for the 125,000 or more United Nations Troops? Will it collapse in mass surrender to the Chinese Reds? Or will it, too, be given a chance to escape to Japan and become a refugee army such as the poles and the free French were in world war two?

To this observer it appears that the entire United Nations "police action" in Korea will be over or almost over by the first of the year.

There were just too many robbers for the cops.

The men who fought here for six weary months to try to make a dream of world order begin to come true may have to go home in defeat and frustration. If so, they will (1) have only the consolation that they fought hard and well and that they live perhaps to fight another day, and (2) go with the bitter knowledge of leaving behind thousands of their comrades, imprisoned by the enemy of buried in the earth they sought to free.

Faulkner Says He's A Farmer

Stockholm, Sweden, Dec. 9.—(AP)—American Novelist William Faulkner, here to collect his 1949 Nobel Prize for literature, said tonight he is thinking of using the $30,000 prize money for the benefit of the "small people" in his home county in Mississippi.

"There are many needs among the small people of my countryside I could satisfy with more books and small schools," Faulkner said when he met reporters at the residence of U. S. Ambassador W. Walton Butterworth.

On his arrival at the airport from New York today, Faulkner called himself a farmer when passport authorities asked his profession. He told the reporters he considered himself a professional farmer rather than a writer. He said he took up writing only when there was nothing more pressing to attend to on his 366-acre farm at Oxford, Miss.

"But probably I am a better writer than farmer," he added, "because nobody will give me a Nobel Prize in farming."

Faulkner said he has finished a new book, to be published next fall, about "the same people I know how to write about."

Most abundant form of life during the "Mississippian" geological era were animals called crinoids which were attached by stems to the bottom of the sea.

Silk Taffeta For Gay Party Dresses

Silk taffeta in tissue weight is used by designer Hannah Troy to fashion these luxurious but very wearable holiday dresses. Two tones of silk taffeta create a dramatic effect (left) in a halter-necked dress in charcoal grey which has halter and neckline bow in deep salmon. A two-piece suit dress in tan silk taffeta (center) has black silk braid bands, jacket with side closing, narrow skirt. A mink faille taffeta dress (right) is basically simple, has lattice yoke curving lightly over the shoulders, an edging of ball fringe at the sleeveline.

By Gaile Dugas
(NEA Staff Writer)

New York.—(NEA)—Silk taffeta, in a crisp tissue weight, will rustle and crackle fashionably at gay holiday parties this winter. It appears in holiday dresses which are very nearly formal and in those which tend to the simple, tailored look.

One Hannah Troy design in tan silk taffeta, a two-piece suit dress, has a jacket with closing swept to one side. The jacket thus is rippled to create a flounced effect over one hip. Three-quarter sleeves are slim and fitted; the skirt is narrowed to a straight line. Bands of black silk braid trim the jacket flounce and collar.

A basically simple dress in mink faille taffeta, from this same designer, has neck interest created by a latticed yoke which curves gracefully over each shoulder. A Victorian edging of ball fringe is used for the sleeves. While the skirt looks slim it has an inverted center pleat to allow for dancing grace. A velvet belt is rhinestone buckled.

The formal look is displayed in a halter-necked dress in two tones of silk taffeta in a third Hannah Troy design. Deep salmon and charcoal gray are dramatically combined in a sheath dress which has a large neckline bow of the salmon poised against the gray. This dress has a long-sleeved bolero in the gray to provide a covered-up look for the occasions which demand it.

EX-CONVICT IS UNDER ARREST

Question Rotondo In Slaying Of Former Police Lieutenant

Baltimore, Dec. 9.—(AP)—A burly ex-convict, wanted for questioning in connection with the ambush slaying of a former police lieutenant who was ready to tell what he knew about Chicago crime, is under arrest here.

He is Anthony Rotondo, 34, who gave a Brooklyn, N. Y. address.

The flashily dressed Rotondo was arrested last night by FBI agents as he stepped off a train. With him was a green-eyed platinum blonde who said she was his wife.

The FBI said Chicago police want to question him about the killing of William Drury, shot down Sept. 25 after he had offered to testify about underworld activities before a senate crime investigating committee.

A nation-wide search was started for Rotondo last month after Charles Di Umberto, 32, of Trenton, N. J., said the New Yorker told him he was paid $9,000 "for the Drury job."

Chicago authorities said they believed Di Umberto had told them the truth. However, they questioned the truth of Rotondo's reported boast.

The Drury killing had a long string of political consequences. It came during the recent political campaign and was followed by an investigation of Chicago crime conditions by the Kefauver senate committee.

Claude Jarman Is Exonerated

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Movie Actor Claude Jarman, Jr., today was exonerated in the death of a high school teacher struck by a car he was driving last night.

J. Carlton Loser, district attorney general (district attorney), said Mrs. Katherine Kirkpatrick Clark, 57, apparently walked into the path of the youth's car. The accident occurred near her home.

"I didn't see her until I was right on her," Jarman said. The 16-year-old actor was starred in "The Yearling," and "Intruder in the Dust."

The attorney general said a relative of the victim described the accident as unavoidable, and said no prosecution was contemplated.

Jarman is a student at Montgomery Bell Academy here between movie assignments in Hollywood.

Edgard School Gutted By Fire

Edgard, La., Dec. 9. —(AP)— Fire swept the $100,000 Edgard high and elementary school plant today and threatened the entire town before firemen and volunteers controlled it.

Firefighters from nearby Vacherie, Thibodaux and Raceland answered the midnight alarm spread by workers who spotted the fire from across the Mississippi river.

When the bucket brigades and firefighting equipment arrived the fire had already consumed most of the building. A gentle breeze threatened to spread the flames to the entire town.

Edgard, which has no municipal water supply, was spared when hundreds of volunteers formed bucket lines to augment the pumping trucks.

The cause of the fire was not ascertained immediately but Hannon Barre, vice-president of the St. John parish school board said he believed the fire began on the first floor from defective wiring.

About 2,000 persons watched the four-hour struggle of firemen and volunteers.

A special meeting of the board was called today to determine what would be done to provide a temporary school for the 200 students enrolled.

Casino Robbery Probe Intensified

Ashland, Ky., Dec. 9—(AP)—The investigation of a gambling casino holdup near here last July, in which the take was reported as $10,000, was intensified today after the arrest of six men at Memphis, Tenn.

Three were identified yesterday as those who pulled a $75-000 to $100,000 robery at the Little Commando Club near Henderson, Ky.

Boyd County Sheriff C. J. Queen said there definitely could be a connection between the Henderson holdup and that of an out of the way roadhouse about one mile outside of Ashland last summer.

Some 30 to 40 patrons were robbed of cash and jewelry after being made to lie on the floor by masked bandits who allegedly carried sub-machine guns.

At the time estimates of the take, both from the club and the patrons, ran as high as $10,000.

Memphis police identified them as Henry Brocato, 37; Richard Kay 27; and Casman Jannece, 23, all of Chicago and Thomas Utley 50, of Evansville.

The six were picked up at the Colony Club near Memphis Monday night soon after the Kennel club near Byhalia, Miss., had been held up for between $11-000 and $12,000.

Musselwhite Trial Gets Underway

Columbia, Miss., Dec. 9 —(AP)— A jury composed mostly of farmers, completed today, heard the first testimony of the state in its case against Luther Musselwhite, charged with murder in the fatal beating of a fishing camp operator.

Musselwhite is charged jointly with Luther Turnage in the death of Virgil Price, operator of a Marion county fishing camp. Turnage is scheduled to follow Musselwhite on trial.

Three days of tedious jury picking, in which 262 special veniremen were called, ended at 11:40 a.m. today with the mutual acceptance of the last juror.

Seven are farmers, two clerks, two lumbermen and one an oil distributor.

CONTROL STOPGAP MIGHT BE TRIED

Officials Predict Government Will Set Price Schedule On Materials

Washington, Dec. 9 —(AP)— Some officials predicted tonight the government will issue individual price schedules on basic defense materials within the next month or two, possibly on a voluntary basis.

This type of control, it was indicated, might be tried as a stopgap to help keep inflation from getting out of hand until the economic stabilization agency is prepared to attempt a general price-wage ceiling.

Opinion was divided on whether ESA could act before the beginning of the year, some officials in the agency, it was known, believed there would not be sufficient staff or administrative machinery to enforce even "selective" controls before February.

But in the meantime influential members of Congress clamored for quick and drastic action, and a completely unconfirmed report persisted in industry circles that the president would announce a price wage "freeze" tomorrow.

The latter report seemed unlikely. The White House press office closed up shop tonight with the word there would be no important announcements over the weekend. ESA Administrator Alan Valentine was in New York. His price stabilization director, Michail V. DiSalle, left for Toledo.

Valentine and DiSalle told reporters yesterday they are making plans for price control but see no reason for imposing it now. DeSalle said it would take 60 to 90 days before he can assemble a big enough staff.

This brought out protests from several senators, inluding Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.). He said it is a "serious mistake" to wait. DiSalle, he insisted, should order a freeze and call on the United States, attorneys and country attorneys, if necessary, enforce it over the country until an agency staff could be built up.

However, Valentine has stated that ESA plans a step-by-step approach. He indicated the agency will study the problem in such basic defense materials as steel and other metals, whose rising prices are adding billions of dollars to the cost of rearmament.

DiSalle has emphasized that he prefers to start with voluntary efforts. He did not provide details, but this approach was used in the early days of the old OPA. Price "schedules" were made public, at levels which OPA thought reasonable, and enforcement was left to the power of public opinion and industry's willingness to cooperate.

However, if a voluntary plan is used now, officials have indicated they would consider it merely a temporary "holding operations"—a makeshift deterrent to inflation—to be used until stronger measures can be brought into use.

Before they left the capital, Valentine and DiSalle conferred on their scheduled meeting Wednesday with representatives of the automobile industry. ESA asked Ford and General Motors to suspend price increase announced on their 1951 models and urged the rest of the industry to withhold price boosts until the problem can be explored here. Ford and GM refused, but the meeting will be held as planned.

Discussion was prevalent, meantime, on a proposal that President Truman declare a national emergency as a means of galvanizing industry, labor and the public into more vigorous action for defense.

Secretary of Defense Marshall told reporters Mr. Truman is "seriously considering such a step, there was strong sentiment on Capitol Hill for the declaration.

QUIZ CATES IN HARRIS DEATHS

Ex - Convict Denies Any Knowledge Of Bomb-Slaying Of Gambler

Fort Worth, Tex., Dec. 9—(AP)—Frank Cates, portly Fort Worth ex-convict, talked for an hour today with officers seeking a solution to the bomb slayings of gambler Nelson Harris, Mrs. Harris, and their unborn child.

Cates denied he knew who did the killing. He was released shortly before noon. Officers also were seeking another man for questioning as a sequel to a roundup here last week of 11 gamblers and their associates. Dectives said Cates appearance at police headquarters was arranged through his attorney.

Detective Inspector Clay Bishop also was questioning two men brought here from Texarkana last night. After they were picked up yesterday he had described one as an Oklahoma "gang chief" and the other as an auto mechanic and expert nitro handler from Mississippi. The first reports from the interveiw were that the pair hadn't been linked to the Harris case.

A nitro bomb wired to the starter of the Harrises' car killed them here Nov. 22. Harris, 41, was one of 21 persons convicted 10 years ago as a member of the "Green Dragon" ring, a narcotics gang.

Fort Worth officers gave this estimate of the situation today: Detectives investigating the case are convinced they know who ordered Harris killed.

F-51 Damaged, Pilot Uninjured

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 9.—(AP)—An air force pilot ground looped his F-51 on a municipal airport runway today when he jammed on his brakes to avoid a collision.

The accident happened when four F-51's landed for refueling before continuing on to Little Rock Ark., from their base at Langley Field, Va.

Capt. M. B. Knox of Dallas, Tex., said he was moving down the runway when the F-51 in front seemed to be turning broadside. He braked quickly and his plane nosed over, causing major damage to the engine an propeller.

Better Weapons And Tactics Is Aim Of U. S. Strategists

By Elton C. Fay

Washington, Dec. 9. —(AP)— If World War III should come, U. S. stragegists hope to win it by better weapons and better tactics. They can hardly hope to match the boundless manpower of the Communist world.

The present, localized conflict in Korea is an example of the kind of battling the American military planners had hoped to avoid—a struggle in which U. S. ground forces face Red hordes which outnumber them almost five to one.

The planners have been certain of one fundamental thing: The United States and its allies could never win a world war if numerical strength alone was involved. The Russian ground force alone numbers more than 3,000,000 men, the western powers substantially less.

Now, without a Russian soldier moving over the border or firing a shot, the Communist camp has plunged the non-Communist world into the unhappy situation. In Korea, about 210,000 United States and other UN troops are facing 1,000,000 Chinese Reds. This Red force is only part of a total 4,000,000-man Communist China army.

Well, what about the better weapons?

Here the United States is in a curious position. It has among its arsenal of modern weapons one of mass destruction, the atomic bomb. Some think that weapon alone could wipe out the dangerous difference in manpower strength in Korea. But there is hesitation about using it.

Part of the reason is political, and ethical, part of it tactical.

There is deep reluctance to use a weapon which would kill so many innocent men, women and children.

Also, some of America's friends in Europe worry lest use of the bomb in Korea might be the giant spark that set off atomic war in Europe, with Russian A-bombs blasting the cities of the western democracies.

If American strategists know how many A-bombs the Russians have, they are keeping it as closely guarded a secret as our own production of the bombs. Some legislators have raised doubts whether the Russians have any. They questioned whether the atomic explosion detected in Russia last year was in fact a bomb. But only last night Senator McMahon (D.-Conn.), chairman of the senate-house atomic committee, scoffed at these doubters. He said an American board of experts unanimously agreed it was a bomb.

As for American use of the bomb, Canada's minister for external affairs raised the question of the psychological and political consequences of such attacks on the Chinese. With the U. S. wartime attacks on Hiroshima and Nagasaki in mind, Minister Lester Pearson warned that "certainly its use for a second time against an Asian people would dangerously weaken the links that remain between the western world and the peoples of the east."

In addition to these factors there seemed to be some doubt about the purely military feasibility of using A-bombs in the Korean war. Although American military leaders have indicated that the bomb can now be used as a tactical weapon (against troops as well as in its primary strategic role for blasting cities) there is a question whether profitable tactical targets exist in the huge but widely dispersed Chinese Red divisions in North Korea.

What about other weapons? Only a few people know whether the United States' arsenal includes "unconventional" weapons other than the atomic bomb, and which also are designed for mass destruction. Whether any of these others are, as the military says, "operational" or still in the experimental stage depends on how much progress has been made in the last few years.

It is known, however, that intensive work has been carried on in the radiological and bacteriological weapon fields. Radiological weapons are a first cousin of the atomic bomb, the production of deadly contaminating materials produced from nuclear fission.

Both radiological and germ warfare are mass destruction weapons. Because they can't kill instantly like the atomic bomb, they possess fewer advantages for tactical use against troops in the field. The results they produce wouldn't show up for periods ranging from hours to weeks.

But they could be used indirectly as a tactical weapon. By contaminating an area, especially with radioactive material, an enemy's advance could be blocked or he could be forced out of an area so poisoned.

Egg Prices Up 7 To 14 Cents

Chicago, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Egg prices jumped seven to 14 cents a dozen wholesale this week. Veteran market observers called it the "most sensational" performance the eggs ever made. At their peaks prices were the highest in 30 years.

Reasons behind the swift rise were many, in the opinion of trade analysts. Although the year's production of eggs to date actually is higher than a year, demand is so great there is a relative shortage.

At the same time, storage supplies are the lowest on record for this time of year, leaving no "cushion' for the trade to fall back on. Military purchases, large consumer incomes, and a heavy outstanding commitment for future delivery this month were other factors contributing to the price advance, trade observers reported.

Food Prices Up Two Per Cent

Washington, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Food prices climbed 2 per cent at retail the last half of November.

The labor department, making the estimate on the basis of a survey in seven large cities, said a seasonal increase in fresh fruits and vegetables was the main reason for the overall gain for the Nov. 15-28 period.

The gain since June 15, just before the Korean war began, was figured at 4.3 per cent. The index on Nov. 28 stood at 213.7, using 1935-39 prices as 100.

Despite the current hike in fruit and vegetables prices, they were still below the pre-Korean level. During this period, eggs have leaped 45.6 per cent, coffee 11.8 per cent and dairy products 10.3 per cent.

Retired Army Surgeon Dies

San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Col. Charles Franklin Craig, 78, retired army physician and surgeon died here today.

Col. Craig was internationally known as an authority on tropical medicine and as a pathologist and bacteriologist. He was holder of the founders medal for notable contributions to military medicine and the Franklin medal for his writings on tropical diseases. He was editor of the American Journal of Tropical Medicine.

He retired in 1931. He was professor emeritus of tropical medicine at Tulane University.

Mrs. Bridges Hurt In Collision

Mrs. W. C. Bridges, 56 owner of Bridges Boarding Home, 311 North Third, was in the Wright Bendel clinic last night receiving treatment for a knee injury received in an accident in front of her home.

She also sustained minor cuts about the mouth. The accident occurred around 7:30 Saturday morning when she was making a left turn into her driveway off of North Third.

An oncoming car driven by Oscar N. McNeil, 47, 3802 Spurgeon drive, skidded 49 feet in the effort to avoid collision smashed into Mrs. Bridges' auto.

Louisiana Citrus Will Be Judged

Buras, La., Dec. 9—(AP)—Louisiana citrus fruit growers will put their outstanding oranges, lemons, kumquats and grapefruits in competition here tomorrow at the annual orange festival.

The fair opens at 8:30 a. m. when judges will award prizes for the citrus displays.

The day will be crowed with other festivities including the coronation of the orange queen, Miss Janice Parker, and the presentation of her 22 attndants.

King of the festival will be Rep. F. Edward Herbert, Louisiana congressman.

Guest speakers for the day will be Dr. B. R. Slater, president of the Louisiana citrus growers association, Inc., W. E. Anderson, commissioner of agriculture, Rep. Hebert and H. C. Sanders, agriculture, extension director.

Leander H. Perez, district attorney of Plaquemines and St. Bernard parishes will be master of ceremonies.

Gas Poisoning Fatal To Three

Sunbright, Tenn., Dec. 9.—(AP)—"Some kind of gas poisoning" claimed the lives of a mother and two of her three children in their home here today.

The third child and a young woman were reported in serious condition at a hospital in nearby Harriman, Tenn.

The dead were Mrs. Ruby Summers Parker, 45, wife of a marine sergeant on duty in the far east, their daughter, Judy, 11, and son, Thomas 2.

In serious condition were Miss Betty Edith Pinch, 20, who operated a beauty parlor on the first floor of the residence, and the oldest Parker son, Bryant, 13.

They were given first aid by Dr. Sam Jones and then transferred to the Harriman hospital. Dr. Jones said he was summoned by Mrs. Parker's brothers, David and William, who had broken the door down.

CIVIL DEFENSE DEEMED URGENT

Louisiana Mayors Urged To Appoint Local Directors At Once

Bogalusa, La., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Mayor Curt Siegelin, president of the Louisiana Municipal Association, today called upon the 217 mayors of Louisiana to immediately name civil defense directors for their respective communities if they have not already done so.

Mayor Siegelin stated that he had been informed by Lieutenant-Governor William J. Dodd, state director of the office of civil defense, that only 74 municipalities have appointed civil defense directors to date.

"The military reverses which we have suffered in Korea, coupled with an increasing tenseness in the international situation as a whole, make immediate cooperation with the state office of civil defense imperative," the mayor declared.

He pointed out that Louisiana has progressed further than many states in setting up its basic organization for civil defense.

"We can do much towards completing the job by immediately appointing our local civil defense directors and forwarding their names to the state office of civil defense," he continued in his appeal to the state's mayors.

CHARGE ATTACK FROM INDO-CHINA

Moscow Press Carries Border Violation Charges Against French

Moscow, Dec. 9—(AP)—Moscow's press featured today a set of charges by the Chinese Communist government that French planes for Indo-China violated and strafed Chinese territory and that French troops fired across the border into Chinese territory.

These charges are similar to the accusations made by the Chinese against United States forces in Korea before forces of "volunteers" from China moved in. The Chinese at the time indicated that U. S. air "aggression" against China was a basic reason for the movement into Korea.

Today in Pravda, the official paper of the Soviet Communist Party, and in other newspapers there appeared the charges by the Chinese that the French violated their territory 51 times between Oct. 21 and 31.

The press gave major attention to the situation in the Orient. The leading editorial in New Times a periodical which concerns itself with foreign affairs, declared:

"The situation in the Far East created by American aggression demads of the United Nations immediate and decisive measures for the restoration of peace and security of Asia.

many children he has and their ages.

The mail started coming in, and its volume rivals anything the north pole Santa gets. Right now its more than 2,000 letters a day. Vinson expects it to reach 10,000 a day next week.

The packages are mailed directly to the convicts, who in return re-address them to their children so they will have a personal touch.

This year there are a dozen different toys Uncle Dan will mail out. Included are little aluminum airplanes, jigsaw puzzles, balloons, hair ribbons, scarves and cloth dolls.

Vinson, who personally has helped more than 500 paroled convicts, feels that his project is paying off in aiding prison authorities as well as making a real Christmas for the children.

Warden A. F. Dowd, of Indiana state prison at Michigan City, estimates the project has increased prison morale 50 per cent at his institution.

Vinson, a road material salesman, has made a time table so that shipments of presents will go out with just enough time to reach the children on Christmas Eve.

He feels there is a greater thrill getting them when at just the right time—especially when most of the children aren't expecting anything.

Hair Pieces Add Glamor

By Alicia Hart
(NEA Staff Writer)

If glamor's your goal, don't forget to include in your magic box of tricks a good hair piece. These pin-on tresses, when chosen in a color and texture matching your own locks, can cover a multitude of mistakes—both your own and those of nature.

Hair pieces, whether they are used for conceiling results of overzealous scissors sessions, for hiding more fundamental hair problems, or simply for varying your coiffure, are important beauty aids in the hurry-scurry of modern living.

Many woman, whose busy schedules allow no time for the lengthy hair-dressing sessions required by elaborate coiffures, style their hair quite simple depending upon hair pieces to add interest to the arrangement.

Others rely upon these supplements to help them avoid that unkempt look that descends upon many of us between hair settings.

If your own hair is unsuited to dressing in coiffures currently holding fashion's eye, try a hair piece to help o uachieve the effect you desire. Various types are suited to every budget and any mood.

A pony-tail switch, perky with grosgrain ribbons for daytime wear, becomes glamorous after nightfall when combed into a small bun chignon worn high on your crown with velvet bows.

For extra-special evenings, this same type hair piece can be arranged in a cluster of bustle-back curls.

Chignons, worn low on the neck, lend an air of sophistication to the most casual, short haircut. They may be dressed in a variety of puff arrangements to conceal the ends of brief tresses; adorned with jewels or flowers for formal occasions.

The best hair pieces, according to a leading firm, are constructed of real hair in natural colors. Switches made of hair that has been bleached and re-dyed are often dry and brittle as a result of this process, as well as un-natural-looking in color. As a rule it's difficult, they say, to match the texture of your hair with that of these poorer-quality pieces.

guilty person or persons could be prosecuted under the federal statassembled crew. The pressure has continued because of urgent necessity for transports.

Eaton said the damage to the motors did not change or delay ute of willful destruction of government property.

"Most of our civil service employes have long and satisfactory careers with the government," Capt. Eaton said, "and are a patriotic group of citizens."

He pointed out that the ship was activated hurriedly after the outbreak of the Korean fighting and was sent to sea with a quickly repair plans for the vessel. It was transferred earlier this week to the Puget Sound naval shipyards at Bremerton for overhaul.

In announcing the destruction last night, navy authorities said they believed the work to be that of a saboteur. It was believed to be the first case of sabotage in the United States since the Korean outbreak. At that time the damage was described by the navy as "extensive."

ernments and laying down tentative courses of action in meeting the menace of Chinese aggression.

These courses boil down to a short range program to cope with the immediate Korean disaster, and a long range plan to deal with communist aggression on a global scale. From the Truman-Attlee statement and what has been made known by officials who took part in the talks, this was the picture:

1. In Korea, the agreement was to fight on, rejecting any idea of a voluntary withdrawal of General MacArthur's forces, and meantime press for a negotiated settlement through the United Nations on the basis of a free and independent Korea.

2. For the longer pull, to speed western rearmament, share scarce raw materials in the same manner as during World War II, continue aid to the non-Communist nations of Asia, and meantime hold open the door for a possible settlement with Moscow which would at least slacken the pace of the arms race.

ing started in June added billions of dollars to the cost of necessary defense items.

Thomas said that if there is an emergency declaration "such moves as the recent prices increase in autos by General Motors and Ford simply could not take place."

To offset the overwhelming man power of Russia and her Communist forces, Thomas said, the United Nations should make immediate use of the 500,000 to 600,000 national Chinese troops in Formosa, the forces of Spain and the manpower of western Germany and Japan.

PLYMOUTH OWNERS ARE IN A CLASS BY THEMSELVES

SAFETY-RIM WHEELS

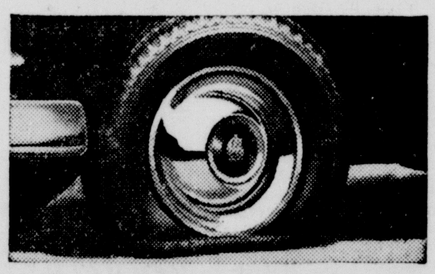

This patented feature gives Plymouth owners positive protection from the danger of blowouts.

When a tire on the conventional rim gives way, you get this. The deflated tire twists and whips, sets up a drag on the steering wheel – may throw your car completely out of control.

When a tire on the Plymouth Safety-Rim Wheel gives way, you get this. The deflated tire is locked firmly to the rim, enabling you to bring your car to a sure, safe, straight-line stop.

No other lowest-priced car, only Plymouth, gives you this vitally important protection

SAFE-GUARD HYDRAULIC BRAKES

When a Plymouth owner steps on the brake pedal with a certain pressure, he knows exactly what to expect. That's because Plymouth braking is consistent and precisely predictable.

Plymouth brakes have a total of six hydraulic brake cylinders (four in the front brakes and two in the rear brakes). This places most of the braking action on the front wheels where it's needed. Each of the other two leading lowest-priced cars has only four brake cylinders.

No other lowest-priced car, only Plymouth, gives you the sure, smooth stops of Safe-Guard Hydraulic Brakes

CHAIR-HEIGHT SEATS

When Plymouth owners go motoring, they sit in a natural position with a clearer, closer view of the road. That's because Plymouth is the only lowest-priced car with chair-height seats. You don't slump down on your spine with knees drawn high.

KEY STARTING—AUTOMATIC CHOKE

Just turn the key—that's all. The ignition is on—the engine is running—the automatic choke is operating—all at once! No starter button or choke to fumble with—no flooding or stalling of the engine.

ALSO, ONLY PLYMOUTH—In the lowest-priced field—GIVES YOU:

The brilliant performance of 97-horsepower engine with 7.0 to 1 compression ratio (highest among the three leading lowest-priced cars) . . . the smoothness of Floating Power, gently cradling the engine in live rubber . . . and many other features.

When service is required, Plymouth owners are in a class by themselves here, too. For Plymouth dealers offer the expert skill of some of the most highly-trained specialists in the industry. Thousands of these men are enrolled in Plymouth's Master Technicians Service Conference. Whether you are looking for a new car, a used car, or for superior service, your nearby Plymouth dealer is a good man to know.

U. S. SUPPLY OF WOOL IS SHORT

Urgently Needed By Army On Cold Battlefront; Munitions Board Blamed

Washington Dec. 9—((AP)—Investigating senators said today the United States has no wool reserves for the military emergency and they blamed it squarely on the munitions board in a blistering report.

"Today, the United States faced with the prospect of a long winter campaign in Korea and the maintenance of a 3,000,000-man armed force—has no wool in a stockpile, no wool in inventory and less enough wool in prospect through our domestic production" the report said.

The munitions board defending itself said it lacked funds to acquire wool and Congress had failed to pass necessary legislation.

Issued by a Senate armed services preparedness subcommittee the document said that rapid mobilization if ordered "might well result in inadequately clad troops.'

Slamming again and again at the munitions board whose job is stockpiling strategic materials to prepare the nation for war the subcommittee said:

"While the munitions board was obviously doing plenty of 'wool gathering' none of it was for a stockpile.

"Its shortsightedness will cost the taxpayers a minimum of many millions of dollars." It noted that purchases abroad to supplement domestic supply will be much more costly than in 1947, 1948, and 1949 when the Senators said the United States and a substantial stock of wool on hand.

"Obviously this cost must be considered as part of the price of the munitions board's wool folly" they observed and added:

"Whatever is done now will be tragically late and we only hope there is time to do enough."

The subcommittee, headed by Senator Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) took care to note that everything it criticized took place before J. D. Small took over as chairman of the munitions board on Nov. 16. The group operating within the defense department includes army navy and air force.

The board also has been criticized by Johnson's subcommittee for the nation's rubber stockpiling position and for permitting sale of war-useful plants as surplus.

The subcommittee also sounded sharp warnings about the need of conserving or increasing supplies of cotton liners (used in smokeless powder, plastics and film), long staple cotton (for strong thread, fabrics and yarns.

INSPECT R. O. T. C. AT NORTHEASTERN

Fourth Army Officials Well Satisfied With Military Unit Here

Fourth army officials declared they were "well satisfied" with the conditions which they found at Northeast Louisiana State College following Friday's informal inspection of the R. O. T. C. here. Heading the inspection team were Col. G. S. Franch, executive officer, operations headquarters, Louisiana Military District, and Col. N. W. Head, who represented General LeRoy Lutes, commanding general of the 4th army.

Conferring with President Lewis C. Slater, the visiting officers said they were pleased to find constant improvement of the department, and they felt sure that the R. O. T. C. unit would show greater improvement at the annual formal inspection in the early spring.

Examination of the military police corps included observation of classroom facilities and instruction, close order drill, administration, student records, the armory and all equipment considered essential in military training for the corps.

Officers made special comment on the interest shown by students through participation in class work and in military activities in general. They found facilities adequate for the present enrollment and status of the unit. Expansion of the R. O. T. C. program next year at Northeastern would require increased facilities, they explained. They discussed the provision of a pistol range as a part of cadet training.

Another aspect which the two officers stressed was the fine attitude which faculty and staff showed toward the cadet corps here. They considered that the military unit had become an integral part of campus life.

Miss Ada Bess Hart and A. S. Huffman, advisers to students, emphasized in their conference with the officers the improvement in the general appearance of men students and the decrease in disciplinary problems since the establishment of the reserve officers training corps at the college.

One of Colonel Head's primary interests in visiting the unit was to discuss matters pertaining to the 1951 summer camp.

Lt. Col. Melville H. Griffith was recently assigned to the military department here as professor of military science and tactics, following the change from an infantry to a military police unit after the college had reached a senior status. Maj. Hugh W. McClary formerly held this position.

Truman Sees No Short Cut To Future Peace

Washington, Dec. 9—(AP)—President Truman in a letter made public today said there is not going to be any short cut to peace.

He added that all Americans will have to "give up things we should like to have" and asked the support of all branches of American public life in meeting the problems that lie ahead.

The Democratic party, he continued, seeks "no partisan advantage in those fields that effect our national defense and our relations with other nations."

The letter was written Nov. 20 to Dwight R. G. Palmer, chairman of the second annual New York dinner of the Democratic National Committee to be held in that city next Tuesday night.

It was made public by Palmer and Democratic National Chairman William Boyle. Boyle said in accord with Mr. Truman's wishes the dinner this year will be simple and informal, with speeches dedicated to "fostering national unity during this critical period in world affairs."

More than 2,000 guests will attend, including cabinet members, Democratic governors, Congress members, mayors, and industrial and labor leaders.

Mayor Vincent R. Impelliteri will welcome the diners. Major speakers will be Senator Lehman (D-N.Y.) and Boyle.

Service May Not Go To India

Washington Dec. 9 —(AP)— The State Department was reported today to be considering cancelling the assignment of John Stewart Service to India because of the protracted official investigation of his loyalty.

Service was en route to New Delhi to serve as embassy counselor for political affairs when he was hurriedly recalled last March for renewed questioning by the department's loyalty and security board.

This board's report, understood to have cleared him of any evidence of disloyalty, was sent recently to the civil service loyalty review board for a final post-audit.

In view of the eight-month delay which already has occurred and the prospect of a further wait for final action, informants said the department is considering cancelling the New Delhi assignment and giving Service another post later. The delay was said to be a handicap to Ambassador Loy Henderson at a time when India is playing an important role in international diplomacy.

Service, veteran foreign service officers, was recalled for the new inquiry after he was named in charges by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) Investigators previously had declared him cleared.

Pope To Send Holiday Message

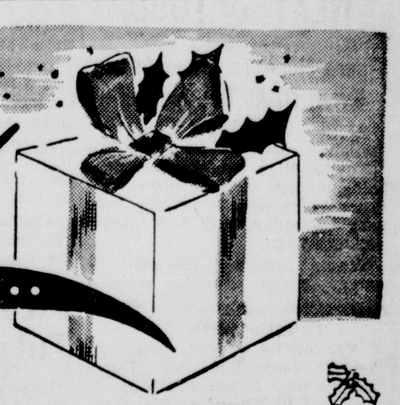

Vatican City, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Pope Pius XII will broadcast his usual Christmas message on Dec. 23 instead of on Christmas Eve, it was announced today.

The reason is that on Christmas Eve the pontiff will be busy with the closing ceremonies of the 1950 Holy Year.

The announcement said that on the morning of Dec. 23, the pontiff will receive in solemn audience the sacred college of cardinals, for the presentation of Christmas greetings. Answering the cardinals, the pope will pronounce his Christmas message.

NEVILLE CAGE MEET ATTRACTS TEN TEAMS

MONROE AWAITS BOYS' TOURNEY NEXT SATURDAY

Tigers Hope To Make Annual Event Of All-Day Basketball Show

Neville High School of Monroe holds its first annual boy's invitational basketball tourney here next Saturday, with ten schools participating.

Teams entering the cage rivalry, which Neville officials plan to develop into an annual event, are Ouachita of Monroe, Farmerville, Rayville, Bastrop, Winnsboro, Neville, St. Matthew's of Monroe, Columbia, Haynesville and Ruston.

Preliminary and first round games are to be divided into two 10-minute halves, with a five-minute intermission and two times-out to the half for each team. Players will be allowed four personal fouls.

A warmup session during halftimes and before each game will give the teams time to work out travel stiffness.

Neville officials extended a long arm in a search for top-rate officials, bringing Pierce Died and Tater' Bankston, both of Baton Rouge, to the tourney from the Southeastern Conference. L. C. Curry, an N. C. A. A. umpire of Ruston, is also listed to officiate.

Starting times and schedules for preliminary and first round games are:

10 a.m. ; Bastrop vs. Winnsboro, a.m.; Ouachita vs. Farmervilee, 10:30 a.m. Haynesville vs. Ruston, 11 a.m.; Columbia vs. the winner of the Neville-St- Matthew's meet at 11:30 and Rayville vs. the Ouachita-Farmerville victor at 12 noon.

Semi-finals are slated for 2:30 and 3:30 Saturday afternoon, the consolation at 7 o'clock, and the finals at 8 p. m.

A trophy awaits the winning team, and gold basketballs will be given to ten members of the winning squad.

TUNEUP WITH J-H

Yanking the lid from their basketball season, the Neville Tiger cagers play Jonesboro-Hodge in "A" and "B" boys' double-.Vrnn' an "A and "B boys double-header in the Neville gym Thursday night beginning at 7 o'clock.

The Tiger quintet will step from the Jonesboro-Hodge contest into its own invitational tournament next Saturday. Their double header is set at a good time to provide a tune-up session for the big tourney.

Rice Owls Down Tulane, 70 To 66

Houston, Tex., Dec. 9—(AP)—Rice opened its new million dollar field house tonight with a 70-66 basketball victory over Tulane.

Rice took the lead at 12-10, and was never headed. A late second-half spurt by Tulane cut the Rice margin before five free throws and field goals by Joe McDermott and Jim Gerhart assured Rice its first victory in three starts this season.

Mel Payton, forward, paced Tulane with 24 points. McDermott, Rice center, had 21.

Tulane's second half surge began as Guard Ralph Grawunder, who dominated play under both backboards, fouled out for Rice with nine minutes remaining.

In the next four minutes, Rice scored only five points while Tulane got a free throw and raced to five goals from the field to cut the Owl lead to 61-59.

West Liberty's Gridders Win Pythian Bowl, 28-26

Salisbury, N. C., Dec. 9.—(AP)—West Liberty College of West Virginia made two touchdowns in the last seven minutes to defeat Appalachian 28-26 in the second annual Pythian Bowl football game here today. The two touchdowns, which capped long marches, were made by a halfback Pete Tuccio.

Halfback James Bartell, a cousin of Coach Joe Bartell, made good on all his four conversion attempts for West Liberty, and that spelled the difference.

It was the 19th straight victory for the West Liberty Hilltoppers, co-champions of the West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference, who have been defeated only once in their last 44 games.

FIGHT TO DRAW

Rome, Dec. 9—(AP)—Middleweight boxer Baby Day of Jacksonville, Fla., and Ivano Fontana of Italy tonight fought a 10-round draw. Fontana bled profusely from a cut on his forehead in the last round.

Camp Polk's Thunderbirds Defeat Louisiana College

Alexandria, La., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Camp Polks Thunderbirds, the southwests undefeated service team, passed its way to a decisive 26-7 victory over Louisiana College in the fifth annual Cosmo Bowl here last night.

Louisiana College's own passing attack—a terror in the Gulf States Conference—bogged them down in the mire of the Thunderbirds defense.

The service team, listing mostly Oklahomans, struck three times in the first two periods to lead 20-7 at halftime.

Football fans from throughout Northeast Louisiana participated in the contest with Mrs. Hartman winning the women's division, and R. Hopkins claiming the crown in the men's division. Favored Middlecoff-Oliver Combine Knocked Out Of Four-Ball Tourney

Combinations Of Cooper-Harmon And Turnesa-Douglas In Finals

By James F. Fowler

Miami, Fla., Dec. 9 —(AP)— Pete Cooper and Claude Harmon face Jim Turnesa and Dave Douglas tomorrow in the finals of the $10,000 Miami International Four-Ball Golf Tournament.

Douglas, of Newark, Dela., and Turnesa, Briaircliff, N.Y., were forced to come from behind to upset Defending Champion Cary Middlecoff, Ormond Beach, Fla., and Ed (Porky) Oliver, Seattle, Wash., one up on the 18th green.

The amazing combination of Cooper, Ponte Vedra, Fla., veteran and Harmon, Palm Beach, Fla., eliminated Bob Toski, Northampton, Mass., and Toney Penna, Cincinnati, Ohio, 2 and 1.

The favored team of Middlecoff and Oliver held a shaky one up margin at the end of the first 18 holes in the semi-final round. Douglas canned a 15-foot putt on the first hole in the afternoon round for a birdie four that evened the match.

Douglas sunk a 25-footer on the third hole to take a one hole lead but Middlecoff—who carried the major load . . . . dropped a 20-foot birdie putt on the fourth hole evening the match again. Turnesa's tee shot was only a foot from the pin on the par three eighth hole for a birdie two, which regained the lead. Again Middlecoff, on the 12th hole evened the match with a 12 foot, curling putt. Douglas holed a 15-footer on the 15th green to take the lead and then matched the favorites stroke for stroke through the 18th.

The Douglas - Turnesa team have carded 26 birdies—one under par— and one bogie—one over par —in 87 holes of match play golf over the tricky 6,347 yard Miami Country Club course.

The Cooper-Harmon duo have carded 22 birdies-one eagle—two under par—and today had their first "bogie' in 82 holes of golf. most amazing displays of preci-

Cooper has turned in one of the most amazing displays of precision putting ever witnessed in a Miami tournament. He paced his team to a 3 up lead in the morning round with a six under par 66.

On the third hole in the afternoon round he canned a 30-footer for a birdie three. On the next hole he chipped in from 40 feet off the green for another birdie three and sunk a 25-foot approach shot on the sixth hole but lost the hole to Toski who canned a 30-foot putt for a birdie two.

Baton Rouge Handicap Taken By Wide Request

New Orleans, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Mrs.B. F. Whitaker's Wide Request was a three length winner in the Fair Grounds $5,000 Baton Rouge Handicap, today, finishing ahead of Crown Me and Magnet.

The Dallas-owned horse, ridden by Keith Stuart, paid $7, $3.40, and $3. Crown Me returned $3.40 and $2.50. Magnet paid $4 to show.

Wide Request, second choice in the betting, ran the mile and sixteenth in 1:45 four-fifths. About 7,000 persons turned out for the races on a clear, warm afternoon.

BOWLED OVER

Louisiana State grid adversaries this season included Kentucky, S. E. C. selection for the 1951 Sugar Bowl, and Texas Southwest Conference champion in the Cotton Bowl.

Florida Tumbles To L. S. U. Quintet

Gainesville, Fla., Dec. 9—(AP)—A fast breaking, smooth working Louisiana State University basketball team defeated the University of Florida Gators, 77-59, here tonight in the first Southeastern Conference game for both teams this season.

L.S.U. took charge from the opening whistle but the Gators managed to grab a temporary 21-20 lead midway of the first period. It was short lived, however, and L.S.U. was in front 34-27 at intermission.

The visitors added to their margin after the rest, breaking up Florida's game and retaining possession of the ball the greater part of the time.

Loyola's Harold Chauvin Wins Cross Country Race

New Orleans, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Harold Chauvin, swift Loyola sophomore easily won Loyola's invitational cross country meet at Audubon Park today, running the four-mile course in 20:48.8.

But the team entry was won by Southwestern of Lafayette with the lowest number of points, 35. Loyola was second with 40, and Southeastern of Hammond third with 45.

Chauvin took an early lead and ran away from his rivals to win by a 400 yard margin. His nearest competitor was the Gulf States conference two mile champion, William Casey of Southeastern, who did the four miles in 21.32. Third place went to G. S. C. one mile champ, Bill Sheffield of Southwestern. His time was 22:25.

NICHOLS MEETS EPPS FOR LEAD

Valley League Rivals Tangle In Cage Game Here Tuesday Night

Nichols Motors of Monroe and Epps tied for first place in the Valley Basketball League, meet here Tuesday night at Northeast Louisiana State College gymnasium in a battle for sole leadership.

Manager Carv Phillips of Nichols last night said it's possible the local quintet will play its remaining league games, plus some special attractions, in the college gym.

The game Tuesday night with Epps begins at 8 o'clock.

Epps and Nichols have identical records of four wins and two losses in league play, and each has beaten the other once. Epps won its only appearance here by a margin of three points, and then Nichols went to Epps to even the count by a two-point margin.

MIGHTY LONGHORNS ROLL OVER L. S. U., 21-6

TEXAS' SCORING PUNCH JAMMED IN 2ND QUARTER

Bayou Bengals Scoreless Until Baggett Tallies In Last Period

By Bo Byers

Austin, Tex., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Southwest Conference Champion Texas smashed Louisiana State University with a three-touchdown flurry in the second quarter today, 21-6.

Fullback Byron Townsend came within inches of claiming clear title to Southwest Conference scoring honors for the season. He smashed through L. S. U.'s line twice from the one-yard line for Texas' first two tallies, running his 10-game total to 84 points, same as Texas A. and M.'s Bob Smith. He missed a third tally by inches.

Quarterback Ben Tompkins turned in Texas' longest scoring run from scrimmage this year—38 yards—and kicked three extra points to round out the Longhorns 21 points.

It took a Texan to score for L. S. U. With a minute and a half remaining, Fullback Billy West broke into the Texas secondary and ran 24 yards before lateralling off to Right Half Billy Bagget, of Beaumont, Tex. Baggett stumbled out of a tackler's grasp and sped the remaining 25 yards to salvage some consolation for Tiger roters. Ken Konz try for point was wide.

The victory, cheered by most of the 35,000 who filled Memorial Stadium to little more than half capacity, gave the Longhorns and their retiring coach, Blair Cherry, nine decisions in 10 starts. That gives the Longhorns, No. 3 in the nation, the same won-an-lost record as their Cotton Bowl opponents, Tennessee, rated No. 4.

In scoring his fourteenth touchdown of the year, the rambunctious Townsend broke the old record for Longhorn touchdowns by an individual player. The previous mark was 12 tallies over a regular season grin, set by the great Bohn Hilliard in 1932.

The Tiger's deepest penetration of Texas territory before the final frame was the 47-yard line in the first quarter.

Texas started rolling toward the end of the dull, scoreless first period. Rocked back to their one-yard line by penalties, and slashing tackles by the Texas defense, L.S.U. kicked out and Texas safety Bobby Dillon returned to the 24. Then Bubba Shands swept to L. S. U.'s 12. Five plays later, Fullback Byron Townsend slammed over from the 1, and Tompkins booted his first extra point.

With Tompkins obviously feeding Townsend the ball in an effort to boost him into the Southwest Conference scoring leadership, Townsend cracked over from the one again to terminate a 41-yard surge. Tompkins' 19-yard pass to End Ben Procter was a kay play.

Tompkins grabbed Texas' third touchdown of the second quarter on a 38-yard spring after he appeared trapped on a pass attempt. He spurted through the middle of the L. S. U. team, cut to his left and bulldozed over with two tackles on his back after Shands threw a terrific block for him near the goal line.

Townsend missed a third touchdown by inches after carrying the ball eight straight times in the third quarter, one surge across the goal line being nullified by a Texas offside. L. S. U. took over with the ball inside its one-yard marker.

The lineups:

L. S. U.		Texas

SUGAR BOWL CAGE PLANS COMPLETE

Pairings Made For Kentucky, Bradley, Sa. Louis And Syracuse

New Orleans, Dec. 9—(AP)—Kentucky will meet St. Louis and Bradley will battle Syracuse in the Sugar Bowl Basketball Tournament to be played Oec. 29-30.

The pairings were announced tonight by Chairman Sam Corenswet of the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Association Basketball Committee the Sugar Bowl group.

Bradley's Braves will meet Syracuse's Orangemen in the first game of a double header at 7:45 P. M. Friday, Dec. 29.

Kentucky and St. Louis will clash in the second game Friday night. And Coach Adolph Pupp's bluegrass five will be out to avenge a 42-40 defeat St. Louis handed them here in the Sugar Bowl two years ago.

Winners of games friday night will meet at 9:45 P. M. Saturday for the championship. Losers in Friday games will meet in a consolation game at 7:45 P. M. Saturday.

The tournament shapes up as one of the best hardwood classics ever to be staged by the Sugar Bowl.

Kentucky defeated Bradley in the finals of the Sugar Bowl tourney last year 71-66. The Bradley Braves, coached by Forrest Anderson, will be out to erase that loss.

After losing to Kentucky, Bradley went on to finish first in the nation in the Associated Press' basketball poll at the end of a successful regular season.

But gone from last season's Bradley five is Paul Unruh, all-time Brave scoring champion and rebound artist. His rangy six-foot four-inch frame will be missed.

But Gene (Squeaky) Melchiorre, a five-foot eight-inch shotmaker and pivotman, will be back again. Two years ago against Kentucky, he made seven field goals in ten attempts in a regular season game.

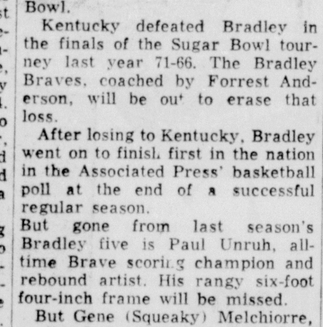

Braves were runners-up in the National Invitational Tournament and the N. C. A. A. last year and champions of the Missouri Valley Conference. Kentucky won the Southeastern Conference crown.

This will be St. Louis' second trip to the Sugar Bowl and Syracuse's first. The Orangemen had a good season last year, beating, among others, City College, of New York's great quintet.

Sugar Bowl fans still remember the 1948 game between St. Louis when easy Ed Macanley led his Billiken teammates to a second and Kentucky's seventh trip to Sugar Bowl basketball since it was inaugurated in 1935.

GOODMAN CHAMP OF LOOP BATTING

Red Sox Slugger Officially Crowned American League's Top Hitter

Chicago, Dec. 9.—(AP)—William D. (Billy) Goodman, the man-about-the-field for the Boston Red Sox, today officially was acclaimed the American League's 1950 batting champion with a .354 mark.

The league's official statistical review of last season's hitting activity also credited the Red Sox, finishing third in the pennant race, with the team batting title on a .302 average.

The 24-year-old Goodman, a left-handed hitter who weighs a shade over 160 pounds, has toiled for the Red Sox at every position except on the mound and behind the plate. He played 45 games in the outfield.

The change of defensive scenery had little effect on the batting eye of the slim native of Concord, N. C., who sprayed 150 hits in 424 trips to the plate to finish 14 points ahead of Detroit's George Kell, the 1949 champion, who posted .340. Kell, however, went to bat 641 times, 217 more than Goodman.

Goodman batted .298 in 1949, compared with the .3429 mark with which Kell edged Boston's Ted Williams (.3427) for the crown. Williams, injured in mid-season, this time wound up with .317.

Rounding out the top ten hitters were Dom DiMaggio, Boston, .328; Larry Doby, Cleveland, .326; Al Zarilla, Boston, .325; Phil Rizzuto, New York, .324; Walt Evers, Detroit, .323; Larry Berra, New York, .322; Walt Dropo, Boston, .322; and Henry Bauer, New York, .320.

The esteemed .300 circle this year was graced by no fewer than 17 players who went to bat 400 or more times. Last year, there were only 12. Joe Di Maggio, the Yankee clipper, just made it this year with .301.

Boston's .302 team mark was considerably below the league record of .316 by the 1921 Detroit Tigers, but topped by 20 points of .316 by the 1921 Detroit Tigers, but topped by 20 points the runner-up average of .282 batted jointly by the pennant - winning New York Yankees and the second-finishing Tigers.

For the second straight season, the important runs-batted - in crown was shared by two Red Sox sluggers. This time Vern Stephens and Walt Dropo belted across 144 runs each. In 1949, the title was shared by Stephens and Williams at 159 apiece.

The Red Sox, who won everything except the pennant, also had specialized leaders in Dom DiMaggio, who led in runs with 131, and stolen bases with 15, and tied in triples at 11 each with team - mate Bobby Doerr and Detroit's Evers; and Dropo, the total bases champion at 326.

The home-run crown went to Cleveland's "freshman" third-sacker, Al Rosen, who belted 37 circuit clouts.

Detroit's Kell picked up just about all the other specialized laurels, leading in hits, 218; two-baggers, 56; and in times at bat, 641. Kell and Rizzuto were the only American Leaguers to bag at least 200 hits, the Yankee shortstop hitting that mark on the head. Rizzuto led in sacrifice hits with 19. Detroit's Evers was caught stealing most, nine times.

8-Man Game Wins State's 6-Man Coaches

Abbeville, La., Dec. 9.—(AP)—About 25 coaches of six-man football teams from south Louisiana voted today to favor a change to eight-man ball as proposed by Coach Dean Harrell of Abbeville's Mount Carmel High.

The coaches met here today after witnessing the first eight man contest in this area last night in which the Delcambre Panthers tutored by Coach Pershing Cashen edged Mount Carmel 27-7.

Their proposals on the game will be presented to W. L. Colvin president of the Louisiana High School Athletic Association.

The coaches who represent a cross section of south Louisiana's smaller high schools also formed a nucleus of a six-man football and basketball coaches association at their meeting today.

L. E. Hanson of Basile was named president of the group and Cashen was elected vice president. Hansen's Basile six-man squad whipped Buras 33-28 last Saturday to win the state six-man football crown.

Harrell's eight man game adds two linemen to the wide-open six-man contest and brings it nearer the 11-man football from which college coaches pick their talent.

This is the first time the game has been tried in Louisiana and Harrell said he hopes it will result in great improvement in the brand of ball played by smaller schools.

ROBINSON TAKES HOLLOW VICTORY

Fans Boo Apparent Low Blow That Slows Surprising Dutchman

Brussels, Dec. 9—(AP)—Ray (Sugar) Robinson, world welterweight champion, knocked out Luc Van Dam of Holland, in the fourth round tonight but he left the ring with virtually all 15,000 spectators on their feet booing his victory.

The Dutch middleweight champion, who outweighted Robinson by a single pound, was holding his own until late in the third round when the American uncorked what appeared to be a low blow. Van Dam, who scaled 157½, went down but was saved by the bell.

He was carried to his corner, came out for the fourth round and was flattened, this time by a left cross to the head. The end came at one minute of the fourth round.

Robinson, who next will box on a charity card at Frankfurt, Germany, on Dec. 25, received approximately $70,000 for his efforts. Van Dam was paid $12,500.

Until the questionable blow in the third the Dutchman was a distinct surprise. In the first he scored frequently with lefts to Robinson's nose. He continued his success in the second and Robinson was warned by Referee Gustave De Baecker of Belgium, for his ring tactics.

It was not until the third that Van Dam unlimbered his right. He was doing well with it until Robinson dropped him with the blow to the stomach.

The victory was the second for Robinson on his invasion of Europe. On Nov. 27 he knocked out France's Jean Stock in the second round of a bout in Paris.

RESIGNS

Americans Lose Doubles Play In Asiatic Tourney

Karachi, Pakistan, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Irv Dorfman and Fred Kovaleski, the U. S. contenders for the Asiatic doubles tennis title, were stopped in the semi-final round today by Alfred Huber and Hans Redl, both of Austria, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

However, Dorothy Head of Alameda, Calif., gained the women's single finals by defeating Kathleen Tuckey of England, 6-1, 6-3. In a quarter-final round match Mrs. Hilde Doleschall of Austria, conquered Mrs. Rita Anderson of Boston, Mass., 6-3, 6-3.

Jaroslav Drobny of Egypt, and Iftikhar Ahmad of Pakistan gained the other finals berth in the men's doubles. Dorfman lives in New York, Kovaleski in Detroit.

HOPPE BUILDS MARGIN

Chicago Dec. 9—(AP)—Willie Hoppe world's three cushion champion defeated Joe Chamaco Mexico City challenger 50-45 today to lead 950 to 838 in the 19th of their 20 block match. Hoppe went out in 45 innings. He had a high run of six to five for his opponent.

Near Record Run For Free Strider At Tropical Park

Miami Fla. ec. 9—(AP)—Mrs. Frank Frankel's Free Strider came close to equalling a track record at Tropical Park today as he charged to victory in the E. R. Bradley Purse named for the late master of Kentucky's Idle Hour farm.

The 3-year-old gelded son of Count Fleet won by a length and a half before A. Levenson's Gold Heels covering one mile and a sixteenth in 1:42 4-5 only two-fifths of a second slower than the track standard set by Corydon in 1941.

Third was Kaumbaum's Risk A Whirl finishing a half-length back of Gold Heel and only a neck in advance of Brookemeade stable's Set Free. Ten horses ran.

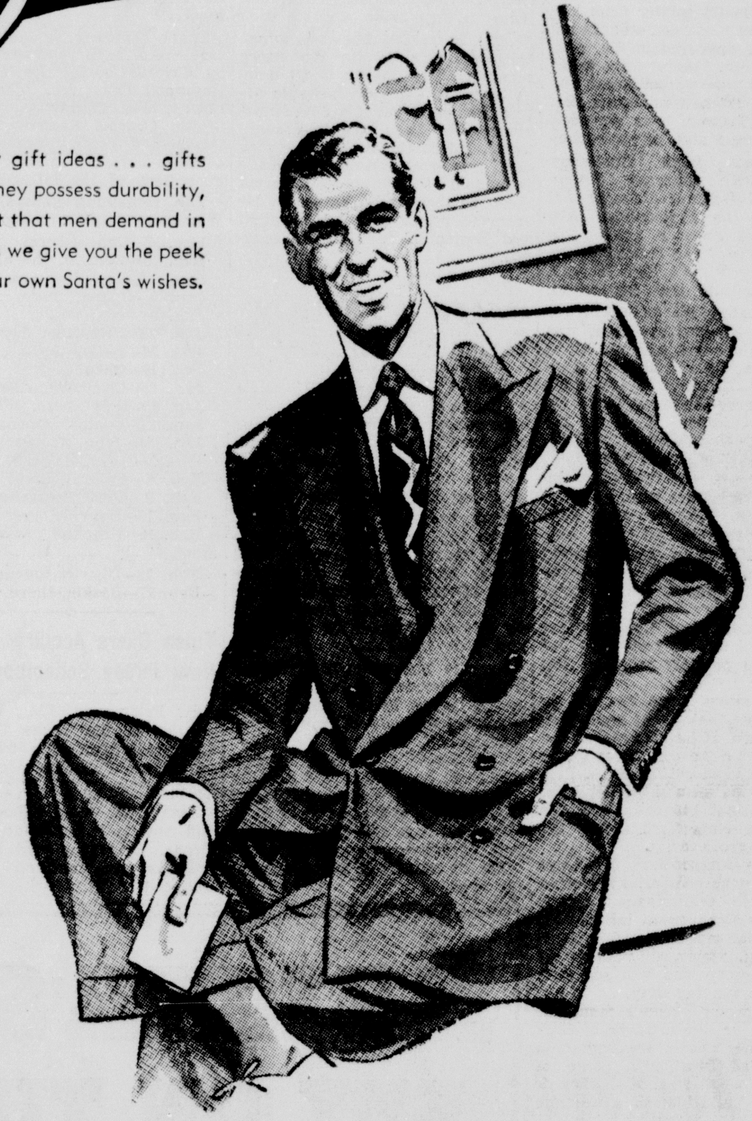

POSTPONED

Emergency Threat Keeps Big Leagues Stepping Easy In Trade Talk

By Jack Hand

St. Petersburg, Fla., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Threat of a national emergency added a new note of caution to baseball today as big leaguers sparred for openings in trade talk.

With the manpower situation, an all-important factor, most clubs were reluctant to take a chance. They knew they might lose the men they had at any minute if a full scale war breaks out.

Branch Rickey, Pittsburgh general manager, caught baseball's mood exactly when he said "stand patism" was the byword.

Trade talk did sputter from lobby and hotel room conferences but nothing big appeared in the making. Of much more importance was the war news from Korea and the report from Washington that President Truman was considering declaring a state of emergency

Cleveland's Hank Greenberg huddled with Manager Jimmy Dykes and General Manager Art Ehlers of the Philadelphia A's. They talked about a catcher-for-catcher swap, Mike Guerra of the A's for the Tribe's Ray Murray. Nothing definite was announced.

Frank Lane, the busy Chicago White Sox general manager, was eager to deal but couldn't make connections. He and his new manager, Paul Richards, met with the Boston brass, Manager Steve O'Neill and General Manager Joe Cronin. The Red Sox want a pitcher, Ray Scarborough or Bill Wight, and Lane needs outfield help. Some of the names tossed around were Clyde Vollmer and Tom Wright of Boston.

Detroit—CHicago trade might be in the making involving the Sox' first baseman, Eddie Robinson. The Tigers won't part with one of their front line regulars but may interest Lane in Pat Mullin and possibly infielder Neil Berry.

The Yankees have an eye on Wight, once their farm hand, and Scarborough. It hasn't reached the warm stage because the White Sox need outfield help. Perhaps Cliff Mapes and Pitcher Fred Sanford might be tossed into the hopper by New York before the meetings are over.

Marty Marion, new St. Louis manager, was contacting all other skippers in preliminary negotiations. The Cards want infield help with Marion not expected to open the season. Marty will undergo an operation soon and will see only part time playing duty.

With Branch Rickey's managerial choice settled in favor of Billy Meyer, the wheels are beginning to turn at Pittsburgh. Some of the dead wood will go. Rickey is trying to build himself a wartime club.

Maybe a flood of deals will break in the final days. The outlook now is for little action until spring training.

Brooklyn took the lead in helping the minors solve their radio problem by announcing from Miami that they would broadcast only in their home "territory." E. J. (Buzzy) Bavasi Dodger vice-president, said the Dodgers would not set up their own network to carry all over the nation as was done in 1950.

"We will only broadcast our games where we figure it will do us some good in Brooklyn" said Bevasi.

George Trautman, president of the National Association of minor leagues, will ask all the majors to restrict their own network broadcasts and television when he appears at Wednesday's joint session. It is understood that many other clubs will go along with the idea.

The American and National leagues will meet separately Monday and Tuesday. It is almost a sure thing that they will toss out the bonus rule and high school agreement at their joint meeting.

Commissioner A. B. Chandler seems due to get a new seven- will be $75,000, an increase of $10,000.

Ford Frick, National League president, will formally be voted a new five-year term at a reported $55,000 per.

Detroit is making a bid for the 1951 All-Star game in conjunction with the city's 200th anniversary. The Phillies are next in line for the July classic but Spike Briggs, Detroit vice-president, will ask them to step aside.

Only a scattering of minor leaguers remainec for the major meetings. The Pacific Coast delegation waited for any possible action for draft relief by Commissioner Chandler. Frank Shaughnessy, International League president, was busy trying to persuade individual big league clubs to cut down on their radio networks. He reported progress with Cincinnati and Boston in addition to Brooklyn.

Arcadia Tourney Set For January

Arcadia, La., Dec. 9—(Special) A Senior Invitational Basketball Tournament will be held in the new Arcadia "Million Dollar" gymnasium January 19 and 20, according to local school officials who are sponsoring the affair.

Both boys and girls teams of senior high schools are eligible to enter the tournament, stated local school officials, and a capacity slate of entrants is expected. Suitable and appropriate trophies will be awarded winners in both boys and girls brackets.

Arcadia has recently dedicated its new gymnasium which is one of the largest in the state. It has a seating capacity of nearly three thousand.

The Bienville Parish Tournament will be held in the Arcadia gymnasium on Fevruary 16 and 17. All teams of the parish of Beinville, both boys and girls, will take part in this tournament to determine the winners of championships for each.

Tulsa Oilers Acquire New Jersey Schoolboy

St. Petersburg, Fla., Dec.9—(AP)—Tulsa of the Texas League. a Cincinnati farm club today signed Pitcher Phil Amato of Hillside N. J.

Amato, 19, was a schoolboy star and now is a freshman at Holly Cross. He was signed by Frank O'Rorke and received an unannounced bonus.

War Eligibility Will Be Talked

Dallas, Dec. 9—(AP)—Return of war-time athletic eligibility rules will be the major topic at the winter meeting of the Southewst Conference faculty committee here next week-end.

There is no indication that the freshman rule will be waived at this time, however, Freshmen were made eligible for varsity participation during the last war but it isn't deemed yet necessary this time.

The faculty committee will meet Friday and Saturday also on Friday, the coaches, athletic directors an dbusiness managers of athletics will meet. They are due to discuess television of football, a plan to determine the conference's representative in the N. C.-A. A. basketball playoffs and a new point system in track.

During the last football campaign the question of when to televise football games played in the middle of the week arose.

The conference last summer decided that "live" telecasting would be permitted only for games that were sell-outs and that television of other games would not be permitted shown until Sunday. This made no provision for a game played on Thursday.

Long Beach Wins Jr. Rose Battle

Pasadena, Calif., Dec. 9—(AP)—Long Beach City College put together a mighty running attack and a stout defense today to hand Boise, Idaho, Junior College its first defeat in 40 games in the fifth annual Junior Rose Bowl game. The score was 33 to 13.

John Callard, Bill Millington and Jackie Price were the principal performers for the undefeated Vikings in a game that started lethargically and developed into a rout in the second half.

Boise's touchdowns came on a spectacular 78-yard run in the third period by Fullback Dwight Winslow and, with 15 seconds left in the game, and a 35-yard pass from Halfback Larry Jackson to Quarterback George Donaldson.

This was the fourth victory for a California team against one for out-of-state opponents. Little Rock, Ark., edged Santa Ana, 25-19 last year.

Score by quarters:

Boise	0	0	6	7	—13
Long Beach	6	0	7	20	—33

Boise scoring—touchdown: Winslow, Donaldson; conversion—Howard. Long Beach scoring—touchdowns: Millington, Tompkins, Brogelman, Callard, Son; conversions Callard 3.

HOLLYWOOD GOLD CUP WON BY NOOR

Palestinian Surprising Second; Hill Prince Finishes Third

Inglewood, Calif., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Noor raced to a tremendous victory in the $100,000 Hollywood Gold Cup today and convinced his arch rival, Hill Prince, and more than 50,000 roaring fans that he is the finest handicap horse in the nation this year.

The dark five-year-old son from Ireland, the familiar red and white silks of a great western racing family flying brightly in the late afternoon sun, thundered under the wire to win this richest race of the year by a solid three-quarters of a length in new track record time.

The Noor triumph, matching in brilliance the four conquests he ran over the superb Citation earlier this year, was clocked at 1.59 four-fifths, a fifth of a second off the track record set by Cover Up in 1947 in this Gold Cup classic.

Noor, racing for Mrs. Charles S. Howard, was the public choice from the first moment the lights began to blink on the parimutuel board, and paid $3.40, $2.90 and $2.20. Palestinian returned $14 and $4.90, and Hill Prince, the second in public fancy, $2.60.

The victory of Noor in this 11th running of the Gold Cup at a mile and a quarter further enhanced his acclaim as the top handicap horse of the year and did much to rub off some of the glitter off Christopher T. Chenery's Hill Prince, who had been named not only the outstanding three-year-old of 1950 but the "Horse of the Year" by the august thoroughbred racing associations.

If nothing else, Noor's scorching first place for the $100,000 net prize afforded adequate revenge for the Howard faction for the Irish champion's humiliating four-length defeat by Hill Prince in the Jockey Club Gold Cup at Belmont early in October.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Next Move the lone filly of the field of eight, almost swiped the race from the male faction but wilted under a spectacularly hot pace and finished fourth.

Ponder, the Calumet farm's third choice favorite, rallied too late and wound up fifth. Trailing in order behind him were the Yolo Stable's Great Circle, the King Ranch's veteran Assault in doubtless his last race, and On Trust.

Kilgore Smashes Holmes, 32 To 12

The Texans passed Holmes dizzay in the first half then kept Homles' defense reeling with a sudden ground offense after intermission.

Kilgore held a big edge in statistics. The Texans gained 249 yards rushing and 180 passing to 203 rushing and 133 passing for Holmes. Kilgore held a 15-13 margin in first downs.

The big difference was in the passing though. Kilgore completed eight of 12 while Holmes got but three of eight.

Scoring summary:

Kilgore	20	0	0	12	—32
Holmes	6	0	0	6	—12

Bulldogs In Curtain-Raiser At Home At 7:30 O'clock Monday

Ruston, Dec. 9. — (Special)—Louisiana Tech's basketeers take to the hardwood court for the first time this season here Monday night when they engage the Mississippi College Choctaws at 7:30 o'clock in the Tech gymnasium.

Coach Cecil Crowley will field a fast-breaking quintet, which hopes to make up for the lack of height by aggressive team play. The Bulldogs will be without the services of last year's star center, Truitt (Red) Latham, who has played out his eligibility. Latham, the tech all-time high scorer, was named on the All-Gulf States Conference quintet last season as he led the Techsters to an 8-8 mark in G. S. C. play, with five on the victories coming in the last five contests.

Last year, Tech swept a two-game set with the Mississippi Choctaws, winning by 65-42 and 67-39 scores. The Bulldog cage team wound up last year with 11 victories and nine losses.

Tech plays two intersectional tilts with Mississippi College and one with Arkansas State at Handerson before opening conference play against Louisiana College in Pineville on January 6.

Big Fred Dunham, a six-foot seven-inch squad member for the past two campaigns, has the inside track for the pivot post left vacant by Latham. The tall lad has an excellent hook shot and will give needed height to the Tech quintet in its fight against other topflight G. S. C. members.

Four starters of last season are back for another fling with the Bulldog squad. They include forwards Jerry Lovett, Middletown, Ind.; Robert Bertrand, Meaux and guards Scotty Robertson of Shreveport and Sam Ledbetter of Simsboro.

Along with Dunham of Baskin, Joe Mott, Oak Ridge guard, is another monogram winner who will be back this year.

KAISER'S The Best BUY ON THE ROAD

Says Gus Anton — 311 Catalpa, Monroe, La.

Mr. Anton, owner and operator of Gus's Cafe, Catalpa Street in Monroe, continues with, "I waited more than three months to get delivery on my new KAISER and I was glad to do it . . . for I knew what I was getting. You see, I had owned a KAISER before and its marvelous performance with its low upkeep and its thousands of miles of trouble free operation sold me on KAISER. In fact, to me, it proved their slogan—BUILT TO BETTER THE BEST ON THE ROAD. I find that my 1951 KAISER has even more fine features than the last one. It is the smoothest riding car that I've ever ridden in . . . no matter how rough the road. Another nice thing is the gas mileage . . . even though the KAISER is a big heavy car . . . my mileage runs 20 to 21 miles to the gallon. There's no swaying or bounce on the road either, regardless of how fast you drive or how big the car or truck you have to pass. You can count any trip a pleasure trip if it's in a KAISER. Yes . . . I sincerely believe that KAISER'S THE BEST ON THE ROAD TODAY."

TEXAS A. AND M. CRUSHES GEORGIA, 40 TO 20

AGGIES TAKE 1ST PRESIDENT'S CUP CONTEST EASILY

Bob Smith, Billy Tidwell Supply Sensational Spark For Texans

By Arthur Edson

College Park, Md., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Bob Smith, Texas A. and M.'s great fullback, ran the opening kickoff back 100 dazzling yards for a touchdown today to start the Aggies on their way to a smashing 40-20 victory over Georgia in the first Presidential Cup football game.

Just to show it was no fluke, Smith followed this up with an 81 yard run for another score

Great as Smith was, he got grade A competition from Billy Tidwell, a scampering Aggie halfback who ran six, five and 36 yards on three touchdown jaunts.

The outburst added up to a 40-0 lead for the red hot Aggies before Georgia even got started. Late in the third period, when the Aggie reserves were in, Georgia finally found the range. Then Zippy Morocco, a 168-pound confederate from Youngstown, Ohio, plunged over from the two for Georgia's first tally.

In the last period Morocco toted a punt back 65 yards to score, and Lauren Hargrove piled over from the one for the third Georgia touchdown.

But Georgia was caught so far off guard at the start that the game was as good as over before the 12,245 fans had settled into their seats at the University of Maryland stadium.

Right off, there was Smith's run. Oddly, it looked as if he was headed for disaster, for he bobbled the ball on the one - yard line before finally getting control of it on his goal.

Then he took off.

The 185 - pound junior from Houston shot into the open and pounded down his right side line. Fred Bilyeu, Georgia back, made a valient attempt to flag him down, but his diving try for a tackle on the Georgia 40 was short.

Smith crossed the goal magnificently—all alone.

But Georgia's troubles were only beginning. Morocco fumbled on the first play after the next kickoff and Jimmy Fowler, Aggie center plopped on the ball on the Georgia 22. Three plays later—with only two minutes playing time gone—the Texans were leading 13-0. The payoff play was a pass, Dick Gardemal to Glenn Lippman, for the final four yards.

Now it was Smith back again. Georgia had been on the march, but with the goal agonizingly near, Billy Mixon was hit hard by Jack Little, Texas Aggie tackle. Mixon fumbled and that man Fowler was right there again to recover for the Aggies, this time on his 1f.

On the first play Smith cut over his own right tackle and sped 81 yards for the score, seconds before the first period ended.

Tidwell then took over, and scored the next three touchdowns. Two came in the second period. The Aggies went out for recess with an astonishing 33-0 lead — all the more surprising because no team had scored more than 14 points on Georgia this year.

Tidwell's third touchdown came in the third period and with that the first Aggie offensive and defensive teams retired for all except brief periods. Enough was enough.

Coach Wally Butts of Georgia pretty well summed up what happened to Georgia when he said: "We gave them two quick ones, and then we didn't have a chance."

He got 121 yards returning kicks, 22 yards by catching passes, 158 yards rushing on 20 carries, and passed for 5 yards, a grand total of 306 yards. That pass by Smith was only the second he had tried all season and the first he had completed.

Four Alabama Aces Will Perform In Senior Bowl

Mobile, Ala., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Four outstanding Alabama football players were named to the South team for the second Annual Senior Bowl game Jan. 6.

The others are Pat O'Sullivan, All-Southeastern Conference center from New Orleans; Butch Avinger, third team All-S. E. C. quarterback from Montgomery, and Herb Hannah, tackle from Athens, Ala.

Sedgman Defeats Larsen For Victorian Net Title

Melbourne, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Frank Sedgman, Australian Davis Cupper, defeated Arthur Larsen of San Francisco, 5-7, 6-3, 7-5, 6-3 to win the Victorian singles tennis title today. It was Sedgman's second victory over Larsen in three meetings on the U. S. champion's tour of Australia.

On Nov. 4 Sedgman defeated Larsen in straight sets for the Queensland title but then the San Francisco player polished off Sedgman in four sets for the New South Wales title on Nov. 27.

Delhi, Vinton Clash Friday

Delhi, La., Dec. 9.—(Special) The Delhi High School Bears, who won the north Louisiana Class B football championship last night by defeating Rodessa, northwest champs, 33 to 12, at Tallulah, will meet Vinton High School, southwest kingpins, in a state semi - final playoff game next Friday night at Tallulah.

School officials here today announced scheduling of the semi-final contest of Talullah's Legion Field, and advanced ticket sales started today at Delhi, Talluiah, Oak Grove, Rayville, Winnsboro, and Lake Providence. Reserved seats are selling for $2, and general admissions are going for $1.50.

Winner of the Delhi-Vinton game will meet Clinton High School for the state championship the following week. Clinton gained the final round last night by defeating Catholic High of Donaldsonville, 13 to 0, on a muddy field during an intermittent rain.

IRON-HAND RULE TO 'TUG' WILSON

Big Ten Commissioner Given Strong Power In Athletic Crackdown

Chicago, Dec. 9.—(AP)—The Big Ten commissioner, who formerly only policed conference athletic practices, today was handed authority also to punish violations of recruiting and subsidization bans.

The conference athletic directors and faculty representatives voted to vest Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson with power not only to ferret out, but also crack down on individual athletes or schools involved in proselyting.

Previously, the commissioner could only investigate such cases after a formal complaint was filed by another party and submit his findings for action by the faculty representatives and athletic directors.

Now, he can initiate investigation on his own authority and mete out punishment ranging from an official reprimand to schedule bannin in the affected sport for violating schools, and ruling a year's ineligibility for each year an athlete receives illegal financial aid.

For flagrant violations, the commissioner can recommend to the faculty representatives, the league's policy - making group, that the guilty school be dropped from conference membership.

In adopting a report by a six-man committee recommending the change in commissioner duties, the faculty representative-athletic director group also specified that the commissioner can fix an immediate 10-day suspension of the affected athlete or school.

If within this period, the violator does not appeal for a hearing before the faculty representatives, the suspension becomes automatic. If an appeal is made, but no hearing is arranged within the 10-day period, the cited school or athlete will be restored to eligibility until the case is heard.

The change of commissioner authority, it was explained, was made because the former investigative process was weighty and slow, with the commissioner often handicapped by lack of formal outside charges.

The conference fathers also fixed a 10-year limit on the commissioner's term of office. Wilson's current six-year contract ends next May when renewal will be discussed.

An athlete, rather than a school can be guilty of violating the subdization ban by accepting "under the table" gratuities from outside sources, unknown to the school.

Under the new set-up, Wilson can slap down over - ambitious coaching staff members. If any such staff member is found guilty of illegal recruiting, Wilson can deny him and all other staff members in the same sport the privilege to contact prospective students, through campus visits or other legal manner, for a one-year period.

OTTEN TO PISTONS

Fort Wayne, Ind., Dec. 9—(AP)—Don Otten was sold to the Fort Wayne Pistons last night by the Baltimore Bullets of the National Basketball Association. He started the season with the Washington Caps.

'Live' Telecasts In S'Eastern Out

Atlanta Dec. 9.—(AP)—Live telecasts of football games were barred in the Southeastern Conference today.

That was the final action of officials winding up their three-day annual winter meeting.

Television broadcasts of football games were permitted beginning at noon the Sunday following the game, earlier than a 6 p.m. deadline recommended by the executive committee.

Georgia Tech, located in Atlanta where two television stations are operating and the eastern network is available, would be principally affected by the ban.

Fred T. Mitchell of Mississippi was re-elected president and all other incumbent officials were given new terms.

Action was postponed on a proposal to make freshmen eligible for varsity teams. The conference said the executive committee could consider this question next summer.

Earlier the conference defeated, on a 6 to 6 vote, a proposal to limit the number of scholarships issued to athletes in any one year.

It voted to prohibit colleges from paying expenses of prospective freshmen to visit the campus or attend bowl games and barred "excessive" entertainment of prospects.

Wes Fesler Has Resigned As Ohio State Grid Coach

Chicago, Dec. 9—(AP)— Wes Fesler, on the verge of a nervous breakdown during the football season, resigned as head football coach of Ohio State University in a surprise move tonight at the annual Big Ten winter meetings.

Giving his reason for quitting as "poor health," Fesler presented his resignation to Athletic Director Dick Larkins. Larkins, in turn, handed it to Ohio State president, Dr. Howard L. Bevis. It was accepted.

Fesler told a friend that "I was in the training room during the football season more often than the players—getting treatment for my head and neck."

White Sox Pull Strings Manipulating 3 Players

St. Petersburg, Fla., Dec. 9.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox, unlike many big leaguers, looked all the way ahead to 1952 today instead of worrying about manpower in 1951.

The White Sox announced the optioning of Rocky Krsnich, third baseman with Memphis last season, to Seattle in return for the right to purchase righthand Pitcher Vernon Kindsfather of Seattle.

Kindsfather won 12 and lost nine last season.

17 Railroad Cars Derailed In Miss.

Pascagoula, Miss., Dec. 9—(AP)—Seventeen Louisville and Nashville freight cars plunged from the tracks nine miles east of here today creating a litter which is expected to keep the line tied-up until Monday night.

M. R. Black, division superintendent at Mobile said a short bridge and several hundred feet of track were badly damaged. No one was injured.

Black said the spill resulted from a broken rail. The cars derailed were several cars back from the engine of the 69 - car train.

Wheels and under-rigging were ripped from most of them as they jumped the rail. They landed in a shallow lake under the bridge and along the track approaching the bridge.

Black said the bridge would have to be replaced.

The train was en route to New Orleans from Mobile. Passenger service between the towns was being handled by buses.

Coal, pecans, newsprint lumber and cast piping were strewn about the wreckage scene.

Jackson Dentist Chosen Chairman

He succeeded Dr. Marion H. Gary of Little Rock, Ark. Elected vice chairman for their states were Dr. C. J. Speas of Nashville, Tenn., Dr. John Boswell of Jackson, and Dr. J. D. Jordan of Little Rock.

Dr. Robert S. Vinsant and Dr. T. Maxey McCaleb, both of Memphis, were re-elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Honeymoon Togs Taken By Thief

Mobile, Ala., Dec. 9—(AP)—A newly-wed Mississippi couple cut their honeymoon short here today after thieves swiped most of their clothes from a parked automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baugh, Jackson, Miss., stopped for a brief visit with friends last night. A burglar broke into their car and made off with $350 worth of honeymoon togs.

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, Dec. 9—(AP)—Another surge of demand for railway stocks gave the entire market a lift today.

Yesterday the railroad group, as measured by the Associated Press average of 15 issues, climbed to the highest level since 1931. Today leading issues moved up as much as $2 or so a share.

Airline shares also enjoyed a flurry of favor but their behavior was tepid in comparison with the rails.

The balance of the market edged ahead somewhat haltingly, with gains running to a top of around $1 a share

GRAINS

Chicago, Dec. 9. —(AP)— Only small price changes were rung up in the grain market today. Cereals had a steady undertone, but were subjected to light selling pressure toward the close.

Wheat closed 1/8-3/8 higher, December $2.33 7/8, corn was 1/4-1 1/4 lower, December $1.67 1/8-1/4, oats were 5/8 lower to 1/4 higher, December 96 3/4-5/8, rye was 1/8-1/2 lower, December $1.50 1/2, soybeans were 1/2 lower to 1 cent higher, January $2.96-2.96 1/4, and lard was 5 cents lower to 5 cents higher, December $16.82.

COTTON

New York

New York, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Cotton futures continued firm today. Trading, however, was slow, in view of uncertainties over price control. Dealers also were inclined to move cautiously in view of the week-end. Price fixing, mostly for domestic mill account had a steadying influence on old crop months, while commission houses supported distant contracts.

Futures closed $1.25 a bale higher to 15 cents lower than the previous close.

John Flogberg To Speak In Orleans

New Orleans, Dec. 9.—(AP)—John Floberg, asistant secretary of the Navy for air, will speak at dedication ceremonies activating the new Naval Reserve Training Center on Lake Ponchartrain next Saturday.

The Center, built at a cost of $500,000, has professional and technical equipment valued at $1,000,000.

2 Houstonians Die In Crash

Hustan, Dec. 9 — (AP) —Two prominent Houston men were killed instantly today when their automobile and a Missouri Pacific passenger train collided near Liverpool 32, miles south of here.

They were Dr. R. C. Rutledge, Sr., optometrist, and Ernest Howard Folk, an attorney. Both were about 50.

Rutledge was the father of Dr. Robert C. Rutledge, Jr., 28, St. Louis baby specialist who last year received a 70-year prison sentence upon conviction in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, for second degree murder. Young Rutledge had been charged in the December 14 1948 slaying of Byron C. Hattman, 29, St. Louis aircraft instrument designer, in a Cedar Rapids hotel.

Young Rutledge was released in May under a $40.000 appeal bond.

The Brooks range of Alaska contains thick limestone strata made up of the skeletons of ancient primitive animals called crinoids.

Cards of Thanks

CARD OF THANKS

SINCE THERE is no way to say the "thank you" that we feel, we wish to take this means of expressing our sincere thanks for the acts of kindness shown to each of us during the hour of our recent bereavement in the loss of our dearly loved one, Chas. A. Reppond. Your beautiful floral offerings, cards, letters, visits, and many other manifestations of your goodness are appreciated more than we can say. It is friends like you that give us courage to carry on Especially, we want to express special thanks to Dr. R. R. Braund of Memphis, Tenn., Reverend W. R. Rogers of Bastrop, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Head of Marion for their kind services rendered.

The Charlie Reppond Family

CARD OF THANKS

WE WISH to express our heartfelt thanks to all of our friends and neighbors, Rev. M. D. Felder, Rev. C. Roger Johnson and to F. Strauss & Son, Inc. for the kindness shown and the beautiful floral offerings during the illness and death of our beloved husband and father, son and and brother, Johnnie F. Evans.

The Junior Charity League—a charitable organization—serves in many of the community projects which they sponsor. They volunteer their services to raise community standards and to promote human welfare.

For their Christmas project League members are dressing dolls furnished by the Salvation Army which will be given to the less fortunate children at the Christmas party. Other projects of the League include the Milk Fund, their services at the Crippled Children's Clinic twice a week, treat day at the Conway Memorial Hospital twice a month, and maintaining the library in the children's ward at the hospital. They also operate the Thrift Shop which takes care of their operating expenses during the year. The pictures on this page show some of the many worthwhile projects that league members participate in during the year. At the upper left a group works on Christmas trees and stockings that will be filled with goodies to add happiness to the patients in the children's ward at the Conway Memorial Hospital.

CUT WEDDING CAKE

Mr. and Mrs. Julian Keith Parks shown cutting their wedding cake following their marriage of recent date. The bride is the former Miss Loyce Wilson daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Solomon Wilson of Farmerville. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jule W. Parks of Spencer.

Miss Loyce Wilson Weds Mr. Julian Keith Parks

First Baptist Church In Farmerville Scene Of Impressive Double-Ring Ceremony

A lovely wedding of November was that of Miss Loyce Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Solomon Wilson, of Farmerville, to Mr. Julian Keith Parks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jule W. Parks of Spencer which was solemnized at the First Baptist Church on Friday, November 10 at 7:00 o'clock in the evening with Rev. Luther B. Hall officiating in the impressive double-ring ceremony. Decorating the background for the exchange of vows were large floor baskets of white mums and gladioli, intermingled with green ferns and illuminated by glowing white tapers in floor candelabra. Wide white satin ribbon bows marked the ends of the pews for the families.

Mrs. Virginis Yelton at the organ accompanied Mrs. Helen Jean Rainwater who sang "Always" and "One Alone." The bridal party entered to the soft strains of traditional wedding music. The bride, entering on the arm of her father, was lovely in a gown of white slipper satin with a deep net yoke surrounded with a lace ruffle. The long satin sleeves coming to points over her hands were fastened with tiny satin covered buttons. The close-fitted bodice was fastened down the back to below the waistline with tiny satin covered buttons. The skirt had wide lace insertions in both front and back with the lace extending around the edge of the full circular train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a tiara of seed pearls. She was wearing a string of pearls presented to her by the groom. Her bouquet was a large white mum surrounded by tuberoses, poufs of maline and silver glamour leaves against a background of green ivy leaves tied with white satin ribbon streamers and tuberoses caught at intervals.

Mrs. Edward Higgs, twin sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Her gown was of gold satin with a wide bertha framing the neckline and a full skirt gathered onto a close-fitting waist. She wore matching mitts and carried a cascade bouquet of large bronze and yellow mums and pom mums fashioned with dark oak leaves around the outer edge and brown iridescent streamers. Miss Jean Phelps, dressed in forrest green satin, and Mrs. Wendell Parks in copper Brown satin served as bridesmaids and wore gowns identical to that of the matron of honor and carried similar bouquets. All wore tiaras of yellow and bronze pom mums on their hair.

Sharron Eldred, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eldred, was flower girl, and her yellow satin gown was an exact replica of the bridesmaids. Little Johnny Pilgreen was ringbearer.

Mr. Edward Higgs served the groom as best man. Ushers were Mr. Wendell Parks and Mr. Preston Parks. All wore baby mums as buttonieres.

The groom's mother chose a beige suit with brown accessories and a corsage of bronze mums.

Following the wedding, the reception was held in the blue parlor room of the church. Yellow and white mums and burning tapers were placed at vantage points throughout the reception room. The bride's table, draped in white, was enhanced by loops of ivy caught at intervals with white satin bows. Miss Bobby Jean Pilgreen served punch from one end of the table, and the beautifully embassed three — tiered wedding cake was served from the opposite end of the table by Miss Macelle Taylor. Miss Barbara Dean Turnage presided at the guest book.

For traveling the bride chose a blue plum gabardine suit with grey and black accessories. To complete her costume, she wore the large white mum from her wedding bouquet. After a wedding trip to Galveston and Hot Springs, the couple will make their home in Farmerville.

Delta Rho Delta Sorority Members Attend National Convention

Mrs. Bertha Patterson Named Louisiana State Secretary At Session Held In Houston, Texas

At the sixteenth annual convention of the Delta Rho Delta National Sorority held at the Rice Hotel in Houston, Texas, on November 18 and 19, 1950, Mrs. Bertha Patterson was named Louisiana State secretary for 1950-51 term.

Delta Rho Delta National sorority is a service club of business and professional women which is associated with the Federated Womens Clubs and whose aims and purposes include, "the intellectual, social and cultural betterment of the business and professional women, and the cultivation of lasting friendship; as well as a definite social service program through which the members realize the supreme satisfaction of giving aid to those less fortunate." The motto of Delta Rho Delta is "The Active in Thought Excel."

Approximately 350 delegates and members from chapters in Louisiana, Texas and Oklahoma attended the three day session.

This annual meeting convened on Friday evening, November 17 when open house was held in the Friendship Suite at the Rice from 6:00 to 8:00 p.m. followed by dinner in the Empire Room.

There was a sight seeing tour of the city Saturday morning which included the historical San Jacinto Memorial Shaft which rises majestically 570 feet above the Texas plains near Houston. It is constructed of native stone and the tallest of its kind in the world and commemorates the Battle of San Jacinto, April 21, 1836. Also at the battleground one could see the U. S. S. Texas, veteran of World Wars I and II. Permanently berthed, it is a state shrine. Other points of interest visited were the Rice Institute and Stadium, University of Houston, the University of Texas school of Denistry and Baylor Medical School.

Glenn McCarthy's fabulous Shamrock Hotel was the setting of the luncheon meeting on Saturday. Tickets to the University of Houston—William & Mary game at the beautiful Rice Stadium Saturday afternoon were available.

Following "Open House" in the Sam Houston room on Saturday afternoon, the impressive initiation ceremony was held at seven o'clock in the South American Room.

The highlight of the convention socially was the formal banquet in the Crystal Ball Room and the Fiesta del Sun at the South American Room.

Dr. Ben F. Lehmberg, pastor Riverside Memorial Methodist Church, was toastmaster during the evening. The speaker for the banquet was Mr. Val Jean McCoy of the Shell Oil Company, Dallas, Texas whose subject for the evening was "America, the Bountiful." Dr. Leon G. Halden, professor at the University of Houston, gave the address of welcome and Judge W. J. Barnes, worthy patron, Omega chapter, the invocation.

Sunday's calendar was brimming with interesting events. The program consisted of a general meeting and reports from national, state and chapter officers. At this time a report of the social service activities of the nine chapters for the sorority year was given.

Miss Amelia Anthony, national honorary member of Delta Rho Delta and founder of Girlstown, U. S. A. near Whiteface, Texas was a guest of Omega chapter. She paid tribute and expressed gratitude to each member of Delta Rho Delta National Sorority for their interest, understanding and help in the development of Girlstown. Miss Anthony also discussed the various activities of Girlstown It was interesting to learn that Delta Rho Delta was the first of any sorority to step forth and assume responsibility in the development of good citizens among the girls.

The meeting was climaxed by a luncheon in the Crystal Ball Room. It was announced at this time that the convention city in 1951 would be Fort Worth.

Delegates attending the convention from Monroe were: Miss Ann Mickel, Miss Lillie Glenn, Miss Johnnie Floyd, Miss Mary Ann Ashford, Miss Nell Compton, Miss Freeda Mickel, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Taylor and Mrs. J. N. Riddle.

LAKE PROVIDENCE

Mrs. E. D. Schneider assisted by Mrs. Arthur Crump, were hostesses for the November meeting of Moses Shelby Chapter of the D. A. R., which met at "Twin Oaks", lakeside home of the Schneiders.

Opening the program were the salute to the flag and the Lord's prayer in unison.

After the chairmen committee reports, Mrs. J. C. Purdy, Jr., read an interesting letter from Mrs. H. Flood Madison, Jr., state chairman of American Indians Mrs. J. W. McDaniel spoke on "Approved Schools".

A two year subscription to the D. A. R. magazine was given the regent, Mrs G. T. Hider.

The chapter is to sponsor a home makers contest for girls with prizes offered to students in Lake Providence High School, showing the most interest and having the highest grades, and two other girls of the home economic classes with high averages and record of aptitude and interest.

Mrs. Hider reported on the district meeting, recently held in Bastrop, as she, Mrs. McDaniel, Mrs. Purdy and Mrs. E. D. Schneider were the members attending from the local chapter.

The year books, bright and attractive, were distributed by Mrs. Purdy.

Budget for the year includes national look fund, $3; state library, $10; American Indians, $5; (at St. Mary's and Bacone); Kate Duncan Smith School, $2.50; Tamassee, $3; Viola Seymour scholarship, $5; Ellis Island, $2.50; Girl homemakers, $5; Oakley—the D. A. R. repository, $2; Valley Forge memorial, $10; the annual year books. annual year books.

Mrs. W. B. R. Mitchell's contribution to the program was a talk on "National Defense Committee—A Step Toward Destruction", pointing out that such a step would lead to destroying of American independence, the federal constitution, and form of government under which we maintain our national sovereignty. It was stated that Georgia, California and Rhode Island, states which previously had taken the action rescinded the same this year.

Cake sandwiches and tea were served to Mrs. C. A. Rose. Mrs. G. T. Hider, Mrs. W. B. R. Mitchell, Miss Frances E. Keene, Mrs J. W. McDaniel and Mrs. J. C. Purdy, Jr., by the hostesses after the interesting program and business session.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Brown, accompanied by their son, Charles Brown of Tallulah, motored to Little Rock Sunday to bring home Mrs. Charles Brown and young son, Charles Clayton, who had been visiting relatives.

Methodist District Superintendent, Rev. W. H. Giles accompanied Rev. R. H. Staples, of First Church, West Monroe, the district evangelist, to Lake Providence Friday for a meeting with a group to discuss evangelism. All enjoyed the discussion and a pot luck supper in the educational building.

Mrs. W. H. Maben and Mrs. W. R. Abernethy were shoppers in Vicksburg on Friday.

CANTATA WILL BE PRESENTED AT NORTHEAST LOUISIANA STATE COLLEGE

Featured among the pre-Christmas specialties at Northeast Louisiana State College will be a cantata, "The Incurate Word," presented by the mixed chorus. The group will be directed by Miss Gertrude Sandrock, assistant professor of music.

The public is invited to hear the program on Monday, December 18 at 8 p.m. in Brown Hall auditorium. There will be no admission cost.

Accompanists for the cantata will be James Monroe, of the music faculty, at the organ and Joe Monroe, music student, at the piano.

Enhancing the impressiveness of the presentation are to be interesting lighting effects, Miss Sandrock asserted. The plan of lighting will add to the beauty and strength of the scenes, she said.

Members of the chorus will be wearing new robes for the occasion, and the entire group is to participate in the narration of the cantata.

WHITE CHRISTMAS TREE

You can make artificial snow for your Christmas tree with soapsuds. Use a minimum of water, whip up thick dry soapsuds with an egg beater or electric mixer. Apply them to the tree and they'll cling indefinitely. If you still want to sprinkle powdered "snow", use the soapsuds as a base.

Mail boxes in the United States daily collect about 800 letters without addresses.

Monroe Garden Club Will Have Annual Christmas Tour

Three Lovely Homes Will Carry Theme Of Christmas Celebrations In Other Countries

On Monday, December 11th, at 3 p.m. members of The Monroe Garden Club and their guests will begin an annual Christmas Tour of three of Monroe's loveliest homes which have been decorated for this occassion. The 1950 theme will be Christmas as it is celebrated in other countries.

Mexico will be portrayed at Mrs. George Snellings, Jr.'s home on Country Club Road. The Mexican Christmas is primarily a religious festival beginning nine days before Christmas with the posadas, a procession, bearing small figures representing Mary on the donkey and Joseph seeking shelter. This procession goes from house to house begging for refuge. Large candles of welcome are placed outside of each Mexican home.

The Mexicans do not have a Santa Claus or a Christmas tree. The nearest equivalent to our tree is the pinada, a large receptical hung from the ceiling filled with gifts. Partakers of the festivities are allowed three strikes with a stick while blindfolded to burst the pinada so the gifts will come showering to the floor. The poinsetta is the Mexican flower of Christmas.

Mrs. Wood Thompsons home on Marie Place will represent England. King Henry VIII brought the first Christmas tree to England. It was a tree of gold hung with roses and pomgranates. The English also introduced the first Christmas cards and wrapped the first Christmas packages with ribbons and bows as gifts. The Christmas carolers seem to find their background in English history. Also the festooning of homes with garlands of holly and ivy originates with the English.

The rose is a Christmas flower and was first used to represent Christs blood. At one time roses were always used on Christmas trees. The English were the first to use fresh flowers in Christmas decorations.

Bird trees were also common in England. They were made of grain and suet. They were placed in the yard to offer a Christmas feast to the birds.

The Norwegian Christmas will be illustrated in the home of Mrs. F. P. Mitchell on Stubbs St. In Norway the Christmas season comes with the feast of the winter solstice. It is an occasion to be celebrated with great joy because it means the promise of spring and light. The evergreens here symbolize summer, life, and the living spirit which protects against the spirits of evil. Hence homes are lavishly decked with greens. The Norse used sleigh bells on the doorways to scare away the evil spirits as the door was opened. All of the joyful release from the long winter went into imaginatively decorated Christmas trees.

They also have bird trees either in the yard or tucked under the eaves of the house.

Tea will be served to members and guests in Mrs. Mitchells home.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

November and December are reregistration time for many of our troops and many of them make the occasion one for special celebration. Troop 17, Mrs. F. H. Peterson and Mrs. C. J. Shirah leaders, had a troop birthday party last week at McGuire Clubhouse to celebrate the troop's fourth anniversary. The troop still has the same leaders and many of the same girls are now starting their fifth year of Scouting together. Parents and brothers and sisters joined the Scouts for the party and took part in the games planned by the girls.

Another troop that has started its fifth year in Scouting is troop 27, Mrs. N. L. Huckabee and Mrs. A. W. Wiley, leaders. Both of these troops were among the first to profit by the new plan of distributing membership cards and receive their cards at the next meeting after their registration was complete.

At its Wednesday meeting troop 18, one of the nine troops sponsored by the Georgia Tucker P.-T. A., completed registration requirements for their fourth year as Scouts. Mrs. Louis Kusin, Mrs. Crow, Mrs. Dan Moore, Jr., Mrs. F. W. Dawson,, and Mrs. J. W. Harris, are the grown-ups who make this troop possible. Learning to pedal a sewing machine was a lot of fun to these girls, who made Christmas stockings at the meeting with the help of Mrs. Crow.

Troop 1, always a busy troop, was invited to a tea at the home of Mrs. Hershel Gentry. Not just an ordinary tea, but one designed to give the girls a chance to discuss and practice social behavior. The girls set tables for different occasions and also practiced introductions.

We dropped in at carol singing one day last week and heard forty Intermediate Scouts singing beautifully under the expert guidance of Mr. Joe Craig, principal of Ouachita Parish Grammar School.

A number of troops are planning to spend an hour ringing the bells for the Salvation Army next Saturday.

Wonder what the Scouts would say if they could have peeked in at the leaders' party at the recreation center last week. The shrieks and laughter sounded as if everyone had a wonderful time. We discovered some grown-ups who would make good football players, too. It was an occasion where your leaders could put aside all serious business and concentrate on having fun. Credit goes to Mrs. N. L. Huckabee, Mrs. R. W. Glaholt, Mrs. S. C. Strausser, Mrs. A. W. Wiley, Mrs. Frank Collins, Mrs. R. D. Noble, and Mrs. R. E. Harrell, the committee that planned the affair.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Miss Laura Luttrell whose engagement and approaching marriage to Hilton Tolbird, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Tolbird, Sr., of Eros, is announced today by her mother, Mrs. Laura E. Luttrell of West Monroe.

Nose prints of identical twin calves are likely to be similar, just as fingerprints of identical humans often are similar.

COLLINSTON

Mrs. Guy Boyd was hostess to the Woman's Society of Christian Service when it held a joint program-study meeting in November.

Mrs. B. W. Hopgood presided and led in a Spiritual Life service of minute prayers by the assembly. "With Jesus and for Jesus, the Light of the World," was the theme of a beautiful devotional presented by Mrs. A. J. Tarver.

Mrs. R. O. Richards and Mrs Boyd presented an interesting program by discussion of the topic, "Health in a Rural Community."

Mrs. Alton Norsworthy reviewed the chapter, Formal and Informal Worship, from the study book "We Seek Him Together."

Mrs. Boyd was assisted by Miss Elizabeth Trippe in serving a chicken salad course, cake, and coffee, to Mrs. Hopgood, Mrs. Tarver, Mrs. Richards, Mrs. Alton Norsworthy, Mrs. A. H. Harper, Mrs. W. B Norsworthy, Mrs E. W Corley, Mrs. Windsor Puckett, Mrs W. T. Griffin, Mrs. J. T Howell, Mrs. Forrest Trippe, Mrs. Lena Hodges, Mrs. Louis Keller, Mrs. J. G. Pyron, Mrs. G. W Dalgarn, and Miss Marie Hodges

College students spending the recent holidays with homefolk at Collinston were Thurston B. Pratt III, Tulane; John L. Norsworthy, La. Tech.; Dorothy Anne Norsworthy, Centenary; Walte May Dalgarn, N. J. C. Monroe; Samuel Shockey, N. J. C. Monroe; Patsy Faye Higgs, Warner-Brown School of Nursing, El Dorado, Ark.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Trippe and family had as Sunday guests their daughter, Mrs. J. F. Roberts, and Mr. Roberts of Delhi.

Mr. and Mrs. Angea Smith of Natchez, Miss., visited here recently in the home of her mother, Mrs. Lutie Whitehead.

Mrs. W. H. Griffin of Bastrop and Monroe spent Sunday in Collinston visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Griffin.

Mrs. Ralph Crews and children, David and Roseanna K. of Monroe visited Tuesday in the home of her mother, Mrs. Susie Campbell. David remained for a longer visit with his grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. James Corley and family of Denham Springs were recent houseguests of his parents, Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Corley.

L. J. Colon Is Given Promotion

New Orleans, La., Dec. 9.—(Special)—J. B. Storey, district manager of the United Gas Pipe Line Company, announced here today the transfer and promotion of Leed J. Colon from the position of storekeeper at Monroe to become district storekeeper of the New Orleans district.

Mr. Colon has been with United Gas since 1943, when he went to work with the company as junior clerk at Houma, La. He subsequetly held the positions of clerk and storekeeper at that place prior to his transfer to Monroe in 1948. He is a native of Gramercy, La., and a graduate of the Lutcher High School.

Mr. Colon married the former Marie Ann Rome. They have three children.

MRS. A. DENT TISDALE HOSTESS AT MEETING OF LITERARY GUILD

The December meeting of the Literary Guild was held in the home of Mrs. A. Dent Tisdale with Mrs. J. G. Durrett co-hostess. Mrs. J. P. Brown, president, presided. The club voted to make donations to the Goodfellows fund and the Loan Scholarship fund. Suggestions for study for the coming year were discussed and turned over to the Year-Book committee.

Mrs. Tisdale, delegate to the state convention held in New Orleans in November made her report. She spoke of the many courtesies extended to the delegates by the New Orleans clubwomen and of the many fine reports and talks given on the various activities of the federation. Of special interest was the talk on "Our Challenge to Polio" by Mrs. Beatrice Wright, assistant director of activities foundation for infantile paralysis. Mrs. Hiram Houghton, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs spoke of as her subject "Building Citadels of Freedom." At the close of the convention a luncheon honoring Mrs. Houghton was given by Mrs. Edward Pilsbury, past-president of LFWC and chairman of the convention. This luncheon was attended by past state presidents, state officers and friends of Mrs. Pilsbury. The luncheon was held in the Rose room of the Jung Hotel.

A most interesting musical program was then given with Mrs. Milling Bernstein reviewing the life of two composers and Mrs. P. L. Perot playing two piano numbers by these composers.

Mrs. Tisdale and Mrs. Durrett carried out the Christmas decorations for the tea hour which followed. The following members were present: Mrs. J. P. Brown, Mrs. P. L. Perot, Mrs. Clifford Johnson, Mrs. Leo Terzia, Mrs. Ernest Holloway, Mrs. Duncan Cook, Mrs. Nathan Gaston, Mrs. William Harper, Mrs. Milling Bernstein, and the hostesses, Mrs. Durrett and Mrs. Tisdale.

STUDY NEW CULT

Alor Star, Malaya.—(AP)—A new, strange cult known as the "Seven Houris" (virgins) is being investigated by the government of Perlis state in northern Malaya. A committee of 11 religious leaders is inquiring into what's behind the cult which seems to promise virgins to all who remain faithful to its principles.

The organizer of the cult is said to have come from abroad, possibly from Arabia. Tuan Haji Ahmad, president of the state religious council, said leaders of the cult were committing criminal offenses by victimizing the poor and illiterate and asking followers to "surrender their property to the cult."

NEWS FROM THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

.In all the rush of Christmas preparations it is very relaxing to sit down with a good book for a few minutes each day. The Ouachita Parish Public Library has recently added a number of new books to appeal to every type of reader.

If you like stark realism in your novels, you will enjoy "The disenchanted" by Budd Schulberg. This is the story of a writer of the twenties, his disintegration and his efforts to come back as a writer for the movies. The story of the life of Manley Halliday is told in a series of flashbacks. This book is a very mature piece of writing. It is not always pleasant reading, but it shows compassion, strength and tenderness. The portrayal of the movie industry is most unflattering. This is without a doubt one of the best novels of the year.

In direct contrast to the writing of Mr. Schulberg is "Joy Street" by Francis Parkinson Keyes. This is a romantic novel of our own time, with the setting in the Beacon Hill area of Boston. She does not develop the atmosphere of Boston as well as she did that of New Orleans in "Crescent Carnival." Her characters are well done and and credible. As usual she has been very careful of her background and has given very minute details of clothes, food and decorations. This book makes excellent escape reading.

C.S. Forester, creator of the Hornblower series has developed an entirely new character in his latest work "Randall and the river of time." This book begins at the close of the first World War, with Randall an almost incredibly naive young man. His adventures during the next few years are rather extraordinary and the abrupt ending leaves us with the impression that Mr. Forester is beginning a new series.

Readers of mystery stories claim that they are the best sort of escaped literature. Several new ones have recently been added to the Library. They are: "The Silent Partner" by Kathleen Moore Knight; "Shell Game" by Richard Pitts Powell; "The Best Laid Plans" by Anne Hocking; and "Cat and mouse" by Christianna Brand.

There are many non-fiction books which can be as entertaining as books of fiction. "Nuts in May" by Cornelia Otis Skinner is one of the funniest collections of happening that has appeared in a long time. A good example is her visit with her small son to the Director of the Field Museum in Chicago to ask him to identify some rare bones. He glanced at them casually and said "horse bones". She crept out, taking the bones with her. "Innocents from Indianna" by Emily Kimbrough is a hillarious account of what happened to an Indianna family, when they moved to Chicago. "In the Pink" by Mildred Spurrier Topp is a delightful account of life in Greenwood, Mississippi in the year 1900. If you feel blue or need cheering up, be sure to read one of these books from the Ouachita Parish Public Library.

LAKE PROVIDENCE

Mrs. R. K. Howard is home from Houston, Texas where she visited for a few days with her brother H. F. Eldridge and family. Mrs. Howard made the trip with her sons Herbert and John Rolfe Howard, who continued to Brownsville, and Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Brady Oswalt and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Oswalt have enjoyed visits this week from the Oswalt's uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Pink Dunn, and their sister and brother in law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reid, all of Ackerman, Miss.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Bonner had their grandchildren, Baxter, Jr., and Daphne, over the week end while their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Baxger Deal were in New Orleans for the L. S. U.-Tulane game.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cooper have recently purchased Erin (Barber) plantation and will move from Millikin to their new location within the next week or so.

The minstrel, Louisiana Ramblers, presented by the Altar society of St. Patrick's church, in the school auditorium on Thursday and Friday evenings, was a huge success, due to the talented efforts of the director, Mrs. Burta Pinkston, and untiring efforts of the pianist Mrs. J. R. Davenport.

Cast of characters included Herman Sommer, interlocutor; Bill Grossman as Hokus; Tom Bass, Bones; Thomas M. Bagbey, Tambo; John Pace, Codfish; Roland Marcus, Klinker; Jeff Hair, Inkspot and daughter D'Anne in a tap dancing team; Sam Beaser and his quartet, Murray Washam, Edgar Bradley, Billy Wainvright, and Richard DiTammaso, and dancing girls Annie Ruth Washam, Sally Carter, Alee Rushing, Annie Murl Heard, and Martha Stephens.

Mr. Sam Beazer, director of public school music in East Carroll Parish will present the Christmas cantata "The Infant Holy" in the auditorium of the Lake Providence High School Thursday evening, Dec. 21, at 7:30 in a chorus of 60 voices. Miss Pauline Thrasher, high school student, will be the pianist. The public is invited to attend.

On Dec. 17, the children of the Methodist church school will be presented in a Christmas pantomime, with members of the junior division as angels, primaries as shepherds, and the beginners and cradle roll members as sheep, all in a nativity scene.

"Good will toward men" has been the life slogan of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Peeler, and was the home decorative theme for the holidays and the Thursday meeting of the Baxter Bayou club, on Friday afternoon, Dec. 1.

Mrs. Peeler's artistic floral touch carried out a red, white and silver color scheme, with mantel of horns of plenty pouring out silvered leaves, interspersed with miniature red Santa Clauses and white reindeer. There were lighted red candles at vantage points throughout the living room.

Mrs. C. R. Brown and Mrs. S. A. Holt graciously assisted the hostess and dispensed the dining room courtesies with Mrs. Holt presiding at the massive silver service to pour tea and coffee. The decor was a mirrored circle surrounded by red flame, centered with red candles. There was a bounteous serving of sandwiches, cookies and mints. The buffett contributed the nativity scene and branched candelabra of lighted tapers.

Mrs. C. R. Brown, president, presided for the business session, assisted by Mrs. George Cooper, the secretary. One minute of silent prayer for peace was closed with the Lord's prayer.

Twelve women will be chosen from East Carroll Parish to attend the National Farm Bureau meeting in Dallas, Texas, and $25 on trip expenses will be paid to the Baxter Bayou delegate, and if no delegate goes from the club a sum of $10 will be paid the parish Farm Bureau on expense of other parish delegates.

Again the outstanding club woman of the year will be chosen, according to rules recommended by the parish Home Demonstration council. Mrs. J. E. Peeler was chosen for this honor in 1949.

The two featured program included Miss Esther Cooley, consumer education specialist, who informed on "Be Wise With Your Buys," with picture show to demonstrate fresh and usable vegetables and canned products. Two slides were shown of St. Patrick's Catholic church and grounds during the spring when Father Plutz had a radiant array of colors about the edifice. Several views of the lake with cypress foliage and trees, were added.

Mrs. Tom Sitton, Mrs. W. J. Grossman, Jr., and Mrs. H. T. Van Fossen were guests, and members attending were Mesdames F. A. Babb and daughter Frances, W. F. Bonner, Keener Howard, Lutcher Dalfume, Arthur Guenard, W. A. Gipson, H. E. Howard, R. K. Howard, Felton Johnson, Brady Oswalt, A. F. Neal, W. T. Tullos, Kelso McClendon, George Cooper.

Mrs. J. P. Davis and Mrs. C. R. Brown, following an annual custom, motored to Tallulah Dec. 30 and took Mrs. Helen Erwin out to lunch, to celebrate her birthday.

Mrs. J. E. Holt, Mrs. Jack Holt and son Johnny and nephews Bud and Pat Bonner, and Jim Brown of Waverly left Friday for Memphis to be present Saturday for the Roy Rogers show and winning of the pony.

Sending back into the service with a happy farewell was the purpose of the party at "Stamboul Plantation" on Thursday evening when the hosts and kinsmen Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shields entertained for Mr and Mrs. Thomas H. Shields Jr., who left Friday for Broomfield, Ky., to be with relatives until Mr. Shields reports Jan. 3 as a reservist called back to active duty in the navy.

Noted among the guests to enjoy the hospitality of Stamboul and the delightful buffet supper, and bid a fond farewell to the honorees were Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Cammack, Jr., Mr and Mrs. John Hester, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Erwin, Dr. and Mrs. F. M. Terral, Mr and Mrs C. R Evans, Mr and Mrs. Kelso McClendon, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Norris, Mr. and Mrs. John Salemi, Jr., Miss Edna Bishop and Joe Brock, Mr and Mrs. J. P. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Parra, Mr. and Mrs. W. D Brown, Jr, Mr. and Mrs W. H. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Schneider, Jr., Mr and Mrs. Sam T. Batten, Mr. and Mrs. David Tschabold.

Mrs. W. B. Hawkins in motoring to Jackson, Miss., on Saturday to meet her son W. B. Hawkins, Jr., who was coming home for a 14 day furlough before reporting to a Florida army base, was accompanied by her sisters Mrs. David Tschabold, and Mrs. Curtis Johnson and sons Freddie and Curt.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Pinkston, Jr., spent Saturday in Rayville with the latter's parents, Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Durham as Dr. Durham has not been enjoying good health lately.

EX-HOOSIERS TO ASK FOR BONUS

Should Apply For This Aid Without Delay States M'Clendon

World War II veterans who were post-war residents of the state of Indiana have until December 31, and no later, to apply for the forthcoming World War II veterans' bonus for those ex-Hoosiers now residing in Louisiana, according to an announcement from the Ouachita parish service office.

H. B. McClendon, parish service officer, urged all eligible ex-Indiana veterans to apply for the bonus as soon as possible.

"Veterans of Indiana, or any other state, are always welcome at our office for assistance of this type," Mr. McClendon said. "If we don't have enough bonus application forms on hand, we can get some quickly from the state department of veterans affairs administrative office in Baton Rouge."

Director of veterans affairs Joseph L. Golsan said in Baton Rouge that Indiana, by law, must have all bonus applications on hand by December 31.

"This is necessary since the Indiana bonus agency must report to the state legislature by January 31, as to how may applications it has received and how much money will be needed to finance the Indiana bonus operation," Golsan explained.

Indiana's bonus will be financed on a delayed payment plan, which means that the checks will not be issued until the entire fund has been accumulated. Golsan stated that the Indiana director, Clinton Green, has set 1953 at the earliest or 1955 at the latest, as the time of payment.

Small Mistakes Will Catch Up With You

By Oswald Jacoby

Written for NEA Service

"You often write about some player's mistake," comments a Pittsburgh reader. "The mistake usually costs a game or a slam. Are all mistakes as castly as that?"

No. Some mistakes don't cost anything at all. But then nobody notices them. That doesn't mean that they aren't mistakes.

By way of comparison, suppose you developed the habit of corssing the street with your eyes closed. You might get away with it once or twice, but it would still be pretty foolish. Even so, you wouldn't get written up in the newspapers—until you got it in the neck!

We can see a parallel in a bridge hand.

North's bid of five diamonds was part of the Blackwood Convention. South, by bidding four no-trump, had asked how many aces North had. North, by bidding five diamonds, replied that he had one ace (not necessarily in diamonds, of course). East's double of five diamonds was meant to suggest a favorable opening lead to his partner.

	NORTH
	♠ J 9 5 2 ♥ 7 ♦ 9 4 ♣ A J 10 7 6 2
WEST		EAST
♠ 6 ♥ 10 9 8 4 3 ♦ 10 6 5 2 ♣ K 8 4		♠ Q 8 4 ♥ 6 ♦ K Q J 8 3 ♣ Q 9 5 3
	SOUTH (D) ♠ A K 10 7 3 ♥ A K Q J 5 2 ♦ A 7 ♣ None

Both vul.

South	West	North	East
2 ♥	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
4 N.T.	Pass	5 ♦	Double
6 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♦ 2

South wasn't worried about a diamond lead. He knew he would be able to discard a small diamond on the ace of clubs that his partner had promised to supply. All he needed was a strong trump holding in the dummy for a grand slam. He thought about bidding seven, but lost his nerve and bid only six.

Six spades was a fine contract and should have been made. As it turned out, however, South might just as well have had the fun of bidding seven. He wouldn't have made it, of course, but he didn't make the small slam either.

West opened the deuce of diamonds, and South won with the ace. He properly laid down the ace and king of spades, hoping to drop the queen. When that card failed to appear, South knew he had to lose a trump trick. And South got a little panickly about the diamond loser in his hand.

South was very anxious to get to dummy to discard his low diamond on the ace of clubs. Hence he cashed the ace of hearts and ruffed a low heart in dummy—hoping to cash the ace of clubs next.

Unfortunately for South, East was able to over-ruff. Naturally, East then took the king of diamonds, setting the slam contract.

South had a blind spot, of course. There was no need to discard his own low diamond on dummy's ace of clubs. He should have led a second high heart from his own hand in order to discard dummy's low diamond. East could ruff the second heart, just the same, but then there wouldn't be a diamond trick; and the slam contract would be fulfilled.

South made a mistake, but he was also very unlucky. After all, there would have been no trouble if East had held a second heart. South would have made his slam in spite of his poor play.

If this had happened, South would have paid no attention to the hand, never realizing that he had really made a mistake. The way it actually turned out, South learned a lesson that he won't forget in a hurry.

Recipe Given For Cranberry Chiffon Pie

"There was a time when we thought of cranberries as just something nice to eat with turkey. Now we use them in salads, muffins and pies," states Mrs. Mildred G. Swift, "here is a cranberry chiffon pie that is delicious:

Cranberry Chiffon Pie

3 cups cranberries
1 cup hot water
1 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, separated
¼ cup cold water
1½ tablespoons gelatin
2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar.
Pastry

Wash and pick over berries, discarding those that are soft or imperfect. Boil the berries in the hot water until soft and press through a fine sieve. Add sugar, salt and well-beaten egg yolks and cook over hot water a few minutes. Soak gelatin in cold water and then stir into hot mixture until dissolved. Chill and when beginning to set, fold in whites of eggs which have been beaten with confectioners' sugar. Blend well. Pile into a 9-inch baked crust with a high rim. Chill.

QUITMAN

Deepest sympathy goes to the family of "Uncle Steve" Blalock whose death occured at the home of his son, Mr and Mrs Clyde Blalock, Saturday afternoon at five o'clock. Intermen was at the Antioch cemetery Sunday afternoon at 3:30 p.m. This was the first death to occur in this large family for years.

Friends regret to learn of the serious illness of Mrs. D. Phillips. Mrs Philips is at the home of her son, Mr and Mrs Johnie Philips of Pumpkin Center. Best wishes for a complete and speedy recovery are extended to Mrs. Philips.

Another person on the sick list is Mr Bell, a life long resident of Jackson parish. Mr. Bell has been confined to his home due to illness for the past several months and during the past few weeks has been confined to his bed. He is a prominent retired farmer and livestock dealer in this section.

Mr and Mrs Drew Jimerson were business visitors in Monroe Saturday and also visited Mrs Jimerson's aunt, Mrs Willie Sizemore, who is ill at her home.

Christmas Morn Chicken Pie

By Gaynor Maddox

When Rosamond Chapin was a little girl in Boston, there was always a mammoth chicken pie for Christmas breakfast.

Mrs. Chapin and her husband now own the New Boston Inn in the Berkshire foothills, where U.S. routes 8 and 57 meet. On Christmas, in their inn, founded in 1760, the hospitable Chapins will offer this lordly breakfast dish.

Christmas Morning Chicken Pie
(Serves 6-8)

Place two, full-breasted young fowls in a pot. Nearly cover with water and add a few springs of celery, a couple of carrots, peeled and sliced lengthways, and two or three sliced onions, salt and white pepper.

Bring to a slow boil, cover, and simmer slowly until tender, from 2½ to 3 hours. Turn birds several times during the cooking process. As the broth reduces add sufficient water to keep birds two-thirds covered.

Remove fowl from broth and cool on platter. Remove meat in large chunks and set aside. Return skin and bones to the broth and continue to simmer for another half hour; strain. The broth should now be reduced to about one half of its original bulk and should contain (if the fowl are young) sufficient fat to thicken the sauce.

Next mix together slowly one cup of sifted flour with sufficient cold water to produce a smooth liquid. Add this slowly to the hot broth while stirring vigorously and cook until sauce is velvety. Add a pint of light cream and stir until well blended and the flour is cooked in. Be sure to stir frequently during this process, about 15 minutes, so the sauce will not burn.

Correct the seasoning to your own taste and remove from the fire. Separate the chicken into good sized pieces along its natural lines, using your fingers rather than a knife. Discard any skin gristle or veins. Combine chicken pieces with the sauce.

Put chicken and sauce into a deep baking dish and fill to within a quarter inch of the top. A pie of the above size needs no cup to support the crust at the center as a larger pie does. Cover with your favorite pie crust, but be sure to make it sufficiently short.

If the pie is to be served immediately, the chicken need not be cooled before the crust is put on. But if it is to be baked the next morning, be sure the chicken is cool before adding the crust.

The Bonhomie Club met Thursday in the home of Mrs. Hal Layman with Mrs. Paul Bauer, serving as co-hostess.

Mrs. Pilant, president, opened the meeting with the reading of the club collect in unison.

A guest, Mrs. C. G. Wall, Jr. was welcomed to the meeting.

Following the business session Mrs. O. Willis gave an entertaining review of Harnett Kane's "Queen New Orleans City by the River." Mrs. Willis said in part: Harnett T. Kane has never written a book that was not a best seller. Out of long research and intimate knowledge he brings to life New Orleans in all her sparkling variety, from the wonders of the past to the present.

Mr. Kane tells of New Orleans growth in four directions, upriver, down, across to a stretch named Algiers, and then unexpectedly toward its back entrance, Lake Ponchartrain.

He tells of the battle of prestige between the Americans and the Creoles, and the duels that were such frequent occurrences.

The hostesses then served delightful refreshments to the following: Mrs. Robert Irby, Mrs. C. J. Wall, Jr., Mrs. Eugene Scott, Mrs. O. Willis, Mrs. Roland Waldroup, Mrs. George Forman, Mrs. Walter Reard, Mrs. Hal Layman, Mrs. R. B. Pilant, Mrs. A. J. McCready, Mrs. Melvin Harrison, Mrs. E. L. Hoskins, Mrs. O. C Lanier and Mrs H. M. Rhodes.

Good credit standing is a real convenience. It enables you to buy and use the things you need at once, and pay for them the following month . . . or, on deferred payment purchases, over a longer period.

But a good credit standing also involves an obligation, to pay your bills promptly on the due date.

The merchant, the physician, the dentist, the fuel dealer are all guided in the granting of credit by only one thing—the way you pay your bills. LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. S.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Yes, o a remarkable degree—if you learn the trick. When you feel anger, relax your muscles with your will and it will soon subside. Our booklet, "How to Manage Your Emotions" tells all about this and will save you many an unhappy hour and make you popular. Sent at cost, 15 cents (coin only) plus stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. No. Of course, nobody ever has enough money, but this does not make couples unhappy with each other or unhappy in their marriage. What makes them unhappy is how they spend what they have. If John wants to spend it with the boys" and Mary wants to spend it for clothes—that makes trouble. Researches show that the method of spending makes as many unhappy marriages among the rich as among the poor.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Yes. Many write me for "a test to tell them what they are fitted for." I can't do this, because of the procedure involved. First, the counselor and applicant have a general talk concerning the latter's education, ambitions, background, etc., followed by several hours of tests. Then there is a final interview summarizing and interpreting the findings. It seems strange that people gladly spend hundreds or thousands of dollars for an education, and yet object to paying $25 to $75 to find what to do with it. It's an economy that costs many a youth a life in the wrong vocation.

Want to Learn Self-Control?

How to Manage Your Feelings and Emotions is Dr. Wiggam's new illustrated booklet.

It describes clearly what happens to both your mind and body when your feelings and emotions conquer you and it also fully explains what you can do about it—how you can master your feelings and gain self-confidence.

This remarkable booklet is yours for 15 cents (in coin only). Address Dr. A. E. Wiggam care of this newspaper. Include a stamped (three cent) self-addressed return envelope.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By Oswald Jacoby

Watch For Opponents Freeze

Written for NEA Service

Continuing my discussion of the hand that included a joker, a deuce two kings and three sevens with both sides needing fifty, I pointed out in the last article that the normal correct play was to meld the joker with either the sevens or the kings, usually the sevens, at your first turn to play.

If you are playing against opponents who are not inclined to freeze the discard pile at an early stage of the hand, the chances are that you will get the discard pile and build up your hand to its original eleven cards or even more. Against such opponents I am inclined to meld the joker with the kings and to discard my sevens one after another. I will expect them to return to me in due course.

If my opponents are likely to freeze the pile as soon as I meld, this play is very apt to prove unfortunate. My successive discards of sevens will merely let the discard pile grow and they will probably get it eventually. Then, when they do get it I will not be in out position or anything like it and will wind up losing a lot of points in spite of having started with a good hand.

Nevertheless this danger is not going to stop me melding right away with this hand. This is a hand with which I know that we can meld out fairly quickly if we concentrate on doing so. Therefore, while I prefer to play this hand against nice opponents who won't freeze the pack, I am also ready for opponents who do freeze it.

The difference is that playing aginst such opponents I will not split any combination and will expect my partner to play in the same manner. I will make no fight for the discard pile at all, but we might still be lucky enough to get it.

If that should happen, we will be in position to score several thousands points. If the opponents get the pile they will probably beat us on the hand but we will be able to go out before any real damage is done.

Of course there are other possibilities. You might start to throw your odd cards and suddenly work into a position from which you might expect to be able to play right through the hand with safety and still have some chance to get the discard pile. In that case it would pay you to start fighting for the pact.

As an example of how this may happen let's assume that your opponents throw away all five of the remaining sevens so that you have no chance to make a canasta of that rank. Four kings are also discarded. In the meanwhile you have accumulated a couple more wild cards and another king. This gives you six absolutely safe discards and should be enouh to let you go to the end in safety.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

Miss Yvonne Taylor And Millard Baker Evans United In Marriage

Vows Spoken In Sexton Memorial Chapel Of First Methodist Church In Shreveport

Attracting wide interest in north Louisiana and south Arkansas was the wedding on November 22, at 6:30 in the evening, of Yvonne Taylor, daughter of Mrs. Robert E. Taylor of Monroe and the late Mr. Taylor, and Millard Baker Evans, son of Mrs. Lena Evans of El Dorado. Dr. Guy M. Hicks, pastor, was celebrant of the double-ring ceremony performed in the Sexton Memorial Chapel of the First Methodist Church of Shreveport.

The bride entered on the organ strains of Lohengrins wedding march and was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Charles Roddy. Her dress was fashioned of white sheer wool with sunburst plaits gathered at the waist by a cincture of powder blue satin. Blended-stitch embroidery tipped with rhinestones formed a graceful neckline on the fitted bodice. Her accessories were blue and she carried a white Testament with a bouquet of sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Charles Roddy, the bride's sister and only attendant, wore an aqua tailored gabardine with black accessories. Her flowers were pink daisy chrysanthemums.

Joseph M. Sullivan served the bridegroom as best man and the ushers were James W. Lindsay and Elwood B. Rea. The bridegroom's gift to his best man was a gold monogrammed wallet. The bride presented her attendant with a silver dressing table ornament with engraved monogram.

The marriage vows were spoken before an altar on which lighted candles reflected a polished bronze cross. On each side were tall candabra holding burning tapers in benediction arrangement. Cathedral baskets of white chrysanthemums flanked the altar and sanctuary.

Miss Charlene Campbell rendered a program of traditional organ selections and accompanied Mrs. Geneva Puterbaugh who sang "Because" and "Through the Years".

Following the wedding, guests were greeted at an informal reception in the church parlors. Mrs. Elwood B. Rea was in charge of the guest book.

METER REPAIR WORK GIVEN

Classes To Be Held Starting Monday, Ending On Friday

The Ouachita Valley vocational School, with the cooperation of the state and the water department of the city of Monroe, will hold classes in water meter repair at the Monroe meter repair shop, St. John and Wood street, Monroe.

The class will begin Monday, December 11 through Friday, December 15.

The course wil consist almost entirely of actual shop wont in disassembling, cleaning, refitting, assembling and testing of water service meters of all sizes and types. All parts including casings, chambers, dises, pistons, gear trains, registers, hoods, and lids will be reconditioned. Short conferences will be held every morning to cover the principles underlying the work to be performed in the shop and to furnish desirable information for the operation of a meter department. A set of information sheets, explaining important points, will be distributed during the course.

All water departments are invited to send their mechanics to attend the week of instruction without charge or obligation. We suggest that each man come provided with a plastic mallet, socket wrenches from ½ to ¾ inch, and screw drivers, both medium size and vest pocet type.

It will be necessary for men intending to participate in this course be present on the opening morning, Monday, December 11 at 8:00 a. m., so that attendance requirements for the operation of the course can be determined.

HOME GARDENER CLUB HAS ANNUAL CHRISTMAS PILGRIMAGE

The crisp winter air of last Monday night was ideal for the Christmas pilgrimage made each year by the Home Gardener Club. Members first visited the home of Mrs. Gerald Frasier at 2800 S. Grand, where outside decorations were featured. Mrs. Frasier had banked evergreens around the outer door facing. Mingled amidst the greenery were red and silver pine cones and glistening Christmas ornaments. An illuminated angel stood above the entrance. A huge red satin bow fastened to the center of the door had different colored streamers to which bright colored bells had been tied.

The "Pilgrims" then travelled onward to Mrs. L. D. Roger's home at 3006 Gordon avenue to view her mantel decorations. Mrs. Roger's living room lends itself especially well to this purpose, as the mantel and book shelves extend across one entire end of the room with a mirror from mantelpiece to ceiling. Blue and silver was the theme used with blue lights in silver reflectors used to advantage. In front of the mirror blue lights burned in tall candlesticks. The top of the mantel and book shelves was covered with cotton sprinkled with aritifical snow and had been artfully arranged in snowbanks, hills, and valleys with miniature buildings placed at vantage points. At one end of the mantle the nativity scene was reproduced and was balanced by Santa and his reindeer at the opposite end. The entire scene was one of breathtaking beauty.

Mrs. H. M. Chatham's home at 3000 Gordon avenue represented the end of the journey. Here the travellers found what everyone is most interested in on Christmas day after the excitement of opening the presents—the Christmas table. Mrs. Chatham's table fulfilled everyone's expectations, as it had been decorated to resemble a huge Christmas package. A white cloth with lace insertion had been laid over the table and wide red satin ribbon placed around the edge and then criss-crossed over the top and tied in a big bow. There was a beautiful centerpiece and at one end a Christmas cake. This was unusually attractive as it was iced with pale green frosting and decorated with holly leaves of dark green frosting.

Mrs. E. L. Hoskins presided over a brief business session and Mrs. S. D. Burnette called the roll and read the minutes. After this the group gathered around the piano and sang Christmas carols. Then Mrs. Chatham and her cohostesses, Mrs. L. D. Rogers, Mrs. J. D. McKeithen, Jr., and Mrs. L. J. Rasch, served delicious refreshments which carried out the red and green color theme. Placed on each plate was a tiny lighted candle.

Those present were Mrs. S. D. Burnette, Mrs. H. M. Chatham, Mrs. Roy Colquette, Mrs. L. N. Copes, Mrs. M. M. DeWees, Mrs. R. N. Dozier, Mrs. Gerald Frasier, Mrs Milton Ford, Mrs. J. A. Funston, Mrs. M. J. Hortman, Mrs. M. R. Hausherr, Mrs. E. L. Hoskins, Mrs. M W Montgomery, Mrs J. D. McKeithen, Mrs. A. F. McMullen, Mrs. T. J. Rasch, Mrs. F. V. Reitzell, Mrs L. D. Rogers, Mrs. L A Smith, Mrs C. H. Shook, Mrs. A. A. Tarpley, Mrs. C. C. Williams, Mrs. Alice David, Mrs. L. R Harrison and three visitors, Mrs H. J. Tull, Mrs. K. M. Willis, and Mrs. A. A. Bagwell of Bastrop, La.

Will Hold Traditional Exercises In Tech On Sunday Night

Ruston Dec. 9.—(Special)—The annual Christmas candlelighting ceremony which is traditional at Louisiana Tech will be held on Sunday December 10 at 6 p. m. in front of Keeny hall according to officials of the student union, sponsors of the event.

A trumpet fanfare will be played, after which 200 girls will march from Harper hall holding lighted candles and singing "O Come All Ye Faithful."

Following the procession, Jim Sparkman of Minden, president of the student union, will lead the invocation. After the invocation, a solo will be rendered by Don Braswell of Minden. Then, the group will hear a special reading.

The Freshman Girls' Glee club will then sing, after which there will be a solo by Joyce Tisdale of Wisner. Following the solo group singing will take place with Braswell leading the group.

Reading with the choral group is next on the schedule followed by a solo by Pete Terracina of Shreveport. President R. L. Ropp of the college will read a Christmas story at the conclusion of the solo by Terracina.

A men's octet will sing "We Three Kings" just before the recessional will begin. The recessional will be the singing of "Joy To The World."

Christmas lights on the campus will be turned on following the candlelighting service.

Surplus Money Financing La.'s Highway Construction

Baton Rouge, La., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Powered with surplus money, Louisiana's highway construction is still climbing, but it faces a downhill slide in about two years when extra funds run out.

That's the long range forecast presented today by Director R. B. Richardson of the state department of highways.

He told of 13 major projects for the coming months in the drawing board stage or beyond. They total $16,000,000, but do not include all new projects.

Defeat of the proposed $140,000,000 highway and bridge bond issue in the Nov. 7 general election, Richardson said, would have no effect on existing highway plans.

Blueprints and contracts and the ultimate barking roar of dirt-leveling tractors at work — all are a complex, time-consuming chain tied to construction schedules set up before the bond issue was proposed, he said.

Richardson explained, however, the bond issue would have continued the supply of extra money above yearly revenues, and assured continued expansion of the highway construction program.

The director said the highway department would reach a current-revenue operating basis in about two years, and as a result highway construction would lose its momentum.

This year's revenues are estimated at $58,000,000, he added.

"Our economy is becoming more and more dependent on highways. It's a question now of how well people realize what is needed to be done. That's the key to our highway future," Richardson said, and he added that the state needs at least 300 miles more of four-lane highways.

As for a proposed four - lane stretch between Baton Rouge and New Orleans, however, Richard-commented it would take about $10,500,000, and "we can't take nearly half of one year's construction money for that one project."

Bond debt, road maintenance and operating expenses of the highway department take a heavy share of annual revenues, he said.

Meanwhile, here's the status of some of the major highway projects shaping up. Richardson listed them by estimated cost:

$2,400,000 — Prairieville - Gramercy highway, in Ascension and St. James parishes; 24.9 miles of two additional lanes. Borings for soil analysis now being made.

$2,000,000—Red River bridge at Miller's Bluff, in Bossier and Caddo parishes; bids will be received Dec. 28 for this .568-mile bridge on state route 109.

$1,800,000—Youree drive extension and Spring street viaduct in Shreveport; 3.02 miles of pavement and viaduct on state route 20 in Shreveport. Plans are being completed.

$1,350,000—Georgetown - Standard highway including overpass and bridges, in Grant and LaSalle parishes; 7.245 miles of new concrete pavement on state route 14. Plans are being completed.

$1,200,000—Lae Bruin - North (relocation), in Tensas parish; 12 miles of new pavement on state route 3 (grading and drainage structures for future pavement). Survey being completed.

$1,000,000—Boutte-Huey P. Long bridge, in Jefferson and St. Charles parishes; 14.3 miles of two new lanes on state route 2. Soil borings being made for final plans.

$900,000 — Lobdell - Erwinville (adding 24 - foot concrete pavement), in West Baton Rouge and Pointe Coupee parishes; 11.6 miles of two additional lanes on the airline highway. Final plans being checked and rights of way being obtained before advertising for bids.

$800,000—Stonewall - Keithville highway, in Caddo parish; 5.88 miles of new concrete pavement on state route 1. Now obtaining rights of way since plans were completed.

$750,000—Lake Charles - Iowa junction, in Calcasieu parish; widening 14.07 miles of concrete pavement on state route 2. Awaiting approval of bureau of public roads before advertising for bids.

$750,000 — Kingsville - Pollack highway, in Rapides and Grant parishes; 10.5 miles of concrete pavement on state route 14. Final plans to be prepared.

$750,000 — Gramercy - Bonnet Carre spillway, in St. John the Baptist and St. Charles parishes; 10 miles of two new lanes on the airline highway. Plans being completed.

Concordia Has Fewer Taxes, Debts

Baton Rouge, La., Dec. 9—(AP)—Concordia Parish owes less money and collects lower taxes than any other parish in Louisiana.

That is part of a report on parish resources, facilities and prospects, prepared by a parish development board in cooperation with the Louisiana department of public works.

"Concordia has the lowest tax rate in the state," the report says, "and its bonded debt is the smallest in the state on a per capita basis."

The 112-page publication, containing articles, tables and pictures, is scheduled to be presented to the parish next wednesday at Vidalia. Police jury president Herman Gibson will accept 500 copies from public works director J. Lester White, according to the department.

The parish was advised to develop its dairying, meat packing, forestry and ceramics possibilities.

CHAS. SPIVAK'S GROUP TO PLAY

Top Rated Orchestra Will Furnish Music For Tech Dance

Ruston, Dec. 9.— Special)—Charlie Spivak will bring his top-rated orchestra to Louisiana Tech on Saturday, December 15, to play for the annual Christmas dance at the college.

Spivak will present a concert in Howard auditorium prior to the dance Saturday night. The concert will be held from 8 to 9:30 p. m. and the dance will follow in the college dining hall from 10 ro 12 o'clock.

Tickets for the dance went on sale Thursday in the Student Union office and in the lobby of Keeny hall at the colege. The admission wil be $3.75 for a combination dance and concert ticket per couple, $3 per couple or stag for the the dance and $1.50 per person for the concert.

The student union is now accepting bids for concessions and work projects for the Christmas formal according to James Wall, student union representative.

Spivak features his trumpet practically all the time and his band recently won the coveted Downbeat poll in the sweet music category. He is placing more emphasis on soft danceable melodies than ever before.

Spivak and his orchestra have established records at New York's Hotel Statler, a top hotel dance spot, and at the Paramount Theater, mecca for dance bands on Broadway.

One of the managers of the Commodore Hotel in New York summed Spivak up perfectly when he said, "He blows clear enough for all to hear but people can still carry on a conversation."

With the current vogue for sweet music gaining favor each day, Spivak and his band are more popular than ever. The way Spivak plays his famous horn, soft and smooth, reflects his sentimental and philosophical personality.

Four Men Give Him Shoe Repair, Hat Repair and Shine Shop

But his bright eyes saw blue skies and Santa Claus and Yankee Doodle Dandy.

It was Christmas and the fourth of July and the whole world was shining for Jerry Thomas Joryman.

Jerry isn't a boy—he's 43, married and the father of two sons and a daughter. He's been a shoe shine boy for 10 years at the towering Board of Trade Building in La Salle street, at the end of Chicago's financial district.

Jerry was a cheerful influence around the building and to some he confined his ambition—to own his own shoe repair and shining shop. But that wasn't much of a deal in a building where transactions in the millions of dollars are made daily.

A few days ago, however, two grain brokers, an investment man and an insurance broker offered to furnish the $2,000 Jerry needed to open his shop. The Board of Trade building management found a shop soon to be vacated and threw in a month's free rent.

The four men, who insisted on remaining anonymous, yesterday gave Jerry one of the most unusual notes in business history.

The note read in part: "The undersigned have in your interest and as an expression of confidence and friendship, decided to provide the capital necessary to enable you to open a shoe repair, hat repair and shoe shining establishment on the Sherman street side of the Board of Trade Building.

"Certain working capital for the purchase of supplies and for the payment of wages to yourself and the employes you need is being supplied by the undersigned who disavow any expectation of financial gain for themselves. . . .

"No definite time of repayment is contemplated other than your promise that you will repay the money when you are able to do so. No interest is ever to be charged on the obligation."

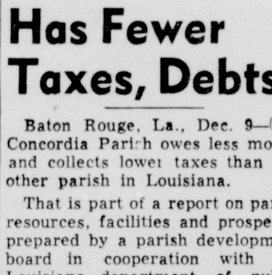

Where Jerry asked could this happen except in America where man is still free to dream and hope and plan?

COLLINS CONTENDS U. S. FORCES WILL SURVIVE IN KOREA

General Says They 'Will Take Care Of Themselves Without Serious Loss'

RETURNS TO WASHINGTON AFTER SPOT INSPECTION

By Francis J. Kelley

Washington, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff, put out the heartening word today that American forces in Korea "will be able to take care of themselves without further serious losses."

He gave that confident forecast to reporters as he stepped from a plane bearing him back from a spot inspection of the battlefront and conferences with Gen. Douglas MacArthur and his field commanders.

Collins said he would report fully, immediately — and privately— on his conclusions to the joint chiefs of staff. His inspection trip was arranged hurriedly a week ago after hordes of Chinese communists had smashed into the United Nations lines and forced major withdrawals.

Despite Collins' guardedly optimistic summation of the war situation, a speed-up was ordered in the training of fresh troops.

The army cancelled a previously announced general 10 - day Christmas furlough for GI's in training in this country, an announced that full work schedules would prevail at the training camps except on Christmas Day and New Year's Day.

However, the army said that camp commanders will have discretion to grant extra holiday leaves to men who can be spared.

The overriding aim is to keep the intensive training program rolling at full speed, with the nation facing unknown future commitments.

Meanwhile, Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service chief, cleared away some of the confusion surrounding the release of information about operations of the draft.

Hershey said that virtually all figures and information on inductions and other operations will continue to be made public. He made clear that there is no ban on the release of draft quota figures or the names of draftees.

Many local draft officials had interpreted a directive sent out by Hershey's office last week to mean that little or no draft information was to be given out. This directive had followed President Truman's general request to government agencies to tighten up on publication of matters affecting the national security.

Hershey conferred with budget bureau officials and later said:

"I guess the budget bureau was not as excited as I was about the whole matter."

He explained that he always wants to be sure that his office does nothing to endanger the nation's security.

READING ROOM MOST HOMELIKE

Shown above is a corner in the handsome new Christian Science reading room, 135 North Second street, which this afternoon will be thrown open to the public of the Twin Cities for visits and inspection from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. New decorations, specially suited furnishings have been secured and this restful place in downtown Monroe will ever be available to all who would read and study divine teachings as interpreted by Mary Baker Eddy. Regardless of church affiliation, the public is bidden to pay this beautiful reading room a special visit this afternoon. (News-Star—World Photo by Leon Noland, Jr.)

HOLIDAY MENU

This should be a very good Christmas for the food budget. The Department of Agriculture reports turkey production is the largest on record, cranberry production the second largest. The sweet potato crop is the largest in several years, and ten per cent above last year. The apple crop is expected to be high, grapefruit production is larger than last year Markets will have large supplies of carrots, onions and Irish potatoes. Pork prices are expected to be the lowest for the year in December. There will be plenty of hens, broilers and fryers. Stocks of honey held by beekeepers are the largest on record — good news for the cookie and dessert maker.

The greatest basketball victory for the Southeastern Louisiana College Lions came in the 1949-50 season, when the Green and Gold, under Coach Luther Marlar, swamped Mississippi-Southern 78-43.

Three Accused Of Theft Of Pecans

Three men were arrested by the Ouachita parish sheriff's department Friday and charged with theft of pecans at the Guy Stubbs residence on the Milhaven road.

The men were: Harold M. Byrne, 44, Monroe; L. D. Stone, 34, Monroe; R. V. Bailey, 49, Monroe.

Berlin Hot Platz Sizzles At Night

By Daniel De Luce
AP Newsfeatures

Berlin—On sane days, Potsdamer Platz is merely another intersection in a tumbled-down city, where people shop for food and clothes instead of political dogma. Except for signboards preaching hate, there is nothing by day to identify this shabby crossroads as the toughest no-man's-land in the global cold war.

Germans from east and west swarm freely across its flinty cobblestones. Nobody asks them for a passport to travel between Communist paradise and capitalist wonderland.

In their hearts, they may be Red or anti-Red or just confused. Who knows? Their politics are not branded on their weary faces.

The Blue and the Gray

Rival policemen exchange comradely nods across this political frontline, though they wear different uniforms. Those in gray protect Western Allied interests. The blues are sworn to uphold the Soviet Union.

Under a pallid winter sun, the only east-west conflict in the platz is for the public's pfennigs. Eastern chain stores have recently undercut the price for bread and potatoes. Western vendors have tastier sausages and slabs of real butter.

Many headlines have been written about Potsdamer Platz in the past five years. For here, with the razed walls of Hitler's chancellory as background, the Allied and Soviet districts of Berlin meet in ever suspicious contiguity.

A Misstep Means Jail

You'll go to jail in the Allied sectors if you hand out a Muscovite leaflet to ban the American atom bomb. You'll go to jail, even longer, in the Soviet sector if you say you don't love communism.

It is after nightfall that Potsdamer Platz imitates Dr. Jekyll changing into a monster.

You are enjoying the brisk evening air when suddenly it is rent by five giant loudspeakers blaring "Ami (American) go home!"

The loudspeakers (ironically, made in West Germany) are located atop the Soviet sector department store, in which volspolizei reserves wait on alert, staring through peepholes in shuttered windows on the second floor.

On the westside of the platz, a huge news board lights up. It is sponsored by West Berlin publishers with, perhaps, a little indirect fiancial support from the U. S. government. It bears the heading "The Free Berlin Press Reports."

Reds Try to Bloc It

But in the center of the platz, just inside Russian - occupied territory, a rival signboard is turned on in dazzling power. The communists built it in a rage to try to cover up the west's anti-Communist news.

Teen-age gangs from west and east gather, spoiling for a fight. They raid in both directions across the platz, scattering poisen-pen leaflets and smearing hate slogans with paint.

The Communist bunch calls itself "peace fighters". The westerners boast they are "fighters against inhumanity".

The delirium grows and the platz is jammed with two mobs ranting to spring at one another's throats.

But slowly and firmly, a gentlemen's agreement between the gray and blue police comes into effect. They turn off the electric signs and loudspeakers. The grays link arms and patiently shove back their long-haired rowdies. The blues disperse their flushed party agitators.

The platz empties gradually as if someone had half-pulled a cork. By midnight, it is a dark deserted square in a beat-up town.

BRITON BIDS FOR PEACE IN KOREA

Says U. N. Will Continue To Uphold Charter By Staying In Fight

Lake Success, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Britain's Kenneth Younger told Red China today that if she stops fighting in Korea and submits to the U. N. charter, the way should be open to free cooperation between the Chinese and the nations of the east and west.

Younger, whose country is one of the 17 U. N. members recognizing Red China, told the U. N. assembly's political committee that U. N. troops are in Korea to uphold the principles of the charter. He said they would continue that course.

He spoke shortly before the communique on the talks in Washington between President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee was made public. Younger's speech here lined up Britain firmly with the United States in pursuing the U. N. efforts in Korea, a point also stressed in the Truman-Attlee communique.

Few delegates wanted to comment on the communique until they had a chance to study it. Jacob A. Malik, Soviet deputy foreign minister, shrugged off questions with a grin and said he would have to read the text. A text was sent to him but there was no immediate comment from the Soviet bloc.

Younger endorsed again a six-power resolution, of which he is a sponsor, which calls on Communist China to withdraw its troops from Korea and pledges the protection of the Chinese-Korean frontier. But his speech was devoted mainly to telling Red China it will have to choose its course now.

"If they will stop the killing and put themselves within the pale of the charter's principles," he said, "there is no reason why the way should not be open to a period of free cooperation between China and the nations both of east and west who are represented around this table."

"The central people's government of the People's Republic of China are faced with an historic decision." Younger continued. "The choice they now make will determine whether future generations will curse or bless their name. The time for the choice is now. They must be under no illusion about the grim prospect which opens out for them and for all of us if they choose wrongly. Equally, they should know that we here in the United Nations will neither do nor say anything which will make it more difficult for them to choose aright."

He rejected Russian contentions that the Communist Chinese in Korea are volunteers.

Henderson Trial Nears Completion

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Closing arguments were made Friday in the trial of J. Stacey Henderson of Shreveport, La., on charges that he sold oil leases fraudulently.

As the case neared an end, three witnesses testified that they had been given no guarantee they would get returns on investments made with Henderson. They said they had been told only "it was a pretty good thing."

The three were Dr. Bunyan Webb, Lee Maydwell and R. C. Copeland, all of Memphis. The government charges dozens of Memphians were sold leases although Henderson knew "them to be worthless." He denied any fraud.

He is charged with violation of the Federal Securities Act and with mail fraud.

Proposes Egg Trade Suspension

Philadelphia, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Egg prices have skyrocketed so high in the last few days that the Philadelphia produce exchange proposed today trading be suspended here an dat exchanges in New York and Chicago.

It sent telegrams suggesting suspension to the New York merchantile exchange, the Chicago merchantile exchange and the U. S. department of agriculture.

Top quality large eggs sold in stores here today for as high as 95 cents. Leaders in the trade said they probably would reach a dollar a dozen or higher by Monday.

Aggravated Burglary Charged

New Orleans, Dec. 9.—(AP)—A 17-year-old youth who allegedly forced a New Orleans man at pistol-point to drive him to Lake Charles, La., Wednesday was charged with aggravated burglary in criminal district court here today.

John R. Heffner, 40, of New Orleans, told Lake Charles police officers the youth, James Harris Easley, Houston, Tex., forced him with a gun to drive from New Orleans to Lake Charles.

The charge against Easley was accepted by the district attorney's office. His bond was set at $5,000. Easley, however, is being held at Lake Charles on a charge of armed robbery, Lake Charles chief of police J. Harry Hebert said.

Heffner, a railroad employee, managed to escape in Lake Charles. Easley was arrested while attempting to hold up a service station at Lake Charles later yesterday, Hebert said.

Head-On Crash Fatal To Two

Picayune, Miss., Dec. 9.—(AP)—A head-on collision of two automobiles killed two persons and injured a third near here today.

State patrolmen identified the dead as L. V. McDonald, 56, and his 54-year-old wife, both of DeKalb, Miss.

The injured person was Kelly Morris, 18, of Picayune. His condition was reported as "very serious."

ARRESTED

R. C. McBroom, 410 Crosley street, was under a $300 bond. He was arrested around 2 p.m.

EMPLOYERS ASKED TO FUND MEETING

Those Hiring More Than 20 To Discuss St. Francis Campaign

The executive committee of the St. Francis building fund campaign announced Saturday that officials or representatives of industrial and commercial firms employing 20 or more persons will meet Thursday, Dec. 14, at the Virginia Hotel, Cameo Room, 6:30 p. m. to make plas for employees' participation in the $300,000 community campaign for modernization and new construction at St Fracis sanitarium.

"Invitations to the principals for 164 firms have been issued to attend the meeting," a member of many sources employes have been asking "When will we be given an opportunity to subscribe?" This proposed meeting is for the purpose of explaining the program and obtaining the full consent and cooperation of officers to permit employes to set up their own committees in the various firms which will be in charge of solicitation within their firms.

"Unless the employers consent to this," the spokesman continued, "employes who wish to help will be unable to do so and it is not fair to deny them this opportunity. The employes and their families are those who us the hospital to a great extent. Unless they are permitted to share in this fund-raising program, urgently needed additional facilities will be denied them.

"Hospitalization insurance is widely used and this places employes in this hospital more uickly than if there were no such insurance in force.

"It is the hope of the executive committee that the meeting will be well attended as it will facilitate matters greatly. we are attempting to prepare ourselves for the employes gifts campaign to open on January 3rd."

The committee also announced the appointment of Miss Freeda Mickel as chairman of the women's committee. Plans in this division call for a vice-chairman, five division leaders, 25 captains and 100 workers or a total of 132 workers in this unit.

"I am pleased to serve in this capacity," Miss Mickel said, "and I hope the women will respond to our call for volunteer leadership in this important campaign."

From campaign headquarters it was learned that solicitation of big gifts and special gifts now going forward in the community is producing good results and an announcement concerning these gifts will be made in the near future. Indications are that there are some $2,500; $2,000; $1,500 and $1,000 gifts pledged to date.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Wright and family of Shreveport spent last week end here with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Dopson and children of Houston, Tex., returned home Sunday after coming here after the death of Mrs. Dopson's father, Will Barnes.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Green of West Monroe spent the past week end at the home of Mr. Green's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Green.

Mrs. Alma Hale returned home last Thursday after spending several days in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Pat Wright of Shreveport.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Reece and children, Jay and Judy of Shreveport, spent last week end visiting relatives in Calhoun.

GRACE CHURCH IS EXPANDING

Will This Morning Throw Open New Educational Building

Grace Episcopal church is today writing a new page in its history with the throwing open, for the first time, the handsome new two-story brick educational building located immediately north of the original sanctuary. It represents a total cost of $65,000 for the structure and its furnishings and will care for expanding needs. A formal service will mark the opening at 9:30 a. m. today.

Rev. E. F. Hayward, rector emeritus, whose efforts and leadership have been such as to aid toward the satisfying of the need for added quarters, will participate in the exercises, together with Rev. David A. Jones, rector. Members of the junior choir, the building committe and the church vestry, are to be participants.

At this service members of all departments of the school will assemble in the church for a brief service and the presentation of the offering. Then will come brief announcements and assignment of classes. To the tune of "Onward Christian Soldiers," a procession of the various departments will march from the church to their educational building in an imposing array . . . A short prayer will be offered in front of the new structure when the classes will go to their new quarters.

Members of the building committee comprise: Rev. David A. Jones, Walter W. Kellogg, chairman; Tom Davenport, F. N. Steele Clyde Brown, D. L. Agnew and Harry Frazer, Sr.

CAPT. BELLAMY KILLED IN WAR

Gave Life In 3-Day Battle; Bravery Is Given Citation

Mrs. Freeling W. Bellamy has been officially notified by the war department of the death of her husband, Capt. Freeling W. Bellamy, killed in action in Korea Aug. 11 last. The captain was stationed in Fort Lewis, Wash. and was sent to Korea as company commander of Company "B" 2nd Bn, 9th Inf. Reg., Second division. This division left Fort Lewis July 19 and debarked in Pusan, Korea, July 29. The ninth regiment went into action Aug. 8 and three days later the captain was killed in the battle of Cloverleaf hill.

The following citation together with a Silver Star were awarded stating:

"Captain Freeling W. Bellamy, Inf., Army of the U. S. a member of Co. B, 9th Inf. Reg. 2nd Inf. Div., distinguished himself by gallantry in action on August 11, 1950 near Yongson, Korea. On the morning of August 11, 1950, Co. B was attacking a numerically superior enemy force which had the advantage of well prepared positions, and superior fire power on Cloverleaf Ridge, in the Naktong river Salient. With complete disregard for his own personal safety, Captain Bellamy continually exposed himself to the intense enemy machine gun and mortar fire, so that he might better direct the action of his company. It was this courageous and fearless action on the part of Captain Bellamy that instilled in the men of the company the will to win, causing Company "B" to take its objective with a minimum of delay and loss of personnel. Through his inspiring leadership, tactical ability and unremitting devotion to duty, Captain Bellamy fully upheld the finest traditions of the military service."

Captain Bellamy was awarded the Bronze Star and two presidential citations for gallantry in World War II.

He is survived by his wife, the former Miss Frances E. Kennedy, of Oak Ridge and son, Jay; two sisters, Mrs. G. K. Gray, Imboden, Ark. and Mrs. F. E. Beyers, Weber's Falls, Okla.; two brothers, J. J. and R. B. Bellamy, Detroit, Mich. The captain held a majority in the Reserve and a warrant officer in the regular army. He was a native of Smithville, Ark. and was 37 years old. Both his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Bellamy are deceased.

Selman Given P.-T. A. Loving Cup

Mrs. J. H. Alford, president of Selman P.-T. A. met with the executive committee Friday afternoon. She displayed the loving cup awarded to Selman P.-T. A. by the president of Twin City council, Mrs. C. P. Guerriero, for having the largest membership increase for the year. Selman P.-T. A. is only in its second year and is exceedingly happy over this award.It represents 157 members, an increase over 1949-50 of 30.8 per cent. Mrs. Oscar Crawford, program chairman announced that Mack Avants, superintendent of Ouachita parish schools, would be the guest speaker at the regular December meeting, Thursday afternoon, December 14.

The Selman Girls' Chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Frances Manning will entertain with Christmas selections.

The home room mothers representing the third grades will be hostesses at this meeting.

Those present for the executive meeting were: Mrs. J. H. Alford, Mrs. Oscar Crawford, Mrs. Parker Pinholster, Mrs. Frank T. Smith, Jr., Mrs. Joseph Petch, Mrs. Chester Robert, and Mrs. G. B. Wilson.

Three Arrested On Liquor Charges

Two men were arrested by Monroe police officers Friday for operating motor vehicles while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. The men were: R. C. McBroom, 47, 410 Crosley street, West Monroe, and Samuel A. Corrodin, 36, 1500 Grammont street.

C. B. Pickett, 49, of Bastrop, was arrested by officers for being drunk and disorderly.

SCHOOL'S BAND PLANS CONCERT

Ouachita High To Offer Christmas Presentation 14th Time

Perhaps more than any other one thing music adds to the enjoyment of Christmas. This "universal language" knits all peoples together and brightens the yuletide season with beautiful old melodies, joyous hymns and cheery carols.

As is its custom the Ouachita Parish High School band is presenting for the 14th time its annual Christmas concert. This year's concert will be presented on Friday night, Dec. 15, at 8:15 p.m. at the Ouachita Parish High School auditorium.

Highlighting the program will be the overture to "Egmont" by Ludwig van Beethoven. This work is recognized as an artistic triumph in the classical field. T. H. McCrea, conductor of the band, has taken great pains to perfect this number in time for the Christmas program. Showing proof of its universal appeal, many band members have praised it as "one of the best the band has ever played."

In a lighter vein the band turns its attention to "The Syncopate Clock" by Leroy Anderson and the Polka from "The Golden Age" by Dmitri Shostakovich. A melodic little ovelty number, "The Syncopated Clock" depicts a slightly mixed up clock which has a difficult time running down. The Polka is a very modernistic work considered one of Shostakovich's best.

In the lighter classical field the band is presenting "Czech Rhapsody," a work by Jaromir Weinberger, containing many hauntingly beautiful melodies which end in a thundering climax. One of Bach's most beloved choral melodies, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," will add to the program. Of course, as it is a band concert, several outstanding marches will be heard.

Traditionally the program will end with everyone's favorite Christmas carols—"O Little Town of Bethlehem," "Silent Night," "White Christmas," "O Come, All Ye Faithful," and many others.

Tickets for the program may be purchased at the band office, Dew's Music Company, or from any band member.

Historic Ship Comes In With Cargo Of Trees

Philadelphia, Dec. 9.—(AP)—A historic three-masted schooner which was Admiral Richard E. Byrd's flagship on his first Antartic expedition has wound up a brand new kind of mission—this time for Santa.

The 65-year-old ship, "City of New York," which also sailed under explorer Ronald Amundsen's colors in one phase of its famous polar service, was berthed here today with a cargo of 40,000 Christmas trees from Canadian forests.

"We were like a great green haystack afloat," said Skipper Louis Kenedy at the end of a four-day voyage which he said was uneventful despite bad weather all the way from Bridgewater, Nova Scotia.

The captain spoke no more than the truth. For not only were the holds packed with tightly bundled trees, but the decks were stacked with them, too. Except for the catwalks, there was hardly a solid place to set foot. Even Kenedy's pet husky, seven months old, was hard put to find a patch of deck space.

Windblown in light dungarees and open jacket, and smoking a pipe which wouldn't hold a light, Kenedy said: "We've carried timber and salt fish, coal and oil, potatoes and a whole lot of other things, but never before anything like this. I had no idea there were so many Christmas trees in the world."

The ship's arrival drew hundreds of mothers and children to the pier. Despite a driving rain and the chill of the dockside the crowds kept coming, loaded with holiday parcels and clamoring to go aboar ship.

Tito Aid Bill Progressing

Washington, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Despite sharp protests against helping a Communist government, senate leaders pushed tonight for swift action on legislation to send additional food supplies to drought-stricken Yugoslavia.

Chairman Connally (D.-Tex) of the senate foreign relations committee agreed, however, to recast the bill so that no new appropriation would be required to aid Marshall Tito's Communist, but anti-Soviet, government.

The bill, as drawn would authorize an appropriation of $38,000,000 to help relieve drought conditions in Yugoslavia.

Senator McCarran (D.-Nev.) offered an amendment that would instead permit use of up to $50,000,000 of this year's Marshall Plan funds.

He said that at the present rate of spending this fund will have $500,000,000 to $1,000,000,000 left over.

Connally told the senate that he was willing to accept the amendment. The senate agreed to start voting at 4 p.m. EST, Monday on amendments, but set no time to vote on the bill itself.

This country already has furnished $31,400,000 of stop-gap aid to Yugoslavia by drawing funds from other programs.

Recommending the legislation, the foreign relations committee said in a report that Yugoslav military strength "might well be the crucial factor for the defense of western Europe."

U. S. MAY SOON EXCEL IN PULP

Southern Timber Executive Says Other Nations Ahead Of Timber Growth

Baton Rouge, La., Dec. 9.—(AP)—America's south and northwest soon will be producing practically all of the world's pulp wood, according to a southern timber executive.

Vice president James H. Allen of St. Regis Paper Co., Pensacola, Fla., is quoted in "opportunities unlimited—the story of our southern forests" as saying:

"New mill locations in Canada and the Scandinavian countries have cut timber well ahead of their growth program. No great new production can be looked for there.

"The future tifber suply (for pulp) must come from the south and northwest."

The publication, by the Illinois central railroad's agriculture department, also posed the question: How many new pulp mills can the south support?

In answer, it quoted Henry Malsberger of Atlanta, Ga., Forester of the Southern Pulpwood Conservation Association:

"I frankly, do not have any idea. The only thing I feel sure of is that when we get the forest lands in the south fully productive, we need not worry too much that there will not be a market for the product.

"I think industry has a way of finding out where the resaurce is available and then additional converting plants wil follow."

Classes To Be Held Despite School's Ruin

Hattiesburg, Miss., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Classes at Oak Grove Consolidated School, destroyed by fire Friday, will be resumed Monday in four buildings on the school grounds and the Oak Grove Methodist church.

Officials of the 400-pupil Lamar county school, located eight miles southwest of Hattiesburg, made plans today for holding classes in the makeshift classrooms.

Damage from the fire was estimated at $150,000 by school officials.

H. H. Barrett, principal of the Oak Grove high school, said the board of trustees will meet next week to consider plans for replasing the building.

Barrett said the origin of the fire has not been determined.

A CHRISTMAS CAROL

By Charles Dickens

HODGE

The Rebekah Class of the Jonesboro Baptist Church met Tuesday night Nov. 28 with Mrs. Annie Lee Vough in the home of Mrs. Etta Stuckey. The business meeting was opened with a prayer and the minutes of the last meeting were read by the class president, Mrs. Agnes Irvin.

Visitation, helping some Christian girl in school, financially, absenteeism and plans for a Christmas party with the Mary Class comprised the business attended to. New officers were submitted by the chairman of the committee, Mrs. Carmon Irvin. The closing prayer was given by Mrs. John Hurt. Delicious refreshments were served to the following members: Mrs. Carmen Irvin, Mrs. Era Rhymes, Mrs. Rose Marie Tudor, Mrs. Ora Colvin, Mrs. Agnes Irvin, Mrs. Jane Hurt, Mrs. Grace Getter, Mrs. Rolena Paery, Mrs. Virginia Barr, Mrs. George Robinson, Mrs. Etta Stuckey and the hostess, Mrs. Annie Lee Vaughn.

According to the reports from the Christmas parade committee, plans are about to be completed for one of the most colorful parades ever to be staged in the twin towns of Jonesboro and Hodge. The parade will begin in Hodge at four p.m. Dec. 15 and proceed to Jonesboro. Drady Carothers, Goldthwaite ranchman, with reindeer he corralled inside the Arctic circle to pull Santa's sleigh will be on hand for the parade. This is Carother's third Alaskan expedition to find reindeer for Santa Claus and his children of this area.

The merchants and businessmen of Jonesboro and Hodge are making every effort to make this parade one of the best. Prizes will be offered for the best float. The Jonesboro-Hodge band will lead the parade.

Leaving for pre-examination to the armed service will be Leslie Raborn, Alfred Lee Matthews, Jr., Douglas Murphy, Eddie Earl Costin, Gerald Hoye Bryant. These boys will leave Wednesday for their pre-induction physical. According to recently released data Louisiana will furnish 894 inductees for the month of December.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Cope of Quitman had their son, Donald, home for his last visit before he sailed for overseas duty. Donald has been in service for the past two years.

Mr. and Mrs. Drew Jimerson were business visitors in Ruston Monday afternoon.

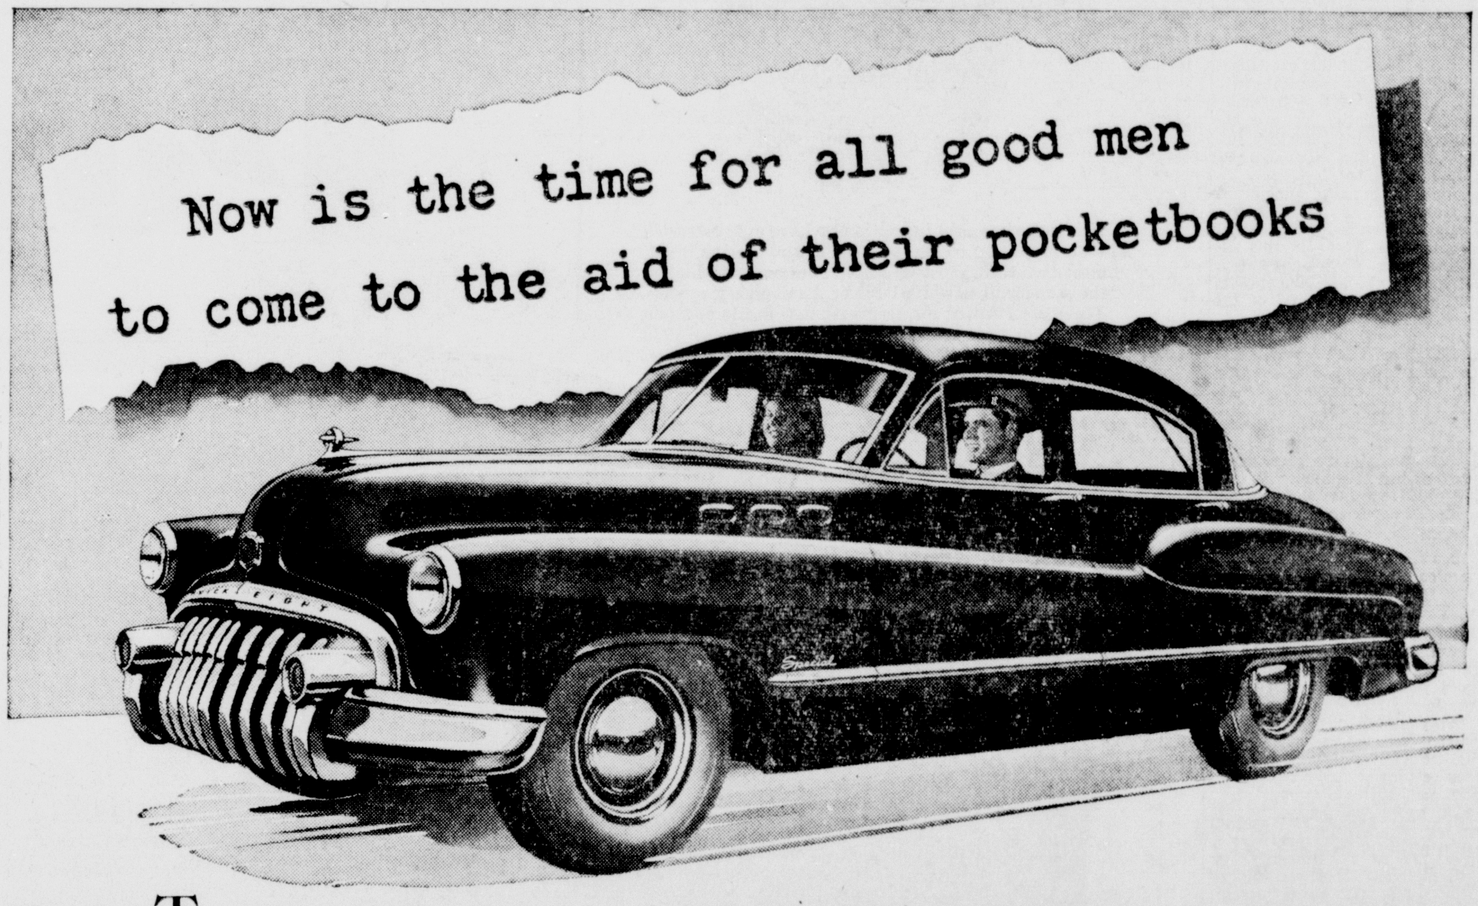

Of interest to friends in this area is the announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Geraldine Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Brown of Hodge. The wedding will take place during the month of December. The groom-elect is Mr. Irvin D. Perry, son of Mrs. Clara Perry of Hodge Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Jones are happy to learn that their daughter, Mrs. Leta Marie Stratton, has sufficiently recovered from an attack of polio to be allowed to return to her home in Plain Dealings. She was released from the polio center in Baton Rouge last week after being a patient there for the past nine months. Mrs. Stratton is now able to walk with the aid of her crutches.

Friends are happy to learn that the condition of Mrs. Sam Anderson has sufficiently improved to lowed to return to her home in in Hodge. She was a patient in a Jonesboro clinic for several days where she underwent a throat operation.

There's been a lot of talk in recent weeks about "the buying power of the dollar"—past, present and future.

We can't foretell the future—but we can tell you this right now:

You'll look a long way before you'll find a car that offers as much for the money as you can get in a 1950 Buick.

Close to half a million of these cars have been built and sold this year.

Close to half a million people have checked their features and prices against the field—and decided they'd better buy Buick.

As to prices—they start down below some sixes. And whether you price the SPECIAL, the SUPER or the ROADMASTER, you'll find, on a cents-per-pound basis, that few other cars can touch them for value.

And this is for sure! When it comes to performance—ride—the way they handle and hold the road—and thrifty use of fuel and oil—Buicks have never been finer.

That's another way of saying that coil springs on all four wheels—Dynaflow*—torque-tube drive—and Buick's high-compression, high-economy Fireball power produce an out-of-this-world combination.

So if you want your dollars to do extra duty—the time to act is now.

Look at the price tags—look at the features—sample the power and thrill that you get for your money—and you'll know what we mean.

Iowa Farmers Worry Over Land Boom

Des Moines—Good Iowa corn land—and that's about as good as you can find-is riding a price teeter-totter these days.

On one end is demand. It's strong. On the other is supply-which is quite limited. Very little choice farm land is offered for sale.

Could this situation explode into another land boom-and bust similar to 1920 when farms sold as high as $700 an acre?

That is what economists are asking as they study such reports as these:

Bankers and brokers, according to an Associated Press survey, estimate land prices have increased from 8 to 20 per cent, much of the price jump coming in the months since the start of the Korean War.

One Iowa farm sold for $555 an acre. Another went for $478 and still another for $400. A farm appraised at $75 an acre five years ago sold recently for $175 an acre.

A Mason City banker advised Iowa farmers:

"If you don't want to sell your farm, don't price your land at what you consider an unreasonable price just to get rid of the buyers. The speculators might buy."

In terms of doliars, real estate men report prices up in the last year from $5 to $30 an acre on poorer farms and up to $50 an acre on good farms.

W. F. Wahrer, secretary of the North Central National Farm Loan Association which serves four north Iowa counties, says the average farm price is up 60 to 70 per cent over five years ago.

In the 1920 land boom, 10 per cent of Iowa's farm land was sold during the year ending March 1, 1920. In one county alone 516 farm sales were recorded, twice as many many as for any single year for the 10 previous years. The average sales price was $289 an acre.

The grim harvest was reaped first with the break in the 20s and then with the general mortgage foreclosures in the 30s. In 1933, eight percent of the state's farm land was owned by corporations. This mounted by 1939 to 12 per cent. Insurance companies held the greater part of this.

By 1946, most of this land was back in private hands. Farmers who were wiped our in the 30s, today own farms again and are in a good financial position.

Since 1940, the average per acre price of Iowa farm land has been steadily rising. In 1940 it was $79, and as of Nov. 1, 1949 it was $177.

William G. Murray, professor and head of the department of economics at Iowa state college, says of the rising price trend that there is not nearly the speculative buying today that there was in 1919 20 boom.

Murray, who has made a study of land prices in Iowa, says the buyers in the Iowa farm land market today-and they greatly outnumber the sellers-consist generally of two classes:investment buyers seeking a hedge against inflation, and the farm tenant forced to buy when the owner of the farm he is operating sells. This buyer is in much the same position as the city dweller forced to buy a home in a tight housing area.

The capital gains tax has pretty much deterred persons from selling one farm and buying another to make a profit.

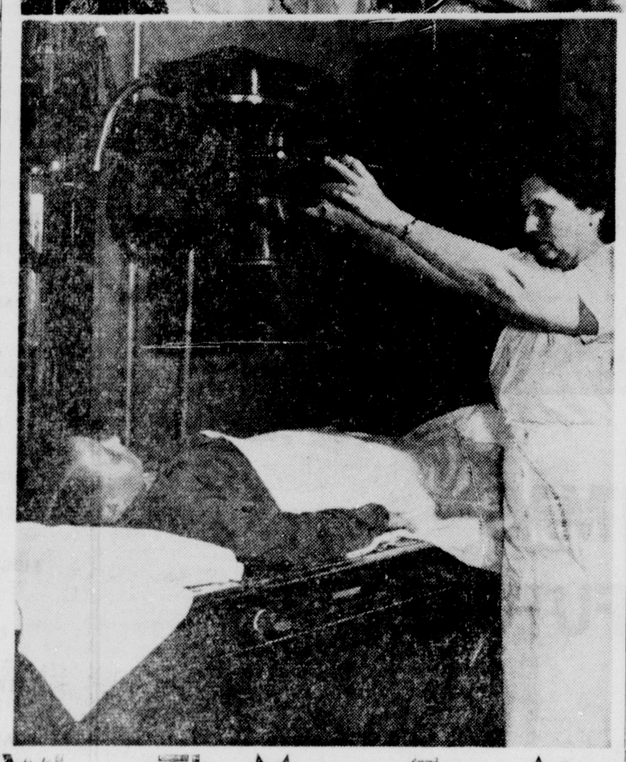

Murray said the high per-acre prices some farms bring today can be misleading because they are often not average size farms.

"The great demand today is for the small tract, well improved," he explained. "When one of these is sold, it brings a very high price because improvements (home and outbuildings) are very expensive today."

The difference in the farm mortgage debt now and in the 1920s is also indicative of a more healthy economic situation. Iowa's farm mortgage debt reached a peak in 1924 of $1,567,032,000.Today it is only about one third of that.

HERE'S WHERE THE MONEY GOES

The operating room, top, and the X-ray room, right, represent two of the more expensive departments in the modern hospital. In addition to the cost of surgical services, the patient also pays his share of the cost of the elaborate equipment and costly materials used, and the salaries of the numerous trained specialists in surgery. Salaries of the technicians and department supervisor and the cost of the complex and expensive equipment necessary are included in the charges for use of the X-ray room. Where The Money Goes At St. Francis Sanitarium

Present Hospital Represents Construction And Costs Spread Over 35 Years; Monthly Payroll Averages $25,000 For 190 Employees

By Jim Reynolds
(Of the Morning World Staff)

Along about March 15, or maybe at the end of each month, the average wage earner may be heard wailing: "Where does the money go?"

We're not economists . . . we do the same screaming weekly . . . but we heard this question being expanded a bit to cover the present campaign for $600,000 for the expansion of facilities at St. Francis Sanitarium.

"What happens to the money the patient pays?" ask many citizens. "Why can't St. Francis pay for its own building out of revenue, instead of asking the community it serves to shoulder part of the financial load?"

Those are pretty good questions. To find equally good answers, if we could, we went straight to the records of the hospital, enlisting the help of one of the hundred Twin Cities residents on the drive's executive committee.

"The first point you must remember," he told us, "is that the construction of this new building and its facilities represents an investment of $1,600,000. That's quite a bit of money, (understatement of the week, we thought) and in order to have the assurance of government aid in the construction of the building, we need to have that money right at hand. The present hospital represents construction and costs spread over a period of more than 35 years."

The hospital is a non-profit institution, and a necessary one. When the old building is torn down, work must begin immediately on the new one. What money has been saved from income is represented by the total amount of construction already done on the hospital and outbuildings. The Franciscan Sisters have pledged $512,000 which represents all the rest of their savings and an additional venture into debt for them.

Then we got around to the discussion of what actually happens to the money the hospital collects from its patients. Nobody had to tell us that being in the hospital is an expensive proposition. Costs of materials, service and equipment have skyrocketed, and the patient who uses the hospital has to dig down deep to cover that price increase.

The first jolt we got in our plan to dissect the financial life of the hospital was when we heard that the monthly payroll averages about $25,000. That's a sum we'd call colossal if we weren't being objective about it. Matter of fact, it still is colossal.

The employe list of the hospital includes 50 registered nurses, another 50 aides, countless technicians and other workers in addition to the necessary maintenance help. The total number of employes now stands at 190 . . . an indication of where a big, fat portion of the cash must go.

Occasionally the hospital income does exceed the general operating costs; when it does, the excess is promptly applied in good hospitals to the purchase of new and improved equipment and the replacement of old and obsolete items. The expensive, up to date equipment in the operating room, the fine new instruments in the Pathology laboratory, the X-ray machines and all the other necessary additions to the physical plant were all made available through careful saving and continuous economizing.

One of the ways in which St. Francis has saved money enough to add equipment is represented by the ten nuns who serve at the hospital around the clock. None of them are paid . . . no sister has ever been paid for her services at St. Francis. Their only recompense is their food and maintenance.

Just what, we wanted to know, is included in our "hospital bill?" The bill itself seems fresh in our memory . . . especially the total . . . but just what it entailed was a bit of a mystery.

First, we were told, the bill includes a room charge, the daily charge for routine hospital services. At first glance, if you compare it to a hotel charge, it looks pretty high. At St. Francis, the average cost of the most popular rooms is $7.50 per day.

Garlic, Red Wine and Verse Make Marriages Go To Dogs

By Richard Kleiner
(AP Newsfeatures Writer)

Is love grand? Just think of it — one man and one woman, living only for each other, making plans together, raising a family, going through the years in blissful harmony. Of course, sometimes love fades, for one reason or another.

During 1950, love faded for quite a few couples. And what caused it to fade? Well, gather round and listen to some grounds for divorce:

A Fort Worth, Tex., woman asked for divorce. She said her husband woke her up in the middle of the night and said to her: "You would make a beautiful corpse."

Atoinette Zegras of Oakland, Calif., told the court that her husband had the unpleasant habit of eating raw garlic and drinking red wine. Then he would breathe in her face.

Mary McElhanie of San Jose, Calif., had to put up with a husband who put a loaded pistol on the bedside table before they went to bed. He would add, she charged, "There's going to be a murder around here some day."

Another husband whose marriage hit the rocks was poetically inclined. Julia Whaley of Knoxville, Tenn., was granted a divorce after she showed the court a verse her husband had written her:

"Your eyes may shine,
Your teeth may grit,
But none of my money
Will you git.
Phooey on you."

Then there was Mary Kelly, of Montclair, N. J. She testified that her husband slept with a hammer and a hatchet under his pillow. When she asked him what they were for, she said, he told her, "I'll conk you."

Eileen Barrett of Chicago was a 200-pound wife whose husband wanted her to lose weight. But she objected to his method, which was to hit her in the stomach every time she tried to eat.

From Miami, Fla., came the sad plaint of Marjorie Baughman. She sued her husband of four months for divorce, complaining he treated her as a child. Marjorie was 15.

Blanche Socha of Milwaukee, Wis., thought her husband was too free with his interpretation of the Sir Walter Raleigh story. She charged that her husband forced her to put a board across a mud puddle for him to walk on. She said she had to wade through ankle-deep mud.

Another Milwaukee wife, Narvelle Witherspoon, complained that her husband took too long buying a turkey. He went out for the bird Thanksgiving Eve in 1948 and didn't come back until Christmas Eve, she said, without the bird. But he had a logical explanation—he said he'd been sleeping in the basement.

Also sports-minded was Shirley Losey's husband. In seeking a divorce in Los Angeles, Shirley complained that he hadn't complied with a court order to return her prize bowling ball. So he produced it—squared on one side with the holes filled with lead.

Elizabeth Deckard of Los Angeles charged that her ever-loving had other girl friends. To make things worse, he bought them gifts and charged them to her charge account.

Are husbands dogs? Not quite, if you note the testimony of three husbands. Roy Canfield, of Kearny, N. J., said that his wife fed a neighboring man's dog for years. When the man moved, she went along. She said she couldn't bear to be separated from that dog.

Then there's George Kleinschmidt of Cincinnati. He said their dog "came first in everything." Once, he told the court, somebody stepped on the dog's foot. "She picked it up and asked me to kiss its foot," he said.

Cleveland, O., husband John Ambicki told a divorce court that he had to play second fiddle to a Dalmatian. "On the marriage night," he charged, "upon retiring to bed I found her large Dalmatian dog lying in bed with his head on the pillow." When he protested, his bride said: "My dog comes first and if you don't like it, go to sleep on the couch."

Unhappy for a different reason entirely was Mrs. LeRoy Nichols, of Paterson, N. J. She charged her husband with cruelty. She said he made her sit on his lap, embraced her and kept her from doing her housework.

More Food For British Yule

(Associated Press Newsfeatures)

London—This will be the closest to a ration-free Christmas that Britain has enjoyed since 1940, but many old food favorites will still be missing.

Butchers already are predicting that pork will be hard to get. They probably won't have enough even for regular customers, although the present meat ration is only 23 cents weekly.

Turkeys are still scarce and other shortages continue in sugar, butter, eggs, tea and bacon. Housewives making their own puddings and cakes will have a hard time candied peel.

But the ministry of food has just lifted the four-pound weight restriction on confectioners' cakes. Shoppers now can order any size of cake, iced and decorated, paying the controlled price of three shillings ninepence a pound.

Other welcome changes are the large quantity of Christmas puddings, by reputable manufacturers, already lining the shelves. And, for the first Christmas in years, cookies of all kinds are off ration and in quantity.

A pleasant surprise this year will be a large variety of canned prepared foods, off ration for the first Christmas since France was invaded in 1940. Most are French, Danish, Dutch, Belgian or Polish, but there also are canned corncobs, corn kernels and other delicacies from Canada and the United States.

Canned fruits generally are in ample supply but canned peaches, pears and pineapple still make only rare appearances on the shelves.

To amplify the scanty meat ration there are cooked Dutch chickens, canned whole, and tins of cooked ham weighing anything from 16 ounces to 10 pounds.

Spanish Fort Bids For Antique Crown

MISSISSIPPI Valley's oldest: Old Spanish Fort.

AP Newsfeatures

Pascagoula, Miss. — Pascagoula's historic Old Spanish Fort, built 230 years ago by an officer of a French exploring party, has been rededicated with a challenge for antiquity.

The Jackson County Historical Society, which helped rehabilitate the sturdy three-room structure, claims it's the oldest building in the Mississippi Valley. Other sections of the valley were challenged to produce an older one.

Pomp and pageantry marked the day long ceremony dedicating the structure as an historic shrine.

Actually the name of the shrine is a misnomer. The structure was neither Spanish-constructed nor intended as a fort. It was built by Sieur Joseph de la Pointe, an officer with the French explorer Jean Baptiste Bienville, for his home. Later, however, it was occupied by Spanish troops — hence, Old Spanish Fort.

Walls, made of oyster shells, moss and sand, are almost a foot thick. The low, wood-shingle roof is supported by hand-hewed timbers.

Pick Your Gifts From The Zodiac

By Saul Pett
(NEA Staff Correspondent)

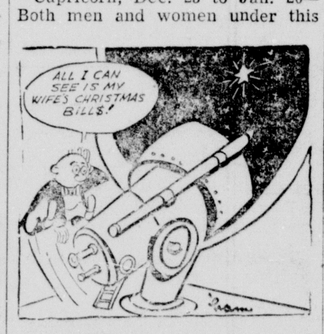

New York — Having trouble choosing Christmas gifts?

Well, consult the stars. They'll tell you everything but how to pay for them.

Says Helene Paul, astrologer: "If everyone based their Christmas shopping selections on the brithdates of the people they're shopping for, there would be less returns to the stores after the holidays. After all, everyone's personal likes and dislikes are acquired at birth, according to the planetary position at the time."

So, Mrs. Paul has drawn up a handy shopping guide based on the Zodiac. This is what you should buy for people born in the following periods and under the following signs:

Capricorn, Dec. 23 to Jan. 20—Both men and women under this sign prefer practical things. Like anything made of leather, belts, shoes, house - slippers, wallets, gloves, luggage, tooled leather desk accessories, also objects made of stone or marble or onyx. Lucky colors: oxford grey, bottle green and black. Lucky gems: Onyx, moon stone, sardonyx.

Aquarius, Jan. 21 to Feb. 19—For both sexes: an airplane, auto, radio, television set, electric train, antique furniture or jewelry or modern painting, anything powered by electricity such as an electric massage machine or electric tool kit. Lucky colors: palid, modern prints, mixed colors. Lucky gems: sapphire, opal.

Pisces, Feb. 20 to March 20—For men: liquor, fishing tackle, fish (canned or smoked). For both sexes: boat, raincoat, elaborate storm boots, bedroom slippers, aquarium full of exotic fish, bathing suit, season opera ticket. Lucky colors: from palest mauve to orchid and purple. Lucky gems: moon stone, chrysolite.

Aries, March 21 to April 20—For women or girls—hats, hair ornaments, bright red jewelry, personalized match sets or vanity cases in bright red. For men or boys—boxing gloves, war games, pen knives, hunting equipment, tool chest, brush and comb sets, canes, smoking and shaving equipment. Lucky color: red. Lucky gems: Amethyst and diamond.

Eisenhower Purchases Farm Near Gettysburg

Gettysburg Farmers Fear Invasion From Washington After Ike Moves In; Theories Circulating Why General Picked This Spot

By Douglas Larsen

Gettysburg, Pa. —(NEA)— Citizens of this historic Civil War battleground city fear that Gen. Eisenhower's purchase of a farm three miles out of town heralds an invasion of "gentlemen farmers."

And there are a lot of theories going around about why the famous general picked this spot for a permanent residence. The most popular one is that citizenship in Pennsylvania makes him a much more eligible presidential possibility, with the state's large number of electoral votes.

"Gov. Dewey has promised to give New York's support to the general, and being a Pennsylvanian will also give him an inside track on this big state's support," one wily town politican sizes it up.

"It puts the general in the right state to keep his eye on Stassen (president of the University of Pennsylvania), a strong contender for the Republican presidential nomination," he adds.

Two other theories on Ike's decision to move here involve George Allen, former head of the RFC, White House intimate and better known as President Truman's court jester. Allen, it is revealed, arranged the whole deal, and in fact persuaded the general to select this site. Allen bought a small farm a few miles from the Eisenhower place a year ago.

This might mean, they say, that the very cagey Allen is trying to woo the general into the Democratic party ranks, or, convinced that Ike will make it as the Republican candidate, is sticking very close to him. Ike and Allen struck up their very warm friendship when the late President Roosevelt sent Allen to Europe to case the possible political ambitions of the general, who was becoming more world-famous every day.

The more practical farmers around the town are convinced that Allen is organizing a big land boom for the area. Most of the farmers say that they have been made several offers for their places in the last few months. They think this is behind the mysterious survey of the area which was done early last summer.

Allen S. Redding, the man who sold out to the general, says he believes it is the start of a "big diplomatic colony." And three high state department officials are said to be dickering for places "through Allen's agent" for nearby farms.

It just so happens that Gettysburg is only 20 miles out from the new 50-mile defense perimeter established for greater Washington, and about the closest safe place in case of atomic bomb attack.

Earl Brandon, the farmer who will be Ike's closest neighbor, is strictly unimpressed by the development. He says Redding is the finest neighbor a man could have and it was up to the general to prove himself as good a one. Ike's other new neighbors expressed similar sentiments.

The whole area is among the best farm land of the nation. Sale price to the general was about $40,000, which included 24 excellent Holstein cows, 600 chickens, a couple of pigs and a five-gaited riding horse. The house is a modernized 100-year-old brick structure with nine rooms and one bath. A huge barn and four smaller sheds are in the cluster of buildings, which stand on a hill about in the center of the 189-acre farm.

The Ike farm lies just west of the historic battleground where the southern wing of the Confederate army was located during the fight. It is on a hill and overlooks some of the most beautiful countryside in the nation.

It isn't known who'll run the farm for Ike. The milk alone brings in $1000 a month, and eggs and other crops make the place a highly profitable business. The Reddings are retiring to one of their big houses in the city.

Best guess is that it will cost Ike about $50,000 to redecorate the house and make it into an estate-type place. It's solid and very neat but not fancy and not equipped for much entertaining. Mrs. Ike says that she is going down right after Christmas to start putting the place in shape. For plain living and farming it is in perfect shape right now.

The Eisenhowers are not strangers to Gettysburg, although they have no close personal friends there. Ike was commanding officer of nearby Camp Colt during World War I and gave the commencement address at Gettysburg College two years ago. He got acquainted with many leaders of the 7000 townsfolk at that time.

Unless the big "gentlemen farmer" boom materializes, however, the Eisenhowers will have a chance to do a lot of simple living there. As one prominent clubwoman puts it, "we'll just love to have Mamie at our ice cream socials."

THIS CHRISTMAS— GIVE THE PRESENT WITH A FUTURE!

OF COURSE, your children will receive all of the exciting toys and gifts and games that make Christmas so wonderful when we're young. But, this Christmas, why not give them another present besides, a present with a future, safe interest-earning United States Savings Bonds!

Each bond represents money set aside for your child's future, money that will some day help him make some dream come true. Money that will keep on growing and earning for him—that will give him an important sense of thrift and financial security which will be invaluable to him in later life!

You'll find bond buying is the easiest gift shopping in the world. Because you can make your purchase conveniently at any bank, post office, or at the place where you work. And there's a price to please every purse—from $18.75 to $750!

So make this Christmas mean more to you and your children than ever before. Give them the gift that means a stake in their future, and in the nation that guarantees it. Give them United States Savings Bonds!

Look how your bond gift grows!

YOU PAY	BOND IS WORTH
	3 Yrs.	5 Yrs.	7 Yrs.	9 Yrs.	10 Yrs.
$ 18.75	$ 19.25	$ 20.25	$ 21.50	$ 23.50	$ 25.00

THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF MONROE
Grammont at Catalpa

Ernest Duncan Holloway, Minister.
That we may participate in the monetary support of the church and contribute to the liquidation of the educational building debt a thirteen-week program of tithing will be in operation, come January first, 1951. If we will enter into the plan whole-heartedly, all of us, funds will not only be forthcoming:all of us have really got a thrill out of the pan. This is the testimony of countless people. This plan has the backing of the general assembly, the planning committee, the session of the local congregation. "Where your treasure is, there will your heart be also."
"That Which We Can Do" is the theme of the morning message. This message was suggested by the remark of a famous and able United States senator. What did the man counsel?
"Prayer, A Cosmic Force" is the subject of the evening meditation. "More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of."
A hearty welcome awaits you at all hours of worship.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST
224 Auburn Ave.

"God the Preserver of Man" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, Dec. 10, 1950.
The golden text is: "The Lord is my rock, and my fortress, and my deliverer; the God of my rock; in him will I trust: he is my shield, and the horn of my salvation, my high tower, and my refuge, my saviour" (II Sam. 22:-2, 3).
Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And it shall come to pass, that before they call, I will answer; and while they are yet speaking, I will hear" (Isa. 65:24).
The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:
"The 'divine ear' is not an auditory nerve. It is the all-hearing and all-knowing mind, to known each need of man is always known and by whom it will be supplied" (p. 7).

GIFT PROGRAM BEING PLANNED

Will Be Held Sunday In First Presbyterian Church Here

Plans are underway for the most elaborate joy gift program in the history of the First Presbyterian Church. This is an annual event of the Christmas season, which this year will be presented next Sunday night at 7:30, the regular time for the evening service. Because of the unique nature of the program, it will take place in Fellowship Hall of the new educational building, so as to take advantage of the stage and lighting facilities.
These plans were disclosed by Mrs. C. G. Pearce, Jr., chairman of annuities and relief, who is coordinating the project. Mrs. Pearce states that the program will be varied, including biblical pageantry, traditional Christmas carols, a modern skit, candle lighting service, and the joy gift offering for ministerial relief.
The script for the event has been written by Mrs. T. Mickel, who is also directing it. She has set forth a new approach to the Christmas Story, calculated to fill the worshipper with the true spirit of the season. Unusual background music, combined with the songs of a vested choir, will highlight the occasion.
The December joy gift program, which is presented in all Presbyterian churches around the country, enables the board of annuities and relief to forward monthly checks to aged servants of the church. On March 31, 1950 there were 376 such homes: 77 ministers, 264 widows of ministers, 20 homes of orphans of ministers, and 15 unordained missionaries. Also, checks went to 277 homes of ministers retired on inadequate annuities, making a total of 653 families aided by the joy gift.
The program arranged for the First Presbyterian Church will appeal to people of all ages, stated Mrs. Pearce. The general public is invited to attend for an enjoyable evening, next Sunday evening, Dec. 17, at 7:30.

Presbyterian Men Will Lunch

The men's club of First Presbyterian Church will have last meeting of the year 1950 on Thursday night, Dec. 14, 1950 at 6:30 p.m., at Fellowship Hall.
The program committee, Sidney Stroud, chairman, and Fred Meyers, have a good program. The refreshment committee, Dr. H. H. Baur, chairman, states they will have a surprise supper. Elwood Kennedy and George Hemphill are also helping. Supper will be served by Mrs. M. E. Pickett and other ladies of circle from First Presbyterian Church.
All members who plan to attend, are asked to call Joe Trammell, class president, at 8730; E. A. Porter, Jr., secretary, 2-3225; Dr. H. H. Baur, 6035 or7432 or Elwood Kennedy 5860 or 2-2811.

An ordinary hen's egg will withstand a pressure of about 500 pounds to the square inch.

Bible Comments

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The Gospel of Jesus Christ is the good news of God. In its message of love and grace, and its revelation of the true way of life, it is in strong contrast with the bad news of the world, which our morning paper brings us day by day.
This news is of war and strife, of international suspicions and distrusts, jealousies and hatreds, of cold wars and threatening of tragedies of conflict abroad, and of crimes and gangsters, gamblers and grafters, greed, dishonesties, and incompetencies in high places at home.
It is, of course, good news that if wars are fought, aggression and violence are being overcome. It is a satisfaction that so many in high places and in low are true patriots, setting the interests of their country and the welfare of their fellowmen above all considerations of personal interest and gain.
It is good to know that in the world, in all countries today, even under great trial and persecution, so many are seeking to know and follow the Christian way of life. This dark world is not without rays of light and hope.
But the evil in the world is so great and so appalling, so scattered over the lives of men, and so entrenched in high places of material might and power, that one might almost despair of the triumph of Christ and His Gospel.
It is important, therefore, that we remember the condition of the Roman world in which the Christ lived on earth as did the Gospel, fulfilling the richness and greatness of the law and the prophets.
How did that Gospel take hold and spread in that indifferent, or hostile, environment? The Roman, trustful in the power of his might, and his world conquest, might well have looked with scornful contempt, upon a Jewish teacher and his few disciples.
Furthermore, the Christians talked about things strange to Roman ears: of love, enemies, forgiveness, blessings on the poor in spirit and the meek, and of a kingdom of love and peace that would conquer the world.
The secret of that growth, which we must learn, and from which we must profit, could bring the Gospel to triumph in the world of today.
I think it was two-fold. It was, first of all, an intense devotion and loyalty of the disciples to their Master.
Secondly, they found the reality of His mission and purpose spiritually strengthening. And with this was the witnessing, testifying what they had heard and seen, and through others passing on the story to others in a continuous chain of spoken experience and power.
It is that sort of Christian witnessing the world needs today; and it is only in such witnessing to the power of the Gospel that the triumph of the Christ can come in such a world as this.

MISSION LEADER

DR. H. M. HARRIS

CHINA MISSION WORKER HERE

Dr. H. M. Harris Will Give Experiences Of 40 Years In Orient

"Christianity vs. Communism."; "Is Communism in Russia and China the Same?"; "Russia's Plans for Your Future"; and other subjects in international importance will be discussed each night next week at the First Baptist Church in West Monroe by Dr. H. M. Harris of Clinton, Mississippi. Having spent forty years in interior China—Kaifeng Honan province—as a Southern Baptist missionary, Dr. Harris is in a position to give first hand information on the condition of that country economically, politically, and spiritually. The Chinese civil war caused Dr. Harris to return home about a year ago as has been true of several hundred missionaries of all Christian faiths.
The Woman's Missionary Union of the First Baptist Church engaged this famed teacher-missionary week but annual mission study wee but because his message is so vital and of such widespread interest has agreed to invite the entire church membership and all others interested in hearing this interesting speaker.
Because many youngsters will be attending these services with their parents the time was set for only one hour—7 to 8 p. m. This time was set so the younger members of the family could attend and return home at an early hour. These services will continue through Friday night, December 15, and be climaxed Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock worship hour as Dr. Harris answers the question, "Are all Chinese Communists now?"

F. P. Stubbs Class Will Meet Today

The Frank P. Stubbs Memorial Bible Class of First Presbyterian Church will have regular meeting Sunday, Dec. 10, at 9:45 a.m., Fellowship Hall. John Humble was speaker last Sunday, and there was a good attendance. Rev. Ernest Holloway will be the speaker for today.
James Jones, class president and E. A. Porter, secretary, invites all members to attend. Good music each Sunday with Leon Hammonds at the piano. Coffee, cakes and doughnuts served each Sunday after class closes.

Bristles in virtually all toothbrushes and hair brushes made in 1949 were of nylon, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

FORMER SCOUT LEADERS GUEST

Will Attend Annual Banquet Held Here On Tuesday Night

Former Scout executives of the Ouachita valley council are returning to Monroe this week to participate on the program of the council's silver anniversary banquet to be held at the Hotel Virginia, 7:00 p. m., Tuesday, December 12.
Jack J. Keith, Scout executive at St. Louis, Missouri, one of America's largest Scout councils, will make veteran awards at the meeting. Two members of the council's executive board, Judge E. L. Walker of Ruston and S. L. Maxwell, of Canebrake, were members of the board when Mr. Keith organized the council in 1925 and will be presented 25-year veteran pins by Jack Keith.
Jack Keith organized the Ouachita Valley Council in 1925 and led it to unusual accomplishments in its early days. After leaving here, he served as Scout executive at Little Rock, Oklahoma City and Houston before going to St. Louis. As Scout executive in St. Louis he supervises the program for over 25,000 Scouts who are members in his council.
George W. Simpson, deputy regional executive, from Memphis will also participate on the banquet program by presenting training awards to six Scouters of the council. Mr. Simpson served as Scout executive of the Ouachita Valley Council in 1933 and 1934. After leaving this council, he served as Scout executive of the Delta Council in Mississippi; and for many years he has been deputy regional executive of region five, serving the states of the mid-south.
Charles B. Cook, Scout executive at Chattanooga, Tennessee, will recognize fifteen Eagle Scouts who attained this high rank in 1950. Mr. Cook served this council as Scout executive in 1944 and 1945, then left here to accept the position of Scout executive in Chattanooga.
Floyd D. Huddleston, of Longview, Texas, immediate past Scout executive of the Ouachita Valley Council, will pay tribute to den mothers, scoutmasters, cubmasters and assistants who are now serving as leaders in the council. Many of these leaders were serving in leadership capacities while Mr. Huddleston was Scout executive of the council.
Colonel E. W. Palmer of Kingsport, Tennessee will bring the principal address of the evening. Colonel Palmer is chairman of the region five executive committee and a member of the national executive board of the Boy Scouts of America. He is chairman of several important national Scout committees and one of the leading volunteer Scouters in the nation. He is also very active in many other organizations on a national and regional basis and is quite in demand as a speaker throughout the country.
Other items on the interesting program include presentation of the Silver Beaver awards for distinguished service to boyhood, recognition of the districts in the council, Round-Up awards, and several additional features of interest to the several hundred Scouters and their ladies who will be in attendance at the banquet.
A. B. Clarkson, council president will preside over the banquet and the council's business meeting, which is to be held at 5:00 p. m. in the Virginia Hotel on December 12.

HELD OVER AT JOY

Tyrone Power Starred In Film Of Guerrillas In Philippines

An accomplishment not previously matched in the re-creation of the tireless battle and personal poignance of World War II is achieved by the great Twentieth Century-Fox drama, "American Guerrilla in th Philippines," which opened at the Joy Theatre Thursday. Tyrone Power and Micheline Prelle are the stars of this Lamar Trotti production, which shoots for and succeeds in setting a mark not before touched in realistic spectacular drama centering on the recent conflict.

Ira Wolfert's non-fiction best-seller was destined to make a great motion picture. It obviously had the makings. And with the kind of embellishments furnished by Lamar Trotti's script and Director Fritz Lang's eye and feel for drama of exceeding stature, that is the very kind of film in which "American Guerrilla in the Philippines" has resulted.

For one thing the cast superb. Power, the rugged world adventurer of many a noteworthy project, is at his best in the clean, crisp part of Ensign Chuck Palmer, caught no less in the Pacific war and its perils than in an adult, vital love affair with a woman married to a Filipino who is a victim of the warfare. Miss Prelle's beauty and depth of acting ability shine through. There is a fine supporting performance by Tom Ewell, erstwhile Broadway comedian who opens for himself new and unlimited horizons for screen portrayal. Robert Barrat is on hand for an amazing likeness to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, and a stirring re-enactment of that great figure of contemporary history. Other effective actors are Bob Patten, Tommy Cook, Juan Torena, Jack Elam and Carleton Young.

For another thing, "American Guerrilla in the Philippines" gains its peculiar significance and power from the authenticity, carefully documented by history, with which it has been staged. Employing a vast number of actors and incalculable materiel, all were sent to Luzon, Manila and other key Philippine locations for actual condition reproduction of invasion, warfare, struggle and the final, costly victory.

Writer-producer Trotti, switching dramatically from "Cheaper by the Dozen," has sponsored an important, well nigh memorable film. And Director Lang has fashioned it in kind, reaping a harvest of all-out spectacle, thrilling action, sense of history and strong personal drama. His result is the screen's triumph. "American Guerrilla in the Philippines" will live as long as our history and motion pictures endure.

Stage Show Slated At Paramount Saturday

Mrs. Perry Maupin will present her school of dancing pupils in stage performances at the Paramount theater next Saturday in matinee and night performances, Manager Melvin Greenblatt announced yesterday.

The stage shows will be presented at 3:30 and 8:30 p.m.

The revue is titled "Christmas Belles and Beaux of 1950," and is a sparkling song and dance presentation. It will feature adagio dances, novelty songs and other acts.

In connection with the stage show, the Paramount will show "The Fuller Brush Girl" on the screen, starring Lucille Ball and Eddie Albert.

FOR THE LOVE OF MAC!

Doris Day has a romantic as well as musical interest in cadet Gordon MacRae in this scene from the "West Point Story", Warner's heralded extravaganza, opening a three day engagement at the Paramount Theatre today.

James Cagney Tops Musical Cast Of Warner's 'West Point Story'

Virginia Mayo, Doris Day, Gordon MacRae Also Star In Gay Film

With the colorful background of the United States Military Academy, Warner Bros. brings "The West Point Story," one of the year's top musicals to the screen of the Paramount theatre today for three days.

In the film, a high-powered, talented cast is topped by James Cagney as a trouble-shooting showman who goes to West Point to stage a musical production set against a series of eye-filling spectacle, song hits, beautiful girls and military-perfect cadets. Lovely Virginia Mayo, Doris Day, Gordon MacRae and dancer Gene Nelson aid Cagney in this "Yankee Doodle Dandy"-type entertainment.

Not since "Tea For Two," "Rosie O'Grady" and "Silver Lining" has such top talent been brought together for a musical by Warner Bros. who set the style for the motion picture industry in military musicals some years back with "Footlight Parade," "Flirtation Walk" and others of that calibre.

"The West Point Story" is concerned with an unemployed Broadway director who journeys to the Academy to direct an amateur revue. There, he tries to buck Army routine and nearly gets the show cancelled, he's put through his paces as a regular plebe and causes general mayhem throughout the military establishment, winding up by not only getting himself in trouble but involving the other cadets as well. How this fast-talking showman finally manages to save the day for the group is the basis for much of the film's hilarity.

Among the songs featured in "The West Point Story," are By the Kissing Rock, B'klyn, You Love Me, Long Before I Knew You, It's Raining Sundrops and A Hundred Days To June — all written by Sammy Cahn and Julie Styne of It's Magic and Put 'Em in a Box fame.

SPIVAK PICKER OF 6 BEAUTIES

Dance Leader To Select Group For Tech's Yearbook

Ruston, Dec. 9.— (Special) — Charlie Spivak, who will play for the Christmas dance at Louisiana Tech on Saturday night, Dec. 16, has been selected to pick six beauties for the Lagniappe, Tech yearbook, Frances Anderson, editor, has announced.

Spivak will choose the six beauties from a group of girls nominated by the organizations on the campus. Each organization may submit one name as a nominee. Those girls selected will not represent any group in the annual.

The selection of the beauties will not be made at the dance. Spivak was asked to select the beauties earlier in the day, Dec. 16.

A telegram received by Miss Anderson from the orchestra conductor's manager read, "Spivak will be happy to choose your six beauties when he arrives at Tech to play for the Christmas dance."

The time for the contest will be arranged with Spivak and will not be a public program. Each beauty will be featured in the Lagniappe on a two-page layout, with a large portrait and a small, informal picture.

Beauties appearing in the yearbook last year were selected by the classes at the college.

AT THE JOY DRIVE-IN

John Hodiak and Hedy Lamarr in a romantic scene from MGM's exciting new picture, "A Lady Without Passport."

Bob Thomas: IN MOVIELAND

Lillian Burns, dramatic coach for most of MGM's top stars, believes there is no such thing as "a natural-born actor."

"The worst thing you can advise an actor is 'Be yourself,'" she remarked. "That is absolutely false. When you see an actor do a good role, he seems natural, but he is not being himself. He is merely doing a good piece of work."

Miss Burns, an intense woman whose conversation has a sense of the dramatic, pointed out that everyone has gestures that are natural to him. But, if you want to be an actor, these gestures have to be refined, made graceful and dramatic.

I put the old, old question to Miss Burns: "What makes a movie star?" She tried to elude, but I pinned her down.

"It is an intangible thing," she confessed. "A star does not have to be beautiful, though it is generally necessary to be pleasant to look at. A star does not have to be a great actor or actress. In the final analysis, a star has to be someone the public feels friendly to."

Miss Burns has helped coach to stardom four of the most popular girls on the screen today—Esther Williams, Jane Powell, Elizabeth Taylor and June Allyson. She analyzed their abilities:

"When Esther came to us a few years ago, her only professional experience had been with Billy Rose's aquacade at San Francisco. She had been turned down by every studio in town because they said she couldn't act. Well, perhaps she couldn't.

"But she was an attraction. And since we are in show business, that is what we are looking for.

"Jane Powell was a little girl with a cute face and a gorgeous voice. She came back to the studio after two pictures on the outside, neither of them very successful. But time and training proved her potential.

"Elizabeth Taylor was a strikingly beautiful girl of 12 when she came here. But she proved in 'National Velvet' that she was also capable of dramatic force.

"When June Allyson came here from Broadway, she was sure she could only be a soubrette (light comedienne). We had to convince her she could do real acting, such as she demonstrated in 'The Stratton Story.'"

Miss Burns added that none of the four, except Miss Taylor, is a real beauty. None is yet a great actress. But all have that certain something that makes a movie star.

Monroe Youth Is In Concert Role

The Shreveport Symphony will present its annual Christmas concert, dedicated to the youth of Shreveport, in the municipal auditorium there at 4 p.m. today.

Joe Monroe will play Liszt's "Hungarian Fantasy".

The admission is free and in all probability many Monroyans will be present.

Condors do not nest every year, and lay only one egg when they do.

Hedy Lamarr Stars At Joy Drive-In

"A Lady Without Passport" brings Hedy Lamarr and John Hodiak to the Joy Drive-In screen in a story of love, adventure and pulsating action which starts in New York City, shifts to Havana, Cuba, and culminates in an electrifying chase climax in the depths of the Florida Everglades.

Taking as its fictional premise the drama behind the smuggling into the United States of illegal immigrants, the story presents Miss Lamarr as the lovely European Marianne Lorress, desperately trying to gain entry into this country from Cuba, with Hodiak cast as Pete Karczag, the immigration inspector who first pusues the girl in line of duty, then becomes entangled for more personal reasons. Their first encounter at the Gulfstream Cafe in Havana, headquarters of the smuggling ring, Pete's wily impersonation of a Hungarian refugee, his subsequent exposure and gun fight with the nefarious Palinov, leader of the racketeers, leading up to the tensely gripping chase climax, which takes place in the depth of the Florida Everglades, makes for a romantic adventure drama of unflagging interest.

As the seductive Marianne, Hedy Lamarr has a role tailored to her glamorous personality and gives complete credulence to the part of the girl driven to desperate extremes in her endeavor to find a haven without benefit of passport. John Hodiak gives a rugged and forceful portrayal to the role of the immigartion inspector, with excellent supporting work contributed by James Craig as Pete's chief, George Macready as the "heavy," Steven Geray as the "Frenchman," and Bruce Cowling as the pilot who meets his death in an attempt to smuggle his airplane passengers into the states.

Colored Welfare Is Aiding Race

The Colored Welfare organization entered the civic life of Monroe several years ago through efforts of many well known citizens and today plays an important part in efforts to meet the needs of a large per cent of the population.

A big program is planned for the fiscal year ahead and for the Christmas season being bigger than in past years. Martha Long, wife of Rev. K. B. Long, capable secretary has launched a program which has reached out among the young people. Many have gone to her office for aid for gifts and none have been turned away. She plans to play Santa Claus to the youngsters in Monroe of her race, and she asks that each child write her office giving name, age and address and the deadline to get this information to her is set for Dec. 11. Every little child is to receive a beautiful doll.

The program also goes a step further and seeks to aid with medical care, hospitalization, groceries, and clothing.

It is stated that the citizens of Monroe stand solidly back of this energetic woman and promise to see that she has the gifts to donate.

With substantial men and women at the helm, it is assured that the welfare department here will be able to minister to the needs of worthy colored people.

NOTEBOOK

By Don Huth
(For Hal Boyle)

With U. S. Second Division, Korea—(AP)—The w ird convoy beat a bloody trail through a flaming five-mile roadblock.

It wo its fight, evacuating men of the American second division trapped in the Chinese Red bre s-through of the Chongchon river line in northwest Korea.

Two ambulances, three generals' field vans and four commandeered trucks were used to bring the men out. The division's headquarters company ran a gauntlet of withering fire to reach safety during the United Nations retreat.

"The best of my knowledge we didn't leave a wounded man behind," said Capt. W. O. Burla, 48, of Los Angeles.

The decision to evacuate the headuarters command post came about noon on Nov. 29.

Efforts to crack the roadblock had been unsuccessful. The command post had been under fire the previous night. There were at least 28 wounded already on hand to move.

"We lined up the ambulances, trucks and vans," Burla related.

"The two ambulances already were full. They were crowded with between 10 and 12 men each.

"We fell in behind the last group pulling out of the C. P (command post). It wasn't very long before we ran into heavy fire. The column slowed down. Killed and wounded men were lying all along the road."

Burla said the medics "were really wonderful. Gunfire was going on all around us, they worked among the men doing as much as they could for them. They worked like trojans."

The wounded were coming so fast the trucks filled up quickly. The side guard rails from disabled trucks were used to make a second tier so each vehicle could handle more men.

We just kept loading the wounded as we moved slowly along," Burla said. "If a truck blocked the road and was abandoned, we just rammed it off to the side.

"The boys would work alongside the road to determine if the men lying there were alive or dead. Sometimes it was hard to tell. It didn't make any difference who it was—American, Turk or South Korean. We picked them all up. We weren't thinking of individuals. We were thinking of the whole operation.

"It was pitiful to see some of those boys. Their faces were white with shock. But when they opened their eyes you could see how grateful they were. It made you almost want to cry. But it gave them confidence and you could see the color come back to their faces.

"When I even saw some boys who were wounded themselves helping other wounded boys get aboard the trucks. It seemed everybody that could was helping someone else."

It was a long and rough trip through the Chinese hail of fire which poured into the trucks as they moved south.

Some men who were wounded in action were wounded again after they had been loaded into the ambulance convoy The generals' vans were splattered with blood.

The final communique from the conference between President Truman and British Prime Minister Attlee in Washington is at once a call to Russia and China to join in making peace, and a declaration that the anglo-American allies stand pat on thei. principles.

The statement in effect might be regarded as a left-handed olive branch. The two statesmen offer to negotiate for an end to the Korea fighting, but declare that there can be "no appeasement". And Korea must be free.

For those who had expected sensational developments from these conferences, the results will be rather disappointing.

In at least one important instance the conferees found it necessary to agree to disagree. This was in connection with the divergence in policy involving Britain's recognition of the Red Chinese government while America stood by the Chinese nationalists on Formosa. They agreed that this shouldn't interfere with their general objectives.

One of the most important agreements was that the military power of the two nations should be increased as fast as possible, because adequate defense is necessary if war is to be prevented. And in this connection the communique makes the striking observation that if Russia and China chose they could alter their conduct so as to make these defense preparations unnecessary.

There again we get an invitation to make peace.

One assumes that this exchange of views must have been valuable to the two governments. The indications have been that some mighty plain language has been exchanged at some points—for instance in the discussion of Britain's recognition of Bolshevist China. And the bluntness can be all to the good in such cases.

It remains to be seen what the effect of the conference will be on the peoples of the western powers—a very impor ant consideration. One would think it might give a greater feeling of confidence, since allied policies have been at sixes-and-sevens in spots recently. And not to put too fine a point on it, considerable hard feeling has been evident.

I talked with a British observer about the conference, and he said he thought it would stiffen morale in both England and France. He pointed out that the two governments seemed far apart at the outset of the conference—a discouraging indication for the public. He thought the progress made would prove inspiring.

Europe, as he pointed out, is being assured that despite the Korean crisis she is not being forgotten. There has been a great fear in Europe that America would get too occupied with Asia. The western European powers also have feared American isolation.

As for divergence of policies, this British observer pointed out that the political left wings in Britain and France have exercised great influence. The British left wing has been trying to drive a wedge between England and America, and the difficulty of Prime Minister Attlee's government is that it has a majority of only five in the house of commons— a very insecure position.

As for the Korean crisis, Messrs. Truman and Attlee say they hope for a peaceful se tlement. President Truman also hopes it never will be necessary to use the atomic bomb. But "no appeasement."

NATIONAL YOUTH THEATER

Shown above is "Merlin the Magician," who will be presented under the sponsorship of the P.-T. A. to a local audience Monday (tomorrow) at 3:30 p.m. in Neville High School auditorium. This show has been shown to large New York audiences. The play tells how Merlin saves Prince Arthur from the evil hag of Grimey Castle. Among the many colorful characters are: Merlin, the magician; the prince, who is turned into a crow; the little doll girl; the evil hag and her wicked pet cat, Graymalkin; and Merlin's apprentice, Jeremy. There is one hour and a half of enchanting entertainment awaiting in "Merlin the Magician." On stage, during the course of the play, Merlin performs magic tricks which delight the entire audience. This is not a magic show, but a complete production with three sets and colorful costumes.

Farmers May Decide What To Ask Of Congress Soon

By Tim Parker

Dallas, Dec. 9—(AP)—What the nation's farmers ill ask of the next Congress may be determined in the next few days in Dallas.

The 32nd annual convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation begins Tuesday and ends Thursday.

The Bureau has trebled its membership in the last decade and is by far the nation's biggest farm organization. When the Bureau speaks, Congress listens.

Legislation for which the Farm Bureau claims principal credit includes:

Extension of social security to hired farm labor, the 1948 farm program with its flexible farm price supports, federal funds for rurual roads, rural telephone program, crop insurance, school lunches.

The Bureau also gets into some fields not directly connected with farming. It claims partial responsibility for the point four program for overseas technical aid, ratification of the Atlantic Charter, the reciprocal trade agreements, the Taft-Hartley labor bill.

All this was done through the farm Bureau's Washington headquarters. Nebraska-born Allan Kline, Iowa farmer who heads the Bureau, makes frequent appearances before Congressional committees. Kline has an ample staff of helpers in Washington.

Government, industry and labor will be represented by top-flight speakers at the convention. W. Averell Harriman, the president's foreign affairs assistant, speaks Tuesday. James B. Carey, C. I. O. secretary-treasurer, speaks Wednesday—just ahead of Henry Ford II, Ford Motor Company president.

What the Farm Bureau will ask of Congress this year probably will come out at the Thursday session. Resolutions over which a committee has been laboring here for several days will be presented then. Content of the resolutions, meanwhile, is a secret.

A source close to Bureau officers said today the resolutions will, in part at least:

1. Condemn the Branan plan again, though probably without naming it specifically. It is expected that principles upon which the agriculture secretary based his plan will be criticized.

2. Urge decentralization of some government agencies and criticize centralization of authority in the federal government.

3. Condemn the administration's public health program, which likely will be called "socialized medicine."

4. Urge continuance of flexible farm price supports.

The federation's beginnings go back to 1911 but two-thirds of its 1,449,715 farm family members came in within the last decade.

In 1941 membership totaled 518,031. In 1945, it was 986,136. Now it's almost a million and a half families. The Bureau figures it represents at least 5,000,000 farm people.

"We've grown big because the farmer has learned he has to organize," one member said. "Labor has its lobby in Washington, and the manufacturers, too. The farmer has to have an organization to do for him what he can't accomplish individually."

Only Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Maine do not have state farm bureau federations affiliated with the AFB. Pennsylvania may come in during the Dallas convention.

OUR CHILDREN

EDUCATIONAL EXPOSURE

One of the surest ways of interesting children in new ideas, indeed an essential way, is to expose them to experiences. You want a child to like to read? Don't talk about it but read good books and talk casually about them, as though you enjoyed them. Leave good books that children might like in handy spots. Tell them stores and say, "You'll get the whole of that story in Andersen's Fairy Tales, over there on that shelf."

You want children to learn about birds, flowers, the world of nature? Go with them to the woods and fields, carry a magnifying glass and binoculars, look at the things you find there. Let the children use the glasses and watch the creatures, the flowers and the surroundings. Just enjoy them and the children will catch the idea.

Of course you want the children to have the strength of religion to carry them through the ups and downs of daily living. Take them to church. Don't send them, take them. Invite the pastor to the house for dinner and let the children see that he is a human being, how jolly his stories are, how fine a man he is as he serves a great ideal.

You want your children to be useful persons so you help them get acquainted with the useful people of the community. The carpenter, contractor, laundryman, politician, lawyer, shopkeeper, teacher, doctor and dentist, all the men and women who serve the community, are worthy examples of usefulness and the more children know of them the better. Let them know by personal contacts how life is carried on the shoulders of the people who work day by day year in, year out. Let them understand that it is to these comforts they enjoy and that people they owe much of the they, in their turn, must serve to the best of their ability.

We cannot know what is hidden from us. Too often life's best values are hidden from children who later are expected to appreciate and value them. Only by direct, personal experience do we learn and parents have it in their power to offer their children these firsthand contacts that enrich their outlook and actions.

The parents who spend their vacation in a trip across the country to show their children something of their country's beauty, resources and industries do well. They give their children something that will enrich their lives and shape their attitudes toward their country.

That sort of education exposure is within the reach of every parent, in the home, in the community, everywhere. Do make use of it.

Parents must teach their children the facts about sex. Dr. Patri gives his excellent advice on the subject in leaflet P-3, "Sex Education."

James Marlow:

THE NATION TODAY

Washington, Dec. 9. —(AP)— — There was nothing sharp or fiery about the statement issued by the White House after the six meetings between President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee.

In fact, at a time when American and other United Nations troops were being killed by Chinese in Korea, the statement was studded with suggestions for peace.

But a few hours later in New York, Secretary of Defense Marshall, urging manufacturers to great arms production, predicted the best this country could look forward to for years was "prolonged tension."

The statement on Truman and Attlee said they would like to talk peace with the Chinese. It didn't reveal what decision they agreed upon—if any—if the Chinese spurn the peace suggestion.

(Informed British diplomats told reporters the two men did not reach a decision on this because of the uncertainities of the battle situation in Korea.)

The statement indicated they would leave the decision on China up to the United Nations. It is possible that at this moment the western world can't decide what to do about the Chinese if they insist upon throwing the U. N. forces out of Asia and into the sea.

Of course, strong threats by this country and Britain might have given the Chinese and Russians a talking point they could use in excusing even more drastic aggression than that already committed.

Perhaps Secretary Marshall gave a good indication of what was on the joint Truman-Attlee mind when they issued yesterday's very mild statement of intentions.

Talking to the National Association of Maufacturers in New York last night, Marshall said:

"The country is facing an unprecedented era in American life and we have to do all in our power to prevent the state of affairs of today, bad as it is, from deteriorating into something dreadful to contemplate—another world war."

Holding out the olive branch to the Russians and Chinese, the White House statement said:

"We believe that the Communist leaders of the Soviet Union and China could, if they chose, modify their conduct in such a way to make these defense preparations unnecessary."

But it's doubtful Mr. Truman or Mr. Attlee have any hope the Russians or Chinese will suddenly disclose such peaceful desires that this country can drop its arms program, because—

A few hours after this statement was issued Marshall said:

"We have to have in mind that while our great effort today is to maintain the security of our men in Korea and above and beyond that to take every practicable step to maintain the peace of the world, we must do our present job (re-arming) against the background that the best we can hope for in the immediate years ahead is a prolonged tension."

Comparing the quick and forceful American reaction to the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor with this mild statement after the Chinese slaughter of American and U. N. troops in Korea, the statement indicates that this country is in a terribly tough spot right now:

1. At this moment we don't have the forces to fight a land war with China. And if we built up our forces and threw them into China, we'd spend our strength there and leave western Europe at Russia's mercy.

2. Russia has overwhelming forces in Europe now. In two or three years, if this country and its allies build up their arms and armies, they might have strength enough to stand off the Russians. But will the Russians wait till we're strong enough for that?

European D. P.'s Taking Roots In Mississippi Delta

Baton Rouge, La., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Now that there has been time to study them, how well have eastern European displaced persons taken root in the Mississippi delta?

Their resettlement on Louisiana sugar and Mississippi cotton plantations is "by no means a failure," a Louisiana State University sociologist says.

Dr. Rudolf Herberle L. S. U. sociologist, and graduate student Dudley S. Hall, made a long-term study of Louisiana and Mississippi DP's.

Dr. Heberle did say, however, that harassing wartime experiences made some DP's sensitive, suspicious and alert against real or imaginary threats to their dignity, security and welfare.

"The younger DP's are as a rule more adjustable," Dr. Heberle reported to a recent conference on displaced persons.

He explained the DP's did not leave their homes voluntarily in search of better economic opportunities.

"They started their long and tortuous migration under compulsion," Dr. Heberle said. "Whether abducted by enemy authorities as forced laborers, or whether fleeing with the retreating German armies to escape 'liquidation' or 'transportation' by the Russians—none of them left their former homes in a spirit of adventure."

The sociologist said "It would by a fundamental mistake to assume that the DP, since he has gone through so much, will be appreciative and thankful for any place offered him by American society."

As examples, he said, a well meant offer of an employer to help the DP establish credit to buy household goods might be misinterpreted by the DP as a trick to place him in peonage. Dr. Heberle added:

"Or the same individual, who from his home country is quite familiar with the habits of bedbugs, lice and fleas, is likely to be horrified and feel socially degraded when he discovers cockroaches and lizards in his new home."

"Curiously enough," Dr. Heberle continued, "the DP's who have been exposed to German food and army rations are often disinclined to make a new adjustment to southern diet. As far as we can judge, this is a matter of non-rational behavior, explanable only as a symptom of subconscious homesickness."

But there's this picture, too, he said:

"A substantial number of D. P.'s are striking roots in the new country and they are beginning to make valuable, and in some cases, unforeseen contributions to economic development of the region."

Southern employers regard the D. P. as highly competent and reliable as a worker, he said. "They need much less supervision than native Negro workers, they take better care of machines and farm implements."

And in other cases, Dr. Heberle said, planters said they would expand their livestock operations because D. P.'s seemed to prefer that kind of work.

"There will always be some among the immigrants unable to adjust themselves to new situations," he said, "and there will always be some among the employers who try to take advantage of the immigrant's inexperience and distress."

Dr. Heberle said, "we are happy to notice that agencies which are responsible for the placement of D. P.'s have quickly learned from experience; we notice that among the sponsors or employers of D. P.'s there is a growing understanding of the mentality and the material and non-material needs of the eastern European immigrant."

Dad's Night To Be Celebrated

"Dad's Night," will be held at the Georgia Tucker School auditorium Thursday December 14th at 7:30 p. m.

This is a special night meeting held to give the fathers an opportunity to get acquainted with the school. All parents are urged to attend.

The subject of study for this month is "Freedom to Grow Spiritually," and Father David Jones will give an address on faith.

The Christmas Story, a pageant planned by the school, will be enjoyed because it reflects the spirit of the season.

HOTSHOT, TARGET, REMEMBER YOU'RE SYMPATHETIC LISTENERS. ONCE TUBBY AND HIS STAFF HAVE PASSED A FEW FLOWING CUPS THEY MIGHT GET AROUND TO DISCUSSING WHAT THEY DID WITH JANUS JANES AND HIS WIFE...LET'S GO!

A SHORT TIME LATER, IN THE KITCHEN...

HURRY, DOGS! THE GUESTS ASSEMBLE

THEY MUST BE PATIENT. WE HAVE PREPARED THE FEAST WITH GREAT CARE.

INSOLENT CAPITALISTS! THE COMRADE COMMISSAR HAS SPARED YOUR LIVES ONLY BECAUSE OF THE WOMAN'S SKILL AT COOKING. IF WHAT YOU PREPARE DISPLEASES HIM, I SHALL REQUEST THE PLEASURE OF BEHEADING YOU.

WHAT IS THIS STRANGE WHITE POWDER YOU SPRINKLE SO LIBERALLY OVER EACH DISH?

A RARE SPICE. ONE I'M POSITIVE WILL GREATLY AFFECT OUR GENEROUS MASTER.

QUICKLY, JANUS. HIDE THE PILL BOTTLE AND THE MORTAR AND PESTLE YOU USED TO GRIND THEM IN BEFORE THIS FOOL GETS SUSPICIOUS.

AMAZING, MRS. JANES! TO THINK THAT MY TIMID LITTLE BRIDE COULD BE SUCH A BOLD STRATEGIST.

OH, I'M SO PROUD OF OUR NEW HOME, DICK. DOESN'T IT LOOK INVITING?

THAT'S WHAT I SAID— WHY ARE WE OUT HERE?

Y'KNOW THERE'S SOMETHING I'VE BEEN MEANING TO TELL YOU—I LOVE YOU! I LOVE YOU MADLY AND WANT YOU TO BE—

OH, MY CLOWNING HUSBAND! BEHAVE, SOMEONE'S COMING!

GOOD EVENING. YOU'RE MR. AND MRS. TRACY, ARE YOU NOT?

THAT'S RIGHT.

WE'VE WATCHED YOUR NEW HOME BEING CONSTRUCTED AND HAVE ADMIRED IT VERY MUCH. I'M DOCTOR PLAIN AND THIS IS MRS. PLAIN.

HOW DO YOU DO?

WE'RE HOUSE-HUNTING. WE'VE BEEN COMBING THE DIFFERENT NEIGHBORHOODS FOR WEEKS. DO YOU KNOW OF A PLACE FOR SALE, MR. TRACY?

I'M AWFULLY SORRY, MR. PLAIN, BUT I DON'T KNOW OF ONE SINGLE HOUSE AROUND HERE.

I'M A SURGEON! WE'VE BEEN LIVING IN AN APARTMENT BUILDING THAT IS GOING TO BE WRECKED TO MAKE WAY FOR AN OFFICE BUILDING.

A LITTLE LATER—

WHAT MAKES YOU SO THOUGHTFUL?

TESS, DID YOU EVER HEAR OF A ONE-ARMED SURGEON?

WELL, NO, CAN'T SAY THAT I HAVE.

NEITHER HAVE I. OUR SIDEWALK FRIEND WAS LYING.

OH, DICK!

LATER—

I TOLD YOU HE'D BE EASY TO MEET. HE'S WHAT THEY CALL A "REGULAR" GUY.

NOW LET ME OPEN THE DOOR, KAYO. I PROMISE THAT I WILL LIKE YOUR PRESENT AND NOT GET MAD.

OH, ALL RIGHT. THEN OPEN IT!

OH!

BAH

OOH OH! GET THAT BEAST AWAY FROM ME!

NOW LOOK AT WOT YOU WENT AND DONE!

WELL, YOU SAID YOU'D LIKE IT. AND YOU PROMISED YOU WOULDN'T GO AND GET MAD.

THAT SHOULD TEACH YOU NEVER TO DECEIVE LADY PLUSHBOTTOM AGAIN, KAYO.

I'LL SAY I WON'T. AND YOU'RE GOOFY IF YOU EVER DO EITHER.
